Celebrate Gardening This Month!

It's National Garden Month, a great way to celebrate spring weather and the return of locally grown vegetables and fruit. By this time of year, many people are tired of eating less than delicious produce that has traveled hundreds or thousands of miles.

If you have a small outside space, you have room to grow a pot of lettuce. Lettuce is very easy to grow from seed and makes a wonderful fresh and healthy salad. Looseleaf lettuce is the easiest to grow in a container. Look for varieties like Black Seeded Simpson, Red or Green Leaf, or Green or Red Salad Bowl. Lettuce likes moist, but not wet soil and lots of sun.

Look for a plastic pot and potting soil at a dollar store. You can use your SNAP benefits to buy vegetable seeds. Into recycling? Reuse large yogurt or milk jugs instead of a new pot. Just poke a few holes in the bottom for good drainage. Fill your container with potting soil and sprinkle your lettuce seeds on top. Gently press them into the soil and then sprinkle a little more soil over the top. Water well, but gently because you do not want the seeds to move from where they are planted. The ideal temperature to grow lettuce is 60-65 degrees, but it will grow at cooler temperatures too. Remember to keep your lettuce plants moist.

When leaves grow large enough to eat, you can trim individual leaves with scissors from your plants and the plants will continue to grow. Gently wash the lettuce before eating. If you plan to store cut lettuce in the refrigerator, wrap it gently in a paper towel and place it in a large zip top bag.

Encourage your whole family to join in planting, harvesting and eating!
