Wildfire Smoke & Animal Resources

AVMA has a short article with some tips and links to resources related to wildfire smoke and its effects on animals (companion and livestock).

Are You A Landowner Or Producer Interested In Agrivoltaics?

Anna Cerosaletti is a Research Aide in the Department of Natural Resources and the Environment at Cornell University conducting research with Dr. Rich Stedman and Dr. Katie Walsh. They are working on a research project looking at barriers and opportunities to implement agrivoltaics (dual-use of land for agriculture and solar) in large-scale solar projects considering local and county rural land use regulations.

If you would be willing to participate in an interview about agrivoltaic, please contact Anna at Ac2535@cornell.edu.
