CCE Equine, a division of Cornell Cooperative Extension of Saratoga County, was established in 2006 through funds provided by the New York Farm Viability Institute. The program was created due to a need for equine education for adults in Saratoga County. Since then, CCE Educators have reached out to clientele in surrounding counties in the Capital Region and beyond.

For more information on CCE Equine, contact Nicolina Foti at nvf5@cornell.edu or 518-885-8995.

Alliance 180

5846 Jockey St, Galway

Alliance 180 / A Turning Point for Those Who Serve

Founded by Vietnam War veteran and decorated Army helicopter pilot Bob Nevins, Alliance 180 is a peer-to-peer, purpose-driven program that helps Veterans, first responders, and frontline healthcare workers facing trauma find hope, healing, and connection. Our program, developed by Equine Specialist and first responder Melody Squier, is rooted in the universal language of the horse and backed by the science of the Polyvagal Theory. This trusted, non-clinical approach takes place at our serene farm in Galway, NY, nestled in the foothills of the Adirondack Mountains. At Alliance 180, we believe that healing begins with trust, purpose, and connection, but that no one should have to pay for the chance to reclaim their life. All services including travel, are offered at no cost to our participants across New York State and beyond. Learn more about our life-changing work at www.alliance180.org.

Horse'n Around Acres 5423 Crooked St, Broadalbin

Horse'n Around Acres is a multi-generational farm owned by the LaJeunesse and Bombard family on 150 acres in Galway, NY. Our mission is to share with others the positive influence horses can have on their health, happiness, and family, and inspire others to make horses a part of their lives by welcoming them into our family! Join us for Barn Time (no previous horse experience required), trailer in and enjoy the property or our outdoor arena, or schedule a team-building session for private and professional groups.
