CBD at its Finest

Our whole-flower, water-compatible CBD preserves the full profile of the cannabis plant for faster, more effective results.

Benefits of Suthe Drops

Optimal Absorption

Suthe Drops whole-flower CBD fluid is water-compatible and absorbs into your body faster than oil-based alternatives—meaning it works faster and stronger with only two drops.

Full-spectrum Flavor

We extract over 90% of the active, hemp cannabis ingredients—maintaining the full spectrum of unique flavors and aromas (terpenes & flavonoids) without isolating any of its beneficial compounds (cannabinoids).

100% Plant, No Additives

Cannabis flowers are filled with dozens of natural compounds that work together to help you feel better. Our whole-plant fluid preserves the entire beneficial profile of the hemp cannabis plant, allowing your body to operate at its best.

Our Unique Extraction Process

Not all CBD is the same. Similar to a cold press, our whole-flower-fluid-extraction process preserves the full beneficial profile of hemp cannabis.

Unlike other extraction methods, nothing is added or taken away and then mixed back together—you simply get the full benefits of CBD from the moment of extraction.

How CBD Works

By preserving the full array of compounds found in hemp cannabis, Suthe Drops delivers what we call whole-flower fluid, the only complete, water-compatible CBD option available.

With Suthe Drops, your body's endocannabinoid system is activated with over a dozen natural compounds, helping your body utilize what it needs most.
