Avant-Garde Highlights End-to-End Secured Entry Strategy at ISC West After Joining dormakaba

Clarksville, Indiana, USA – March 11, 2026 – Avant-Garde Systems Inc., recently acquired by global access solutions provider dormakaba, will showcase its expanded secured entry capabilities at ISC West 2026, taking place March 25–27 in Las Vegas. Visitors can find Avant-Garde at Booth 35061, where the company will demonstrate how organizations can deploy secured entry systems through a complete lifecycle approach, from choosing the right solution and installation to commissioning, service, and long-term system optimization.

The addition of Avant-Garde strengthens dormakaba's secured entry portfolio while expanding the resources available to customers throughout the entire project journey. Together, the organizations are positioned to support customers from the earliest stages of selecting the right secured entry solution through installation, commissioning, and ongoing service, helping simplify the deployment of secured entry infrastructure while improving reliability and long-term performance.

At ISC West, Avant-Garde's booth experience will guide visitors through the secured entry lifecycle, demonstrating how organizations can benefit from a partner that supports projects from concept through long-term operational support. The exhibit will feature a live demonstration of an Alvarado Argus optical turnstile integrated with dormakaba's IoT solution, highlighting how connected secured entry systems can provide operational insights that support preventative maintenance and improved system performance.

"Organizations today are looking for more than just a product. They want a partner that can help them deliver secure, reliable entry solutions from start to finish," said John Cocking, Vice President of Sales at Avant-Garde Systems Inc. "By combining Avant-Garde's secured entry expertise with the global resources of dormakaba, we're able to support our customers and partners with even greater scale, capability, and long-term commitment."

The company will also be demonstrating its project management and installation expertise through visual demonstrations of real-world deployments and service operations across a wide range of facilities including data centers, corporate and healthcare campuses, government facilities, critical infrastructure environments, distribution/fulfillment centers, and airports.

ISC West is the largest security industry trade show in the United States, bringing together security professionals, integrators, consultants, and end-user decision makers to explore the latest technologies shaping the future of physical security.

Visitors are encouraged to stop by Booth 35061 to learn how Avant-Garde helps organizations choose, deploy, and support secured entry systems built for long-term performance.
