Michael Koch Joins Lindsay as Senior Vice President and Chief Financial Officer

OMAHA, Neb. - Lindsay Corporation (NYSE: LNN), a leading global manufacturer and distributor of irrigation and infrastructure equipment and technology, today announced that Michael Koch will join Lindsay Corporation as Senior Vice President and Chief Financial Officer, effective November 9, 2026. Koch succeeds Brett Coburn, Vice President and Chief Accounting Officer, and Alicia Pfeifer, Vice President, Business Finance, who have served as interim co-Chief Financial Officers since September 2026 and will continue in their current roles.

Koch brings nearly 30 years of finance experience with global public and private equity-backed companies. He currently serves as Senior Vice President, Finance and Divisional Chief Financial Officer of Commercial Engine Services at StandardAero (NYSE: SARO), the company's largest division. Prior to joining StandardAero in 2025, Koch held various finance leadership roles at Universal Electronics (Nasdaq: UEIC) beginning in 2004, most recently as Senior Vice President, Finance. Koch has also served as Chief Financial Officer of Nortek Security & Control and Ryan Herco Flow Solutions, and held finance positions with Applied Graphics Technologies, Kraft Foods and W.W. Grainger.

Lindsay's President and Chief Executive Officer, Randy Wood, commented, "We are pleased to welcome Mike to our senior leadership team. His experience as a CFO and in leading financial planning, treasury and acquisitions at global public companies aligns well with our strategic priorities, and we look forward to his leadership as we pursue our long-term growth initiatives."

Wood continued, "I would also like to thank Brett and Alicia for their leadership as interim co-CFOs. Together with our finance team, they have ensured a smooth transition and continued strong execution, and I look forward to their continued contributions to Lindsay."
