

Olympic Steel Welcomes Larry N. Norred, Jr. as General Manager for Its Georgia Operations

CLEVELAND - Olympic Steel Inc. (Nasdaq: ZEUS), a leading national metals service center, today announced the appointment of Larry N. Norred, Jr. to the role of General Manager for its Buford (fabrication) and Winder (metal processing) facilities in Georgia.

Mr. Norred brings more than three decades of leadership experience in the steel industry, successfully guiding organizations through growth, diversification and operational excellence. Most recently, he served as General Manager of KGS Steel, Inc., where he oversaw significant expansion in the customer base, geographic reach and value-added processing. Prior to KGS, he held senior leadership roles at Service Steel and Pipe, Inc. and Astralloy Steel Products, Inc.

In his new role with Olympic Steel, Mr. Norred will be responsible for daily operations, commercial strategy and overall performance of the Buford and Winder facilities. He will report to David J. Gea, President - Carbon Flat Rolled.

"Larry is a proven leader with a strong track record of building high-performing teams, expanding market share and delivering consistent results," said Gea. "His industry expertise and commitment to continuous improvement will support Olympic Steel's ongoing strategy for safe and profitable growth."

Mr. Norred earned his Bachelor of Arts degree in Economics with minors in Finance and Accounting from Auburn University. A retired Lieutenant Colonel with 42 years of service in the United States Army (Reserve), Mr. Norred is a decorated combat veteran with multiple leadership assignments, including Battalion and Brigade Command.
