Android tv box apps apk 2019

Updated in 2020 You have decided to cut the cable cord and move from streaming to the latest Android TV Box because you have been told you will get all the same amount of content at a fraction of the cost. But where is it all? The TV box is usually an empty slate piece of hardware and it's up to you to populate it with the content you want. There are many ways to do this, but by far the easiest and safest is to download some amazing streaming apps made specifically for Android TV. You can download them directly from your Android TV box from the Google Play Store. I have come up with a list of the best apps for streaming that can be downloaded from your Android TV Box today. Some offer premium content, and therefore you can expect to pay a subscription fee, but others are completely free. In addition to streaming services, I have listed apps that are important for managing your Android TV Box. Protect your box from malware, protect your identity while streaming, get the fastest buffering speed, and optimize image quality with these important apps. With all this content, never again do you say: All these channels and there's nothing on TV. 15 Best Android TV Box Apps on Netflix (plans start at $7.99 per month) Netflix has an 800-pound gorilla streaming video. There are over 83 million subscribers in 190 countries. Seriously, is there anyone who hasn't at least heard of Netflix? What started as a DVD rental service has moved towards embracing streaming media. For about $8 a month ($9 HD), you have access to thousands of movies and TV shows. If you have a device they've certified for 4K, you can access their small but growing 4KUHd content library for $12 a month. The library depends on where you live, of course. But if you're looking for the most content that people actually want to watch, and original content like Stranger Things, Orange is the New Black or Money Heist, then Netflix is an easy choice to start this list. Find Netflix's Google Play Store on Amazon Prime Video ($99 a year or $8.25 per month) Do you believe that Amazon Prime Video actually has more subscribers in the U.S. than Netflix does? It's true. Amazon actually has almost 20 million more subscribers in the U.S. than Netflix. I'm not saying you should drop your Netflix subscription and go to me. But these two best streaming services complement each other well. Amazon has great original content such as Man in the High Castle and Mozart in the Jungle as well as over 40,000 movies and TV shows. An Amazon Prime subscription costs $99 for the entire year, which works out at about $8.25 per month. But you also get commercial-free music streaming and free two-day shipping on any Amazon Prime items. Sign up for Amazon Prime Video Free 30-Day Trial! ES File Explorer (Free) You're going to need some kind of sex Manager your Android TV Box and ES File Explorer (Free) You're going to need some kind of sex Manager your Android TV Box and ES File Explorer (Free) You're going to need some kind of sex Manager your Android TV Box so you can browse your content and share files seamlessly between devices. You can also use it as task killer and app manager. This is always the very first app in the Android TV Box that I install on my new devices. In my opinion, this is a must-have for users of any experience level. The app has been downloaded by over 300 million people. They could be something... WiFi Analyzer (Free) Are you satisfied with your Wi-Fi signal strength? Do your shows and movies buffer quickly enough that your viewing will never be interrupted? If not, it may not be your router's fault. If you live in an apartment, the router may compete with your neighbor's router. As the Internet of Things becomes more popular, the number of devices to throw out wi-fi signals is exponentially increasing. Let me give you statistics: there are currently around 15 billion connected devices in the world. It is estimated that there will be more than 50 billion by 2020. There's a lot of signals that bounce from each other. It leads to one thing: a lousy internet. WiFi Analyzer is a powerfully simple application that helps you optimize your router's Wi-Fi connection. In my apartment, I found a tide of 15 different Wi-Fi signals that competed in the same space. Several of them overlapped. With this app, I was able to quickly figure out which router channel was at least interference and made this change to my router. In less than five minutes I was able to correct my Internet signal, not just my TV box, but every device in my home. Download WiFi Analyzer Google Play Store BitDefender (Free version / $49.99 for 10 devices) When my work on the computer starts to scan the virus, it slows down my system crawling and takes forever to complete. I want my Android antivirus app to do its job and stay out of my way. That's what makes BitDefender my go-to Internet Security program, not just my Android TV Box, but my computer and smartphone as well. BitDefender has two main versions: a free BitDefender I antivirus application that includes a single device, and BitDefender Total Security, which is a premium program that includes 10 devices and offers more security features such as Install Scanning, Privacy Advisor and notifications of malware and phishing attacks. For BitDefender.com about the BitDefender.com Kodi (Free) I'm willing to bet you've heard of Kodi, but just in case you're not. Kodi (formerly XMBC) is an open source media player that allows you to play any of your local content Windows or Linux devices. The real power of Kodi is that it allows you to install extras and plugins that improve its functionality. Some of these extras are created by the official Team Kodi developers, but most are brought in by regular people like you and me – only with better programming skills. Add-ons allow you to access free content from CNET, the food network, CBC, G4, and more. For more information, see Kodi.tv or see my complete installation guide for kodi plex (free) If you prefer access to all your media, no matter where you are, you want to dive into the Plex. Plex is a media hub that started with the Kodi variant, but has since morphed into something even bigger. If you're interested in differences between Kodi and Plex, see this article. At the heart of plex is the idea that you should be able to look at your stuff anywhere you are in the world. What if you stay in your living room? Plex is easy to enjoy the contents of multiple devices on a TV box or computer all the way down to your smartphone and tablet, and all without the need for separate versions of the movie at different quality levels. Plex handles the process of optimizing each device file. Learn more Plex.tv Sling TV (Plans start at $20 a month) Live TV: This is usually the first victim of a cord-cutter, but there is a solution. Strangely enough, it comes from a big satellite company: Dish Network. Stop me if you've heard this before, but the satellite company is trying to kill cable TV. The thing is, this time they've got it right. What I like about Sling TV is that the same service allows you to stream television on any device, even if you're not at home. As long as your IP address is on any network in the US, you can access Sling TV. If you're outside the US, this might be a good time to get a VPN for Android boxes. With plans starting at $20 a month, Sling TV gives you access to some of the biggest networks such as ESPN, Disney Channel, CNN, USA and SyFy. Some areas also throw access to local stations NBC and FOX. Sling TV is available on all of its major streaming devices, such as Amazon Fire TV, Roku, Chromecast, Xbox and Android TV, as well as android and Apple devices. Haystack TV shows streaming news streams from stations across the U.S. and around the world, according to their individual preferences. If you never want to hear anything else about Kanye West, then you can just silence him with your news feed. Personally, I wouldn't blame you at all. But if he ever did something big and important that affected the world as a whole, then Haystack TV is smart enough to override his And I'll show you the news anyway. But in this example, I think you're pretty safe with your Kanye Ban. The idea behind Haystack TV is that you can quickly digest big news from a number of different perspectives without having to sit through the whole show about talking heads. Get Haystack TV At Google Play Store WatchESPN DA-DA-DA, DA-DA-DA Admit it, you just heard the ESPN theme in your head. ☺ If you like sports and who doesn't, you'll probably watch the highlights of SportsCenter ESPN.com at least once a day. The WatchESPN app lets you access short video content and highlights on your mobile device or HD TV, as well as real-time scores at the bottom of the screen. If you're still a cable subscriber, you can access live content on any ESPN network here as well. Even if you're a cord cutter, you can access the internet service provider when you sign in, although it's less likely. Special bonus: if you're already a subscriber to Sling TV (see above), you can get full access to WatchESPN using your Sling login. Download Watch ESPN App google play store Spotify (Free and paid options, maximum $14.99/month) Get access to old favorites and the latest indie music from android TV spotify app. To get started, you need a Spotify account – either a free version or a subscription paid for at an extra cost. Once you've downloaded the app's set-top box, you're ready to listen. Each subscriber has access to streaming music and podcasts, and people with paid subscriptions can also access live radio stations. There are no time limits in either version, so you can enjoy all the music you want. It is worth noting that, like many free streaming services, Spotify supports itself in advertising. If you can't stand the idea of ads, the premium version, which is £4.99 per month for students, $9.99 per month for individuals and $14.99 per month for a family plan with six separate accounts. Download Spotify Android TV Google Play Store Mobdro (Free) Mobdro searches the Internet for free streaming content and delivers it to your Android TV Box. This app is not perfect (we'll get to it in a minute), but it won't allow you to watch TV shows, movies and other content without a cable connection. It also gives you access to sports, music, games, and other streaming content. The main menu has a simple user interface with channels for channels, news, programmes, movies, sports, music, games, podcasts and more. There's even a part dedicated to animals. Now the prisoners. Like many other free apps for Android TV, Mobdro can feel cumbersome at times. It stays uncommon and it has a tendency to upgrade on its own, which bothers you if you want to upgrade manually. Because everything you watch at Mobdro is live, there is no episode menu. You get past it by pretending to watch old-fashioned TV and choosing a channel where you can see what's going on. Last but not least, different users have different experiences with this app. Some find that it works well, while others eventually delete it. Some mention that it works better with an ad blocker like Blokada. We recommend that you try – especially if you want to watch free TV online. It's worth trying! For more information and get connected to Mobdro Block (Free) You want to block all ads on all your Android TV apps? Blokada is one of the best tools for this work. If you're not using this app, now's a great time to check it out. It's free, open source and secure. It blocks annoying ads, trackers, and malware, and protects your privacy and helps your device work more efficiently. Without getting too technical, here's a little more info on how Blokada works: It creates a local VPN that effectively blocks applications from submitted domains from their lists to blacklisted URLs. The app menu allows you to get a white list of specific apps and domains that are automatically blacklisted, plus you can choose between different URLs lists to block depending on the privacy level you want. While Blokada is free to use, developers do not accept donations as well as input from volunteers who help keep the project and running. Learn more about Blokada This tutorial on Streaming Nerds BritBox ($6.99/month or $69.99/year) BritBox gives you access to a huge streaming collection of British TV and movies from the BBC and ITV, all at the cost of a super-fancy latte, and all in one fuss-free place. It works well with actual android TV boxes, but is not compatible with similar devices such as NVIDIA Shield, Mi Box, Razer Forge TV and Mi Box. See Current Programming and more about BritBox. Get a 7-day Free BritBox Trial on Google Play Twitch (Free and Paid Versions) Whether you want to watch live gameplay or want to watch IRL or Esports broadcasts via Android TV, Twitch is one of the best apps for the job. While Twitch is a free service that supports itself by entering ads for livestreams, Amazon Prime and Prime Video subscribers can immediately access Twitch Prime, which offers ad-free viewing on one channel of its choice, extended chat capabilities, and some free games. You need to keep the channel you chose for free to go to another ad-free channel if you want. If you want to experience (excluding content attached to channel hosts), so you can order rates that start at $4.99 per month. Since some Twitch broadcasters add extras to paid subscribers, it will probably be more fun for this app if you choose a paid version. If you don't mind front-page takeovers, but you'd rather enjoy ad-free viewing across Twitch, you'll want to explore Twitch Turbo, which is $8.99 a month. Download Twitch Google Play Store Bonus App: Cyberghost VPN ($72 a year to cover all your devices) It's a very good idea to invest in a VPN in your Android TV Box. This helps protect your identity and network security from hackers who want your Netflix password or Internet service providers who want to raise your prices when they see you're a streamer. VPN can also protect your identity if you choose to access pirated content, and allows you to access content that is geo-fenced. So yes, you can watch that amazing new British comedy currently only available in the UK. If you want more information about Android TV boxes and VPN check out our article: Why use VPN android TV boxes.
