Collection Inventory

Ellen Galinsky collection on Families and Work Institute, 1981 - 2015, bulk: 1990 - 2012

Abstract

The Ellen Galinsky collection on Families and Work Institute (FWI) were largely created over the course of FWI's business as a non-profit organization occupying office space in New York, New York in the late twentieth and early twenty-first centuries. The materials include documentation and correspondence related to several FWI projects, Galinsky's drafts and published professional writing for books, articles, and columns, and the writing of other FWI leadership, staff members, and external partners. Galinsky also collected her handwritten notes from conferences and meetings, as well as marginalia in her own and others' handwriting.

Physical Location

Bank Street College Archives, New York, NY.

Immediate Source of Acquisition

This collection was donated to the Bank Street College Archives by Ellen Galinsky in 2016. Accession number: 2016.01.

Approximately 90 record cartons and other boxes were shipped to Bank Street College of Education in 2016. They were incomplete in comparison to an existing inventory. Additional boxes of books were included in the shipment, but were not on the inventory. Boxes which were loaded and shipped were not observed by Bank Street Library staff or then Archivist, Lindsey Wyckoff. Boxes were delivered to one storage area at the College's 112th Street address and were subsequently moved to a second storage area; an unused audio/video technical desk on the 5th floor. In 2017, the boxes were moved again to a collection storage area adjacent to the Bank Street Archives office at the Library.

Biographical note

Ellen Galinsky, President and Co-Founder of Families and Work Institute (FWI), helped establish the field of work and family life during the time she was at Bank Street College of Education, where she was on the faculty for 25 years (1964-1989). Galinsky is a graduate of Vassar College (1964) and received her master's degree from Bank Street College (1970). She holds honorary doctorate degrees from Marshall University and Bank Street College. She is a leading authority on work, family, and child development issues. She's conducted research on child-care, parent-professional relationships, parental development, work-family issues, and youth voice. This theme of actionable research recurs throughout her work.

Research by Galinsky and her team is articulated in her numerous reports and publications. Her more than 100 books and reports include the best-selling Mind in the Making: The Seven Essential Life Skills Every Child Needs, Ask The Children, and the now classic The Six Stages of Parenthood. She has published over 300 articles in journals, books and magazines. She was a presenter at the 2014 White House Summit on Working Families, the 2000 White House conference on Teenagers, and the 1997 White House Conference on Child Care. She was a planner/participant of the March 2010 White House Forum. She served as the elected President of the National Association for the Education of Young Children (NAEYC), the largest professional group of early childhood educators, and she directed the Work-Life Leadership Council for The Conference Board. Galinsky has worked with numerous corporations on work-family issues, including Johnson & Johnson, AT&T, and Levi Strauss, & Co. She is a frequent speaker abroad in such countries as the United Kingdom, Australia, France, New Zealand, Germany and Sweden (see International Global Project sub-series). She has also participated in international seminars and planned international conferences. Since 2016, Ellen Galinsky has served as the chief science officer and executive director of Mind in the Making at the Bezos Family Foundation.

Historical note

Families and Work Institute (FWI) is a nonprofit, nonpartisan research organization that studies the changing workforce, family, and community. Based in New York, New York, it was co-founded in 1989 by Ellen Galinsky and Dana Friedman. A Board of Directors was formed in the early 1990s. FWI is a preeminent think-tank and is known for being ahead of the curve, identifying emerging issues, and then conducting rigorous research that informs employers, employees, parents, teachers, states, communities, and policy makers. Work focuses on three major areas: the workforce/workplace, youth, and early childhood. FWI research provides actionable information and practical applications.

Studies overseen by Galinsky include The Early Childhood Public Engagement Campaign (PEC), Ask the Children (ATC), Mind in the Making (MITM), and the long-running, ongoing National Study of the Changing Workforce (NSCW). Outreach projects to engage for-profit corporations include the Corporate Leadership Circle (CLC), When Work Works (WWW) campaign and award, and the Work-Life Legacy Awards (WLLA). The institute's efforts have been funded by grants from the A. I. Mailman Foundation, Alfred P. Sloan Foundation, Annie E. Casey Foundation, Carnegie Corporation of New York, Ceridian Cares Foundation, Charles Stewart Mott Foundation, The Commonwealth Fund, Ford Foundation, and Heinz Endowments. A former vice president at Bank Street, James A. Levine, and his research and education effort, The Fatherhood Project (Fatherhood), were brought under the auspices of FWI in the early 1990s. Other employees of FWI with experience at Bank Street include Communications Manager Barbara Norcia-Broms. In 2020, FWI published reports on the lives of employees with disabilities, an effective workplace index, and flexibility during the COVID-19 pandemic. In 2020-2021, FWI released five new reports based on the 2016 NSCW.

Many thanks to Ellen Galinsky and Christine Zarett for their contributions to the biography and history notes.

Preferred Citation

Ellen Galinsky collection on Families and Work Institute, Box #, Bank Street College Archives, New York, NY.

Processing Information

An inventory of boxed file folders was created at the residence of Ellen Galinsky. Additionally, a select inventory of file folders within file cabinets was created at the office of Families and Work Institute. These inventories were created and compiled by Christine Zarrett in 2015.

Archivist Brett Dion processed the collection over several months in each of the years from March, 2018 to January, 2022.

Scope and Contents

The collection consists of two series, largely based on disposition of the materials before arriving at Bank Street College Archives:

Series A - Ellen Galinsky Papers and Series B - Families and Work Institute Papers

The work of Ellen Galinsky and the business of Galinsky and her colleagues at Families and Work Institute sometimes overlapped or were oftentimes contiguous with one another. This way of working is represented in the scope of the collection. See each series scope note for more details.

Arrangement

Sub-series are nearly all in their original order. File folders of documents were normally filed according to project. Some sub-series folders were generally arranged in alphabetical order when they arrived at Bank Street. Other incoming sub-series folders were chronologically arranged. In a few instances, some sub-series folders were arranged in reverse chronology, and these were arranged in chronological order by the archivist. See arrangement note in each sub-series description for more detail.

Scope and Contents

This series consists of several sub-series, mainly arranged by topic or project. In a few instances, the format of the material determined the sub-series. The material was primarily created, collected, and filed by Ellen Galinsky for her work at Families and Work Institute, as well as for her work independent of FWI.

Processing Information

Many newspaper articles printed on acidic newsprint paper were color photocopied to acid-free, buffered paper by the archivist. Original newspaper was discarded after the sub-series was processed.

Scope and Contents

Contains nine folders of materials clipped, printed, and photocopied by Ellen Galinsky from mass media daily news publications and periodicals. Commercial magazine and corporate or non-profit newsletter articles are also included. Topics include those which Families and Work Institute was tracking, like family-friendly workplaces, quality in early education, brain development, leaders in work and life dynamics, eating habits of teenagers, and the success of women in the workplace. The source of dozens of articles are The New York Times, as well as Julie Reiss' writing in The Poughkeepsie Journal.

Arrangement

Most original file folders were arranged chronologically. Original order was mostly retained.

Related Materials

The 1997 National Study of the Changing Workforce report can be found in the Books sub-series (bsc.10.14.B.10) of Families and Work Institute Papers. A small sub-series (bsc.10.14.B.02) in the Family and Work Institute Papers supplements this large sub-series. Some speeches related to NSCW are in sub-series bsc.10.14.A.21.

Scope and Contents

Collected in over 150 folders are the NSCW surveys, research on other similar surveys, raw survey results, products and reports of those results, bids from research firms, minutes of meetings between co-sponsors, press coverage, presentation slides, and other reports. Other organizations and corporations involved in one or more surveys were AT&T, Bank Street College of Education, The Urban Institute, IBM, Mathematica Policy Research, Salt River Project, Allstate, American Express, Commonwealth, DuPont, General Mills, Johnson & Johnson, Levi Strauss, Merck, Mobil, Motorola, Rockefeller Foundation, XEROX, Teachers College Press, Coca-Cola Company, General Electric, Louis Harris Associates, Ceridian, and Work/Family Directions.

Families and Work Institute Papers, 1989 - 2015, bulk: 1990 - 2014

Arrangement

Sub-series are nearly all in the original order, according to topic or project. In one instance, the format of the material (books) determined the sub-series. Sub-series folders were generally arranged in chronological order when they arrived at Bank Street. The two subseries, grants and other projects, were arranged alphabetically by the archivist. Books are arranged alphabetically, according to author name. See arrangement note in each sub-series description for more detail.

Scope and Contents

This series consists of ten sub-series. The material represents select work of Families and Work Institute, and was created, collected, and filed by Ellen Galinsky, her colleagues, and the staff of FWI at the offices of FWI.

- Ask the Children
- Board of Directors meetings
- Early Childhood Public Engagement Campaign
- Grants
- Mind in the Making
- National Survey of the Changing Workforce
- When Work Works
- Work Life Legacy Award
