Compared to last week, feeders sold unevenly steady with most of the sales falling in the range of 5.00 lower to 5.00 higher. The supply of feeders was moderate, although many barns are starting to see runs lighten up and the type of cattle coming to town is changing along with the seasons. A lot of uncertainty is once again hanging over the cattle industry resulting in price volatility. Several global factors, although not directly related, also having effects and putting pressure on the markets. Cattle futures saw double digit losses for the week. Fed cattle trade followed and sold sharply lower as well. Boxed beef values jumped as concerns over possible disruptions to already tight supplies have many wanting to keep coolers full to assure meat counters remained stocked as temperatures warm and seasonal demand increases. Closer to home some much need rains fell over the weekend and are forecasted to continue this coming week. Hints of spring are in the air, and although there can still be plenty of rough weather, it doesn't feel like it will be long till green grass. A few stick out sales this week of drafts over 20 head included: 24 head of 458 lb. steers at Callaway Livestock Center that sold for 585.00.
