

At PECO, we put our energy into opening doors to great art.

As the region's electric and natural gas delivery company, PECO is delighted to welcome the Barnes Foundation to its new campus on the Benjamin Franklin Parkway.

We join the Barnes in its commitment to making one of the world's greatest art collections accessible to people of all ages and backgrounds.

That's why we are sponsoring two programs that promote diversity and access: "Free First Sundays at The Barnes" and "Crossing Boundaries".

"Free First Sundays at the Barnes" provides free admission, with advance reservations, on the first Sunday of the month from 1 to 6PM. With each month featuring a different diversity community, the first event is Sunday, June 3, and includes family entertainment and informative seminars, focusing on Gay Pride Month and Black Music Month.

"Crossing Boundaries" is a multi-disciplinary art education program for 7th and 8th grade students. Students will visit the Barnes collection and receive classroom instruction by Barnes educators and practicing artists in history, art history, geography and anthropology.

PECO is proud to celebrate the rich artistic and cultural heritage of our region. In addition to our partnership with the Barnes, we have contributed over $9.5 million to the arts over the past five years.

For further information, please contact Ben Armstrong, PECO Communications (215-841-4137) or Benjamin.Armstrong@exeloncorp.com

An Exelon Company