LETTER FROM THE CHAIR OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES

Dear friends,

In Art as Experience (1934), John Dewey wrote, “Art is not something apart, not something for the few, but something which should give meaning to all the activities of life.” In these few words, Dewey—a close collaborator of Albert C. Barnes, and the Foundation’s first director of education—captured the essence of Dr. Barnes’s guiding principles in creating his Foundation. Now, 95 years after its founding, we further Dr. Barnes’s ideals of inclusion and access by sharing the power of art with an increasingly diverse audience.

This year we celebrated our fifth anniversary on the Benjamin Franklin Parkway. When we announced the move of the collection from Merion to the heart of Philadelphia, we made important commitments to our community. We promised to build a beautiful building, hang the collection exactly as it was in Merion, open it up to hundreds of thousands more people, and do it on time and within our budget. I am proud to report that we fulfilled all of those promises and surpassed our early projections of growth in attendance and public engagement.

In these short five years, the Barnes has become an integral part of the cultural fabric of the city and broadened its reach around the country and the world. We have welcomed over 1.5 million visitors—including 60,000 students from the School District of Philadelphia and 85,000 adults and children on our PECO Free First Sundays. To honor this milestone, we presented a monthlong constellation of anniversary programs dedicated to our many audiences. Highlights included a discussion with Barnes architects Tod Williams and Billie Tsien and Philadelphia Inquirer architecture critic Inga Saffron on how architecture can honor a legacy; a pre-K–12 educator night celebrating the Barnes’s important collaboration with the School District of Philadelphia; and our 5th Anniversary Gala, where guests celebrated the impact of the Barnes and committed to supporting its future.

Today, we look forward to the rollout of our educational affiliation with Saint Joseph’s University, which will enhance the horticulture program and celebrate the living collections at the Barnes Arboretum in Merion.

The many strides we have made are due to the unwavering financial support and leadership of an extraordinary group of people who made all of this possible. We are fortunate to have these individuals, together with Barnes members—over 16,000 and counting—and a generous group of foundations, corporations, government agencies, and private donors, as part of the Barnes community. On behalf of my fellow Trustees, thank you for your dedication and steadfast support, and for helping us to advance our mission.

Dear friends,

Our fifth year on the Benjamin Franklin Parkway was marked by many important achievements. Thanks to supporters like you, we were able to realize the most ambitious agenda of exhibitions, educational programs, and community engagement initiatives in our history. We deeply appreciate your support in helping us serve our city and all our visitors.

Guided by our commitment to increase access and educational opportunities for our visitors and our students, we tripled enrollment in our adult education classes and continued to expand our international scholarship and curatorial contributions. We presented three critically acclaimed exhibitions in 2017, including our first internationally traveling exhibition, Kiefer Rodin, organized in partnership with the Musée Rodin, Paris. During 2018, our slate of international exhibitions will expand with two major shows. The first, Renoir: Father and Son/Painting and Cinema, recently premiered at the Barnes and will travel to the Musée d’Orsay, Paris. The second, Berthe Morisot: Woman Impressionist, will be presented at the Musée national des beaux-arts du Québec, the Dallas Museum of Art, and the Musée d’Orsay, as well as the Barnes.

I want to express my sincere gratitude to our Board of Trustees for their invaluable counsel, and to our docents, alumni, and volunteers, and my colleagues on the Barnes staff for their work as advocates for our public service. To our donors and members, your great generosity makes our work at the Barnes Foundation possible. On behalf of all of us here at the Barnes and our many audiences—thank you.

Looking ahead to the many initiatives on the horizon, from our international exhibitions to a host of new programs, we are excited to invite you to join us for these diverse experiences. Thank you for all you do for the Barnes, and we look forward to seeing you often in 2018!

The Board of Trustees and the staff of the Barnes Foundation offer profound gratitude to the individuals, corporations, and foundations mentioned in this report and to the many unnamed friends who have joined us this year and in past years to support our service to the community. With your generosity, we were able to realize the most ambitious agenda of exhibitions, educational programs, and community engagement projects in our history. None of our notable successes would have been possible without you.

APPPOINTMENTS

Cindy Kang was named the Barnes’s first associate curator, and Barbara Wong was named the Barnes’s first director of community engagement—a position created to deepen our impact on the lives of residents and students we serve across Philadelphia and beyond.

The Barnes-de Mazia Education Program

The Barnes-de Mazia Education Program builds on Albert C. Barnes’s groundbreaking approach to teaching visual literacy and on the original teachings of Dr. Barnes, Violette de Mazia, and John Dewey, which emphasize the formal analysis of art and reflect progressive educational philosophies of the 1920s. The pioneering education program for adults, expanded in 2016 to include new course offerings that complement the Barnes method and highlight other interpretive approaches, continued to grow this year with over 600 students participating during the 2016–17 academic year. The expanded program also features reduced fees and need-based full scholarships to improve access to the program. This year, 97 scholarships were awarded.

Barnes-de Mazia Education Program scholarships were supported in part by Betsy Z. and Edward E. Cohen, the Estate of Julia B. Spears, Robert Cohen and Deborah Peikes, and Melissa Thurman.

Pre-K–High School Outreach Programs

The Barnes offers the following programs for city students: Pictures and Words (grades K–3), Art of Looking (grades 5–6), and Crossing Boundaries (grades 7–8). Over 7,500 students were served by these programs in 2017. The Look! Reflect! Connect! program has served 400 pre-kindergarten students and 40 teachers at seven early-childhood centers in the School District of Philadelphia (SDP).

The Barnes Foundation smART Fund for Education, established by GSK, is an endowment that provides generous annual support for education outreach programs for K–8 students in the SDP. The Barnes Foundation gratefully acknowledges our donors for their generous support of education outreach programs: Art of Looking is supported by the Connelly Foundation, and Crossing Boundaries is supported by PECO and the Connelly Foundation. Among the other donors who support programming for K–8 students in the SDP are The Giorgi Family Foundation, Syde Hurdus Foundation, Beneficial...
Partnership with Campus Philly

In October, the Barnes and Campus Philly hosted the third annual Open Arts College Night at the Barnes. Approximately 350 college students attended the event, which included after-hours access to the collection along with live music and performances.

Donors to the internship program include the Estate of Julia B. Spears, Deborah Glass, and Molly and Tom Walker.

Free Sundays for Educators

The Barnes provides free general admission on Sundays to K–12 teachers from the School District of Philadelphia and in Philadelphia’s parochial schools.

This benefit was made possible by an anonymous donor.

Internship Program

The Barnes offers internships for undergraduate and graduate students seeking job experience and continued education. In 2017 the Barnes was fortunate to host 35 talented and enthusiastic students from 21 colleges and universities around the world for spring, summer, and fall internships in the Foundation’s various departments. The Barnes also hosted two students from the arts organization Studio in a School, which offers paid internships at cultural institutions to students with demonstrated financial need. In addition, the Foundation hosted three interns from Lincoln University; this new partnership with Lincoln offers students paid internships and housing for the duration of their ten-week summer internship program.

“The Barnes Foundation, in a notable expansion of its historical purview, has assembled artworks stretching from the postwar era to today that were made with the flâneur’s most esteemed qualities in mind: alacrity, an openness to the public and social discourse, a focus on daily life, and a flair for performance.” —Artforum

Person of the Crowd: The Contemporary Art of Flânerie

(February 25–May 22, 2017)

Person of the Crowd: The Contemporary Art of Flânerie displayed the works of more than 50 US and international artists who took to the streets throughout the postwar period to speak to issues as diverse as gentrification, gender politics, globalization, racism, and homelessness. The exhibition featured a variety of works, including new performances and historical pieces, by Marina Abramović, Vito Acconci, Eleanor Antin, Constant, David Hammons, and Zhang Huan, among many others. A series of performances by artists including Sanford Biggers, Tania Bruguera, Ayana Evans, Zachary Fabri, and Wilmer Wilson IV took place on the streets of Philadelphia, and billboard and street-poster projects activated the city. The Barnes also commissioned New York–based artist Man Bartlett to create a microsite and digital artwork exploring themes related to the exhibition and the concept of “cyberflânerie.”

In conjunction with the exhibition, on April 15, 2017, the Barnes hosted an interdisciplinary symposium titled “Flânerie and the Politics of Public Space,” which connected flânerie as a strategy for contemporary artists to... its origins in the 19th century. Speakers discussed the politics of public space—including cyberspace and social media, where the practice of flânerie transcends physical and geographical boundaries. Participants included artists Man Bartlett and Angela Washko, writer Doreen St. Félix, and art historians André Dombrowski, Janet Wolff, and Tom McDonough.

EXHIBITIONS

Kiefer Rodin (November 17, 2017–March 12, 2018)

To mark the centennial of Auguste Rodin’s death, on November 17, 2017, the Barnes unveiled the only US presentation of Kiefer Rodin, a major exhibition organized in collaboration with the Musée Rodin in Paris. The show featured recent works by renowned contemporary artist Anselm Kiefer that offer a new way of observing and understanding Rodin, alongside works by the renowned sculptor, some on view in the US for the first time.

The exhibition brought together over 100 works, including large-scale illustrated books by Kiefer (b. 1945) made in homage to Rodin (1840–1917); a series of monumental paintings titled Les Cathédrales de France; and vitrines filled with objects including plaster casts, dried plants, stones, and fabric. Also included were sculptures and drawings by Rodin, among them rarely displayed plaster molds. Rooted in experimentation, both Kiefer’s and Rodin’s artistic processes convey a poignant vision of humanity’s spiritual dilemma and relationship to history. In this exhibition, the contrast of Kiefer’s work with Rodin’s emphasized the latter’s modernity and his proximity to contemporary practice.

Organized by the Barnes Foundation and the Musée Rodin, Paris, Kiefer Rodin was a collaboration between Sylvie Patry, consulting curator at the Barnes Foundation and chief curator/deputy director for curatorial affairs and collections at the Musée d’Orsay, and a team of curators at the Musée Rodin: Catherine Chevillot, director; and Véronique Mattiussi, deputy director for the department of research, documentation, library, and archives; with the collaboration of Sophie Blass-Fabiani, curator in charge of drawings, paintings, and contemporary arts; and Hélène Marraud, assistant curator in charge of sculpture.

Kiefer Rodin was sponsored by Morgan Stanley. The contributing sponsor was Comcast NBCUniversal. Additional support for the exhibition was provided by N. Judith Broudy, Marina Kellen French Foundation, FS Foundation, Jane and Leonard Korman, Maribeth and Steven Lerner, Hilairie and Mitchell Morgan, Pincus Family Foundation, Lyn M. Ross, Keith L. and Katherine Sachs, and Bruce and Robbi Toll. The exhibition was made possible by generous annual support from contributors to the Barnes Foundation Exhibition Fund. Additional support was provided by the Horace W. Goldsmith Foundation, the Jill and Sheldon Bonovitz Exhibition Fund, Dolfinger-McMahon Foundation, The Rittenhouse Hotel, and other individual donors.

The Gagosian Gallery provided generous support for the exhibition catalogue.

Artist Project

Andrea Hornick: Unbounded Histories (January 6–May 22, 2017)

A site-specific project by Philadelphia artist Andrea Hornick, Unbounded Histories was the first “sound intervention” in the collection gallery. Visitors were able to listen to several original poems written in response to works at the Barnes, including Seurat’s Models and Van Gogh’s The Postman, while exploring the collection (the recording could be streamed on any web-enabled phone).

Funded by a generous grant from the William Penn Foundation, Hornick’s poems arise from what she described as a shamanistic practice. Working directly with the collection, the artist put herself in a trancelike state, letting the art lead her toward the stories and images that the mind normally keeps buried. The resulting juxtaposition of sound and sight aimed to encourage visitors to consider works in the Barnes collection in a new way—as portals to the unconscious as well as historical objects. To complement the audio portion, video footage showing Hornick’s creative practice was screened.

Unbounded Histories was made possible with support from the William Penn Foundation.

In 2017, the Archives, Library, and Special Collections department uploaded three new finding aids—guides to archival collections—to the museum’s website: the Sound Recording Collection, featuring Dr. Barnes’s assortment of 78 and 33 1/3 rpm records; the Early Education Records, which include worker-student reactions to the paintings that once hung in the “factory;” and the Blueprints and Landscape Architecture Plans, among them Paul Philippe Cret’s designs for the Merion buildings.

The Archives, Libraries, and Special Collections department accomplished a tremendous amount of outreach as well, including offering behind-the-scenes tours to help staff and affiliates see just how rich the historic collection is and to better understand the nature of the role of archivists. Tour attendees included students from Temple University, archivists from the Delaware Valley Archivists Group, and Barnes members.

Associate archivist and librarian Amanda McKnight hosted Temple University student Zach Ford through the Cultural Fieldwork Initiative program, resulting in a 50-page essay on Dr. Barnes’s relationship with the World Wars. Archivist Barbara Beaucar participated in Philadelphia’s Archives Month’s “Animals in the Archives” event at the Free Library of Philadelphia.

In 2017, the art library served docents, students, interns, and volunteers, as 685 books were borrowed and 207 new books were acquired. In lieu of interlibrary loans, an agreement was made for borrowing privileges at the University of Pennsylvania at no cost to the art librarian, on behalf of the Foundation. A total of 102 book requests were also fulfilled, through purchases, referring the requester to a holding local institution, or borrowing from the University of Pennsylvania.
Rotating displays from the Barnes Foundation archives are shown in vitrines on the Foundation’s lower level.

Cher Matisse (Spring 2017)
Selected letters and photographs exchanged between 1930 and 1933 reveal the warm relationship between Dr. Barnes and Henri Matisse. The presentation included photographs Matisse sent from his studio in Nice, France, that depicted The Dance mural in process and a heartfelt condolence letter sent to Laura Barnes in 1952.

Flossie Lee and Mustard Plaster: Dr. Barnes and His Hunters (Summer 2017)
With the financial success of Argyrol, Dr. and Mrs. Barnes enjoyed their newfound prosperity by building an estate home and decorating it with fine furnishings and art and buying expensive automobiles. In addition, they also purchased thoroughbred horses and joined three hunt clubs in nearby counties. The display included archival letters illustrating details regarding the Lauraston Cup—the trophy Dr. Barnes presented to the winner of the Rose Tree Races in 1910—and photographs featuring Dr. Barnes the equestrian, replete with moustache, jodhpurs, and a bowler hat.

Paul Philippe Cret and the Barnes Foundation (Fall 2017)
In 1922, Dr. Barnes contracted French architect Paul Philippe Cret to design a gallery and residence in Merion, Pennsylvania. Featured in this exhibit were selected letters between the men, plus Cret’s vision, plans, and sketches for the buildings that officially became the Barnes Foundation in 1925. Since Cret was also one of the contributors to the design of the Benjamin Franklin Parkway, the site of the new Barnes building, the exhibit also celebrated the Parkway’s centennial year.

Conservation

In 2017, the Barnes Foundation received generous funding from the Sherman Fairchild Foundation and the Richard C. von Hess Foundation to further the preservation of its 365 works of art on paper, 280 of which are permanently installed in the collection gallery. This funding allows for conservation treatment and the development of a long-term preservation plan for the collection of works on paper. To date, through these grants and previous grants from the Institute for Museum and Library Services and the Sansom Foundation, conservation treatment and rehousing for 106 of the 280 works on paper has been completed by the Conservation Center for Art and Historic Artifacts.

The Barnes also continued its multi-year project, started in 2015, of recoating the numerous metal objects displayed on the collection gallery walls. The treatment consists of removing old coatings, cleaning the surface of the metal, and applying a new protective wax coating to the piece. To date, the conservation department has recoated 277 metal objects.

Research for the publication of the Foundation’s forthcoming catalogue raisonné for its Cézanne collection, among the most significant collections of works by Paul Cézanne in the world, was continued in 2017. Cézanne in the Barnes Foundation will include scholarly essays and technical contributions on the 61 oil paintings, six watercolors, and two lithographs. Research for the publication is being performed by an international team of scholars under the direction of Sylvie Patry, consulting curator at the Barnes Foundation and chief curator/deputy director for curatorial affairs and collections at the Musée d’Orsay, Paris. Among the work completed in 2017 by the Barnes conservation and curatorial teams was the examination of related materials in the Foundation’s archives and the technical review of 61 of Cézanne’s oil paintings, including The Large Bathers.

The Barnes is grateful to the generous anonymous donation in support of conservation projects, as well as to Ralph Curton and Frances Callan, and Edward and Gwen Asplundh.

In September 2017, the Barnes partnered with Opera Philadelphia for O17, its inaugural season-opening festival, on the world premiere of The Wake World. This hallucinatory one-act, site-specific opera, composed by David Hertzberg and directed by R. B. Schlather, centered on two of the early-20th century’s most prolific and polarizing artistic visionaries: Dr. Barnes and Aleister Crowley (1875–1947), the British poet, magician, and occultist once dubbed the “wickedest man in the world.” Inspired by Crowley’s ecstatic fairy tale of the same name, The Wake World, this immersive opera invited visitors to experience the Barnes collection like never before as they followed a wide-eyed seeker and her guardian angel on a dreamlike voyage.

Musical Programming
In 2017, the Barnes presented three new musical performance series. The Barnes Ensemble, featuring chamber and orchestral repertoire, was an innovative contemporary music collective inspired by Dr. Barnes’s unconventional approach to arranging art. The Solo Series featured leading musicians from around the world, including renowned violinist Miriam Fried and acclaimed contemporary pianist Marilyn Nonken, performing as unaccompanied soloists. The Resounding Voices Choral Series was a bimonthly choral concert that reflected Dr. Barnes’s love of choral repertoire by welcoming an array of performers in various genres.

“The Barns Ensemble was generously supported by PNC Arts Alive and Tod Williams Billie Tsien Architects. The Main Line Reform Temple Cantor’s Fund provided funding for housing for participating musicians. Anthony B. Creamer III generously supported the Solo Series.

“Philadelphia’s legendary art collection is instituting three new series of concerts, aiming to elucidate the paintings and sculptures while exploring the concepts behind them.”
—The Philadelphia Inquirer
Audience Engagement Initiatives

The Barnes is committed to welcoming communities from across Philadelphia. In 2017, the Foundation embarked on a series of collaborations with key community organizations to help expand its reach and make meaningful connections with Philadelphia’s diverse neighborhoods and beyond.

Audience engagement initiatives have been generously supported by the John S. and James L. Knight Foundation, Lisa Kabnick and John McFadden, the Barra Foundation, and the Wyncote Foundation.

“Puentes a las Artes/Bridges to the Arts”

As part of the William Penn Foundation’s Informal Learning Initiative, the Barnes began collaborating with Philadelphia’s Puentes de Salud on “Puentes a las Artes/Bridges to the Arts,” an arts-based literacy enrichment program designed to serve 200 young ELL/ESL learners from South Philadelphia’s rapidly growing Latino immigrant communities.

The initiative, the Barnes’s first collaboration to promote arts-based literacy development in young ELL/ESL learners
AUDIENCE ENGAGEMENT INITIATIVES

It offers an entirely new front-end presentation and an innovative way to engage with the collection online in an accessible and self-directed fashion using the formal elements—light, line, color, and space—as areas to explore.

The collection website was made possible with a grant from the John S. and James L. Knight Foundation.

Mural Arts Philadelphia’s Monument Lab
As part of Monument Lab, Mural Arts Philadelphia’s citywide public art and history project, the Barnes served as a field research office where the public could drop in to learn about the project, engage with Mural Arts staff, and submit proposals in which they design or describe their own visions for monuments that represent Philadelphia. Through the collaboration, the Barnes was also the site for Monument Lab participating artist Michelle Angela Ortiz’s project Flores de Libertad (Flowers of Freedom), which involved a series of paper-flower-making workshops in conjunction with her Seguimos Caminando (We Keep Walking) prototype monument at City Hall. The Barnes engaged with more than 4,000 people through the field research office and artist workshops.

2 x 4: An Innovation Forum
Conceived by Shelley Bernstein, deputy director for audience engagement and chief experience officer, 2 x 4 brought two local thought leaders together with students from Drexel’s Expressive and Creative Interaction Technologies (ExCITe) Center to create a collaborative response to a major Barnes initiative. In February 2017, Maria G. Arias, vice president of diversity and inclusion for Comcast Corporation, and Siobhan Reardon, president and director of the Free Library of Philadelphia, worked on-site at the Barnes with the students to develop at least one response to the question, How can the Barnes grow its audience to be reflective of Philadelphia? 2 x 4 culminated in a free public program moderated by Thom Collins, Barnes executive director and president, and featuring a live discussion between the students and leaders about their findings.

To gain better insight into the community’s engagement with the Barnes, a BeHeardPhilly survey was commissioned from Temple University’s Institute for Survey Research. As part of 2 x 4, data from the survey, which was designed to understand how the knowledge and perceptions of the Barnes varies throughout Philadelphia by zip code, was shared.

2 x 4: An Innovation Forum was sponsored by Drexel University LeBow College of Business.

Collection Website
This year the Barnes launched a new collection website that enables visitors to explore thousands of works in the collection based on aesthetics and download high-resolution images of more than 1,400 works in the public domain. The new online tool, designed by Area 17, is the first in the museum field created to search holdings with a deep focus on visual properties such as light, line, color, and space, in addition to more traditional searches by artist name, media, or historical movement.

Puentes a las Artes/Bridges to the Arts furthers the democratic values that inspired the founding of the Barnes: access to education, arts, and culture for all members of the community.

“Puentes a las Artes/Bridges to the Arts” is made possible with support from the William Penn Foundation.

Indego Bike Share
In fall 2017, the Barnes introduced its collaboration with Indego bike share—the first of its kind between a city bike-share program and an arts institution. Through the collaboration, Indego is launching 20 bikes wrapped in paintings from the Barnes collection selected via crowdsourcing through an online poll. The first ten bikes were rolled out at a free launch party at the Barnes in September, and the second ten will be unveiled in 2018. As part of the collaboration, the Barnes is offering Indego passholders free admission through December 31, 2019. Plus, Indego passholders can bring up to four friends, who each receive $5 off general admission.

Indego Bike Share is made possible with support from the John S. and James L. Knight Foundation.
Admission Initiatives

In 2017, the Barnes began offering free daily admission for ACCESS/EBT cardholders. A total of 18,679 adults, teens, and children experienced the Barnes Foundation thanks to this and other special admission initiatives, including the Blue Star Museums program; Free First Sundays, presented by PECO; a partnership with Indego bike share, which provides free admission to Indego passholders (plus a $5 discount for up to four friends); and programs including: Open House: Person of the Crowd, with the Person of the Crowd: The Contemporary Art of Flânerie exhibition in May; Open House: #BiketoBarnes, celebrating the launch of our collaboration with Indego bike share in September; and Open House: Holiday Pop-Up Market in December.

Events

The Barnes Foundation is home to many breathtaking spaces that corporations, nonprofit organizations, and individuals use as venues for their special events. In July, the Barnes opened the Garden Pavilion, a flexible, multi-use space ideal for receptions, dinners, or educational programs. During 2017, the Barnes hosted more than 225 events of various scopes and sizes.

Planning your gift to the Barnes Legacy Society

The Barnes Legacy Society recognizes and honors the generosity of friends and members who have made a commitment to the future of this institution by including the Barnes Foundation in their estate plans. Making a planned gift is a thoughtful way to contribute significantly to the future of the Barnes Foundation.

Whether in the form of a bequest, trust, retirement assets, or charitable gift annuity, your gift would inspire art and horticulture enthusiasts, help sustain our extraordinary collection, and provide for our dynamic educational programs for generations to come. Additionally, such a gift would be eligible for an estate tax charitable deduction equal to the entire amount of the bequest.

If you are planning to include the Barnes Foundation in your estate plan, please let us know. We would like to thank you for your generosity by including you in the Legacy Society. If you would like to discuss your plans or would like more information about ways to support the future of the Barnes, please contact us by phone at 215.278.7116 or visit barnesfoundation.org.
