ADVICE YOUR WAY

We don't know when interest rates will peak, but we do know there IS a peak

Inflation is still high, the war in Ukraine is still going on, but the markets are improving. Although things are beginning to look more reasonable there is still market and inflation pain. This pain is compounded by the media telling you the market is going to drop further, its not enough yet, the end is near! We don't know where the bottom is, but we do know there IS a bottom and we do know we will recover it all back.
We've had high interest rates before, companies didn't die, they adjusted, we made it through before, we will make it through again.

7 signs that inflation may have peaked:

1. Oil prices have come off the $123.70 high
2. Commodity prices have fallen
3. Rents are dropping
4. Retailers have excess inventory – sales are happening
5. Supply chains are improving - China delays are reducing
6. Businesses are failing to raise prices
7. Labor market dynamics are improving

Casey Cullen, CIM, CFP®
Wealth Advisor

Hee Young Chung, CPA, CA, CFP®
Wealth Advisor

Insurance products available through Bradford Financial Services Inc.

Bradford WEALTH PARTNERS

Investment Planning Counsel®
IPC SECURITIES CORPORATION

CIPF Canadian Investor Protection Fund MEMBER

This information is for your convenience only and IPC is not responsible for and disclaims any liability for third party businesses, organizations and individuals featured in this newsletter. For more information, please visit https://www.ipcc.ca/legal