- [ ] Do they walk the talk?
- [ ] Have they shown real dedication and commitment to learning, applying, updating their skills and teaching NLP over the long run?
- [ ] Have they applied the technology deeply in their own life and used it to transform themselves and others?
- [ ] Do they use it daily to better themselves and the lives of their clients?
- [ ] Have they a wealth of experience outside of the field of NLP, using the technology in the real world?
- [ ] Do they demonstrate deep competency and skill with the technology?
- [ ] Are they capable of teaching you things that you can't find in a book or hear in an typical practitioner or master practitioner course?
- [ ] Do they constantly come back to the foundations and fundamentals and help their students understand how the technology functions or do they regularly fall back on conventional assumptions, buzzwords and obfuscation rather than clearly teaching how the technology works?

- [ ] Is their curriculum focused on developing real skills you can use for the rest of your life or do they mostly focus on teaching you techniques and showy demos?
- [ ] Do they demonstrate what they are talking about as they are teaching it?
- [ ] Are they constantly upping their game and encouraging you to do the same?
- [ ] Are they invested in their students and committed to teaching excellence? Or are they mostly just about their ego and appearing superior to you?
- [ ] Have they taken apart and put back together their own map of NLP multiple times? Each time making new connections, insights and better ways of doing things which they pass on to others.
- [ ] Are they generous with their time and focused on serving to the highest standards their students?
- [ ] Do they sincerely applaud their student's success and encourage them to go further?
