Meanwhile, a song in the trailer called Runnin' (Lose It All) - which is a collaboration from English producer Naughty Boy with the goddess's mother (Bey) and Arrow Benjamin - is the bravest to add to the emotional value. A song in everything, all the trailer will make you feel like you should leave your office job right now and go to the beach because life is so short. Frankly this trailer could be considered nsfw for this reason, because this atmosphere is definitely helping a fast-paced background song. The film follows Maddy (Hunger Games' Amandla Stenberg), a teen who spent his entire childhood in his home due to mysterious immunodeficiency. Her only companions in childhood are her mother, an overly protective doctor and her nurse. Then, a new boy-next-door comes-knocking on the door, bundt cake in hand, and it's love at first sight. In a Romeo and Juliet-esque twist, Maddy's mother is not a fan of her daughter's neighboring boyf, Oly. But despite mom's reservations, love-soaked teens get to Runnin', runnin', runnin', runnin', so Maddy can experience, as she says, everything, everything, or at least, one perfect day before she (probably) dies. The power ballad from Naughty Boy describes objects regardless of their personal hangups and follows each other through it all. The lyrics of These Four Lonely Walls have changed the way I feel and Ain't runnin' apart any more almost seems like they were made specifically for this movie. But in reality they weren't, the song actually came out in September 2015. Even a music video that features a couple running consecutively while underwater feels similar to the ocean-heavy atmosphere of everything, all trailer. It's like this song hasn't reached its full potential until now. Combo songs and trailer do a great job to remind us how life can be, and yet how long it feels without adventure or love. Both also serve as reminders that being true to yourself is the only way to be in love. There's a lot of feelings in one two-minute period brought to us by this trailer/trailer song combo. Get ready for all your feelings to reach the final resting place when everything, all the premieres of the 19th may! If this trailer brought a tear to your eye, chances are you'll cry buckets of salty tears during the film. Almost like... Ocean? It's appropriate, isn't it? There are few bands or music groups that insist on the test of time, especially those that originated in 2000. From Fifth Harmony to One Direction, boys' and girls' groups aren't really long-lasting. That's if you're not talking about Little Mix. The British girl group won the British X-Factor in 2011 and was the first girl group to ever do so in the British version of the show. They've been doing bangers ever since, but they're not that big in American yet. To really convince you why Little Mix should be a hit, here are seven videos to show. It's also a good introduction to them if you've never heard their music before. It's such a bop, with a few levels to the song. It has rhythmic, staccato verses and then a more fluid, sensual chorus. It's a song that's great for working out, dancing, or a great hype-up song. As one of the best comments said: Every time I listen to Little Mix I become a freaking sassy sure queen, then the song ends and I come back is a little potato.) 2. Black Magic One of little mix's first hits, and songs in general, Black Magic tells a fantastic story of wanting to use the potion of love on a guy to finally notice them. While it's, of course, just a fantasy, the music video is so worth it. Four members play these kinds of nerd or embarrassing girls who have a massive crush on this one guy. They grab the magic books and start sabotaging the middle girl and helping other less-than-popular kids in their school. It's fun and really means their massive start. 3. Love Me Like You retro-inspired song, Love Me Like You will remind you of 1950s sockhop jam. It is slower and perfectly accentuates their voices. He also has that big '50s concept eager for a guy who seems to be one-of-a-kind. However, the 2015 video shows that maybe some guys are too good to be good. No matter how you make sense of it, it's a fun song that will make you happy, bright mood. 4. Think of us ft. Ty Dolla $ign Think about us is basically about it when you're so into someone that when you're thinking about them (which is a lot), you can't help but wonder or hope they're doing the same thing. Whether it's at the beginning of a relationship or near its end, it's certainly fear or thought that someone might have. The song itself is also a really, really good atmosphere. Rhythm can be for dancing, or just a nice pulse in the background when you need it. 5. A woman like me ft Nicki Minaj Little Mix always has a basic or sometimes overt message of empowerment. A woman like me, one of their newer songs, is basically saying they're strong, open, and sometimes they don't really behave like the right woman should. But they like a guy and they're curious, can he handle them? It also features Nicki Minaj and is such a good song to make you feel powerful. 6. Reggaeton Lento CNCO duet Originally, Reggaeton Lento was completely in Spanish because it was the single of latin American boy band CNCO. Little Mix jumped on the remix, and it's such a good song. It's definitely a different style of music that they usually do, but they perform it perfectly. There are still parts in Spanish, and it's perfect for dancing. 7. Shout Out to My Ex Well, time to top it off with one of Little Mix's best and greatest songs. It's a song about the final breakup. She's not a disparaging ex, per se, but instead she's an uplifting girl. They're thanking their exes for being who they are now, teaching them lessons, and also being out of their lives now. Honestly, it's like Thank U, Next, but of course years before. It's also famously about Zayn Malik, reportedly, who broke up with Little Mix member Perrie Edwards via text message. It's the perfect song to shout lyrics out even if you don't have an ex. Each item on this page has been curated by ELLE Decor Editor. August 28, 2015 From houses and ballrooms to hotel balconies, these are the places that brought popular songs to life. And with the MTV Video Music Awards coming up, we take a look at the places where these well-known videos, old and new, have been created. 1. of 9 Taylor Swift, Blank Space - Oheka Castle Oheka Castle is a 100,000-square-foot home in Huntington, New York, on the north coast of Long Island. It was built in the early 1900s as a holiday home for investment financier and philanthropist Otto Hermann Kahn. Today, the estate is a 32-room hotel and a popular wedding venue for celebrities. Several music videos, shows and films were filmed at the royal location. Most notable is that Taylor Swift's Empty Space was held in the castle walls, and is now for best female video and best pop video at VMAs. 2. of 9 Not only does the house in this video look super relaxing and charming, it's also for sale. You can swim like Ed Sheeran for just $15 million, which compared to the original asking price of $26 million, not so bad for 9,500 square feet of marble and gold decor. I don't want them nominated for two VMAs, including best choreography. 3. of 9 Here's another music video house you can buy now, and it's stealing at $8.7 million. Britney Spears filmed her Bch work video in this white, contemporary mansion accented with huge glass windows. The home is barely recognizable in dimly lit video, but if you crank up the melody and dim the lights at night, you may be able to channel your inner Brit. Although The Labour Bch was not nominated for any VMAs last year, some vehemently claim it was snubbed. 4. of 9 Nick Jonas, Chains - Hotel Alexandria Hotel Alexandria was built in the early 1900s as a luxury hotel in the center of Los Angeles. When the business district moved west, the hotel fell apart and eventually became low-income housing. Its historic ballroom has been preserved, however, and is a popular filming venue due to a lack of passengers. Chains, which were filmed in a hotel, is nominated for best male video. 5. of 9 This Miami house has been described as the ultimate entertainment property and is currently on the market for $20 million. Best Song Ever music video doesn't examine much of the home, so the boy band missed out on the chance to strut their stuff on a private rooftop deck with an infinity pool and waterfall, among other things. The Kardashians are among the other celebrities who have visited this Miami mansion (they shot their Christmas card here in 2012). Best song ever won best song of the summer at the 2013 VMAs. 6. of 9 Spice Girls, Wannabe - Midland Grand Hotel This five star, luxury hotel in St Pancras, London was home to the sensationally successful Wannabe video, filmed in 1996. Now known as the St Pancras Renaissance London Hotel, the original building opened in 1873 and has undergone several renovations. Despite some fears it wouldn't be well-received in the United States, Wannabe won Best Dance Video at the 1997 VMAs. 7. of 9 This incredibly secluded home outside Los Angeles was designed by the same architect in charge of the Kennedy Center and Pepperdine University. Located at the top of the hill, it has a 360 degree view of the adjacent nature reserve. Other productions have filmed in this house, including Dream Girls and Mad Men, but Usher's hit video is probably the most recognizable. Burn was nominated in 2004 for best R&B Video at the VMAs. 8. of 9 Singer Florence + The Machine has chosen her own house to serve as the backdrop for the Ship wreck video. Colourful, vintage-filled south London took a darker turn for his starring role, but Welch let Vogue look around the modest mat two years ago when he bought it, so proof of its hilarious decor exists. Ship to Wreck is nominated for Best Rock Video. 9. of 9 Like Welch, Beyoncé shot this 2008 video in one of her homes. The five-story SoHo townhouse is barely featured though, as most of the video showcases close-up shots of Beyoncé and actor Michael Ealy. A few years after Halo premiered, the home was available to rent for $100,000 a month - a small price to pay to lay where Queen Bey slept. Although Halo was not nominated for any VMAs, Beyoncé was nominated in nine categories for Single Ladies the same year.
