About the Authors

James Voorhees has been an associate of the Kettering Foundation for more than a decade. He earned his Ph.D. at the Johns Hopkins University Nitze School of Advanced International Studies. He was a member of the board of the Forum for U.S.-Soviet Dialogue. Recognized by the Congressional Research Service for his work during the Gulf War, Voorhees also worked on the staff of the Frost Task Force, which provided support to the emerging parliaments of Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union. Later he worked for IREX and is currently a senior systems analyst with INDUS Corporation. He has published numerous articles and reports on Russian and East European politics.

Harold H. Saunders is director of international affairs at the Kettering Foundation. He served for twenty years on the National Security Council staff and in the State Department, last as assistant secretary of state for Near Eastern and South Asian affairs. Saunders flew on the Kissinger shuttles and helped draft the Camp David accords and the Egyptian-Israeli peace treaty. He is author of The Other Walls: The Arab Israeli Peace Process in a Global Perspective and A Public Peace Process: Sustained Dialogue to Transform Racial and Ethnic Conflicts. He has cochaired the Dartmouth Conference Regional Conflicts Task Force and the Inter-Tajik Dialogue since their beginnings.

Vitali Zhurkin is director emeritus of the Institute of Europe in the Russian Academy of Sciences, and was its founding director from 1987 to 1999. He is an academician of the Academy. Zhurkin was deputy director of the Institute for the study of the USA and Canada from 1971 to 1987. His participation in the Dartmouth Conference dates from 1971.

United States Institute of Peace

The United States Institute of Peace is an independent, nonpartisan federal institution created by Congress to promote research, education, and training on the peaceful management and resolution of international conflicts. Established in 1984, the Institute meets its congressional mandate through an array of programs, including research grants, fellowships, professional training, education programs from high school through graduate school, conferences and workshops, library services, and publications. The Institute's Board of Directors is appointed by the President of the United States and confirmed by the Senate.

Charles F. Kettering Foundation

The Kettering Foundation is an operating foundation rooted in the American tradition of inventive research. Its founder, Charles F. Kettering, holder of more than two hundred patents, is best known for his invention of the automobile self-starter. He was interested, above all, in seeking practical answers to "the problems behind the problems."

Established in 1927, the foundation today continues in that tradition. The objective of the research now is to learn what it takes to make democracy work as it should.
