

This book is part of the Amphibian Biology series, Volume 11, Status of Conservation and Decline of Amphibians: Eastern Hemisphere. The chapters in this book (Chapters 1–14) are consecutive chapters in Part 6 (Australia, New Zealand, and Pacific Islands); numbers of chapters in parentheses (68–81) are the same chapters numbered consecutively across all parts of Volume 11.

Numbers of chapters 1–14 are consecutive chapters in Part 6; numbers of chapters (68–81) are the same chapters numbered consecutively within all parts of volume 11.

Dedication		v
Contents of Previous Parts of Volume 11		viii
Contributors to Part 6		xiii
Preface		xv
Chapter 1 (68). Introduction		1
	Harold Heatwole and Jodi J. L. Rowley
Chapter 2 (69). A Brief Demographic Overview of Australia’s Native Amphibians		5
	Harold Cogger
Chapter 3 (70). Status of Decline and Conservation of Frogs in the Wet Tropics of Australia		15
	Ross Alford and Jodi J. L. Rowley
Chapter 4 (71). Frogs of the Monsoon Tropical Savannah Regions of Northern Australia		23
	Graeme R. Gillespie and J. Dale Roberts
Chapter 5 (72). An Update on Frog Declines from the Forests of Subtropical Eastern Australia		29
	David Newell
Chapter 6 (73). Frog Declines and Associated Management Response in South-eastern Mainland Australia and Tasmania		39
	David Hunter, Nick Clemann, David Coote, Graeme Gillespie, Greg Hollis, Ben Scheele, Annie Phillips, and Matt West
Chapter 7 (74). The Status of Decline and Conservation of Frogs in Temperate South-eastern Australia		59
	Frank Lemckert and Michael Mahony
Chapter 8 (75). Conservation of Frogs in South-western Australia		73
	J. Dale Roberts
Chapter 9 (76). The Status of Decline and Conservation of Frogs in the Arid and Semi-arid Zones of Australia		91
	Joanne Ocock and Skye Wassens

Chapter 10 (77).	The Impact of an Invasive Amphibian: The Cane Toad, Rhinella marina	107
	Richard Shine
Chapter 11 (78).	The Role of Ex Situ Amphibian Conservation in Australia	125
	Michael McFadden, Deon Gilbert, Kay. S. Bradfield, and Murray Evans
Chapter 12 (79).	Conservation of Frogs in Australia: State and Federal Laws – Who is Responsible?	141
	J. Dale Roberts
Plates		153
Chapter 13 (80).	Status of Decline and Conservation of Frogs in New Zealand	185
	Ben D. Bell and Phillip J. Bishop
Chapter 14 (81).	Amphibians of the Pacific: Natural History and Conservation	201
	George R. Zug and Robert N. Fisher
Index		213