Dear Mr Glass,

I'm so sorry about your recent loss. Having recently been in a similar situation I can deeply empathize with the pain you feel right now.

I'm sure you are struggling with many things right now including:

- The emotional devastation
- The uncertainty of what to do first & your fiduciary duty
- Having to take too much time off from your work to handle everything
- Not knowing who to turn to for help to get everything resolved quickly

Because of my recent experience, I have started to help other people who find themselves in a similar situation; I started to buy and sell houses for a living, so I can offer you expert advice on how to effortlessly accomplish your goals even if it's not the first thing you want to deal with during this difficult time.

My company specializes:

- Explaining the process of what to expect and how to get through everything
- Helping to liquidate assets in a fair manner
- Working on your timeline so you can focus on what's important

I would be happy to share my story and the things, that looking back, I could have done to make everything so much easier. You can call me anytime at 555-5555 and we can discuss your specific situation and create a custom fit solution.

I know what it's like to be charged with seemingly insurmountable tasks while grieving. So, you will have my empathy and my best advice when we talk. If you decide to do nothing I will take satisfaction in having given support and advice to someone who needed it. I know that's all I wanted when I was put in your exact situation.

Warm Regards,

Phillip Grove

P.S. I understand that you have a lot of difficult decisions to make right now and you might not be ready to have a discussion with me. But, may I suggest you file this letter away with your other important documents so you will be able to find it when you need it.

P.P.S. I've written a book calling Surviving Probate, you can visit my website to get an electronic copy of it at www.HippieHollowHomes.com
