Texas head coach Augie Garrido

On the outcome of the game:

"Obviously, it was to our advantage to come out and swing the bats the way we did early in the game. To get 12 runs in the first three innings was a big plus for us."

On Texas A&M's rally late in the game:

"Obviously as the champion of this conference, this team has done some very impressive things, winning 16 times in a row, I think is the longest winning streak of any team in conference history. They showed that kind of fight, they put balls in play and in the inning they scored six runs, and took us seven outs to get three outs, and that was a result of some errors and missed plays."
