Quotes

Nebraska head coach Scott Jacobsen

On the match:

"Today, I think, the difference was the way we started the match in doubles. It's been a while since we got a doubles point. Our energy was right from the beginning of the match to the end of the match. So, I'm very, very proud of the kids for the way we competed. Tomorrow, we get a chance to play against one of the better teams in the country and I think the kids are excited about that opportunity."

On Oklahoma's facilities:

"Well, it's definitely one of the best facilities in the country. The indoor facility that backs up to the outdoor facility is state-of-the-art. There aren't a whole lot of comparable facilities that are as nice as the one here at the University of Oklahoma. It's a great place to be, tremendous environment and, really, a great place for our kids to finish their regular season at the Big 12 Conference tournament."

Nebraska sophomore Jana Albers

On the match:

"I thought it was a challenge today with the wind. But, I got through it pretty good and learned how to handle it. The energy level was really high today. We came out in doubles with really good energy."

Colorado head coach Nicole Kenneally

On the match:

"It was a tough one. We had a great match with them Sunday and we were hoping to chance to score around today. It was a great fight by our girls in singles and doubles but, unfortunately, today it just wasn't quite good enough. That's why you come out and play and compete. You work hard and do all those things for those opportunities. Unfortunately, we weren't where we quite wanted to be today. Nebraska played well. All credit to them. We wish them luck tomorrow."
