RED RAIDERS CONTINUE TO PROTECT HOME FIELD

The John Walker Soccer Complex has emerged as one of the toughest environments for opposing teams since its completion prior to the 2009 season. In that span, the Red Raiders have won 37 of their 48 matches, more than 78 percent. More so, the Red Raiders have dropped just two matches on their home field in the last two seasons going 9-1 in 2012 and posting a 9-1 mark once again in 2013. A win over Minnesota would break the school record for most home wins in a single season.

SEASON	HOME RECORD
2009	5-2-1
2010	7-2-0
2011	7-4-0
2012	9-1-0
2013	9-1-0
TOTAL	37-10-1

RED RAIDERS SHOW BALANCE ON OFFENSIVE END

The Texas Tech offense has showed impressive balance this season as 14 different Red Raiders have found the back of the net. But that's not all, 10 of those have scored at least twice and five have scored four or more times. The scoring power is led by sophomore and 2012 All-American Janine Beckie who has scored a team-high nine goals.

ESSON AMONG TOP KEEPERS IN THE COUNTRY

Texas Tech senior Victoria Esson has established herself as one of the top goalkeepers in the country with her performance this season. Entering the NCAA Tournament, Esson ranks No. 4 nationally and No. 1 in the Big 12 with a .346 goals-against average through 21 matches. Esson has allowed just two goals in her previous 10 matches in front of the Texas Tech net. She has allowed just seven goals against all season, and just two goals in Big 12 play. The Christchurch, New Zealand native has already posted 14 shutouts —marking a single-season high for the all-time Texas Tech leader in the category.

BECKIE SCORES IN THREE-STRAIGHT

Texas Tech sophomore forward Janine Beckie, who enters the NCAA Tournament as Tech's leading scorer, scored in three-straight matches for the first time in her career to end the regular season. Beckie netted the Red Raiders' game-winner over Kansas, before scoring again to give the Red Raiders a 2-0 lead in the second half over West Virginia and the game-winner against Texas. The 2012 All-American has now scored in back-to-back matches five times in her career.

TECH'S SECOND HALF OUTBURSTS

The Red Raiders have proven to be dominant in the second half of play over the last three seasons. In 2012 alone, Tech outscored opponents 29-10 in the second half. In the last three seasons combined (2011-13), Tech has outscored opponents 60-27 in the final 45 minutes of play. This year, they have continued that trend, outscoring their first 12 opponents 18-6 in the second half. Against Colorado State earlier this year, Tech went off for four goals in the second half — the most by a Tech team in a single half of play since 2011 when the Red Raiders netted five in the second half against Arizona State.

HEAD COACH

TOM STONE

HEAD COACH

7TH SEASON

76-49-13 CAREER RECORD

The winningest coach in program history, Tom Stone enters his seventh year at the helm of the Red Raiders as the 2013 season arrives. During his tenure in Lubbock, Stone has steadily built the Texas Tech soccer program into one of the top programs in the country.

Most recently, Texas Tech reached the second round of the NCAA Tournament during the historic 2012 season where the Red Raiders nearly toppled eventual Final Four participant Florida State forcing the Seminoles into double overtime in Tallahassee. In a back-and-forth match, the Red Raiders were one of just two schools in 2012 to take Florida State into overtime on its home field.

Under his guidance, the Red Raiders broke a school record for wins in a single season last year finishing the 2012 campaign with a 16-6 record and receiving a No. 25 postseason ranking in the final NSCAA poll. A school record four Red Raiders were selected to the All-Big 12 First Team while freshman sensation Janine Beckie went on to become the program's first-ever All-American.

During his six-year tenure, Stone has steadily built the program with a foundation of strong recruiting, annually bringing some of the top talent in the state and the country to Lubbock. With that talent pool, Stone has guided to Red Raiders to six consecutive Big 12 Tournament appearances during his tenure most recently reaching the tournament semifinals in 2012.

More impressively, the Red Raiders have improved upon their overall win total in each of Stone's six seasons in Lubbock. Tech is one of just two original Big 12 member schools to do so since 2007.

Not only has Stone built Texas Tech into a power on the field, but he has created an identity for the entire program - one that the Lubbock community has embraced. On fall Friday nights, thousands of fans flock to the John Walker Soccer Complex - one of the premier soccer facilities in the country. That embrace of the Texas Tech soccer program was never more evident than the 2011 season where a new standard for attendance was set. A total of 14,657 fans attended 11 home games during the 2011 season to help Tech rank No. 13 in the nation for average home attendance. Twice during the campaign the Red Raiders broke single-game attendance marks with an announced crowd of 2,176 attending the final showdown with Texas A&M on Oct. 7, while 2,228 fans watched the Red Raiders take on Kansas on Oct. 14.

Tech hosted a total of 3,520 fans during the final weekend of home matches of the 2011 season, which included the thrilling double-overtime victory over Texas. The figure was a new stadium record for a weekend series.

In all, the average single-game attendance has ballooned by 194 percent during the Tom Stone Era, increasing from an average of 349 per-game during the 2007 season to last year's mark of 1,027. The 2012 season marked the third consecutive season with an average attendance of over 1,000.

Since the 2010 season, the Red Raiders are a remarkable 23-7 at home - a .767 winning percentage.

That inherent and unique home field advantage has been noticed on a national level as Texas Tech hosted the NSCAA/FOX Soccer Game of the Week on Oct. 26, 2012 where the Red Raiders shutout Oklahoma State 2-0.

Stone has amassed a 60-48-11 record in six seasons at Texas Tech for a .504 winning percentage, the best of any coach in program history.

During his tenure, Stone has also been active on the national level as he was hired in 2008 as the assistant coach for the U.S. U-20 National Team, a position he remains in today. Serving under head coach Tony DiCicco, the 2008 team captured the FIFA World Championship. The 2010 squad, meanwhile, has already won the CONCACAF Championship and will train throughout the summer before attending the FIFA U-20 World Cup in Germany at the end of July. On top of his national team duties, Stone is also currently serving as the head coach of the southern region's U-19 Olympic Development team.

When not coaching, Stone has served as an analyst for various national television networks, covering everything from the NCAA College Cup to the World Cup. He has worked as the lead soccer analyst for both CSTV and Fox Sports, while also joining ESPN for its coverage of the 2003 Women's World Cup. Stone has also written guest columns for various soccer websites.

Stone holds a USSF "A" License. He and his wife, Lindsey, currently reside in Lubbock with their son, Leyton, and daughter, Lily.
