ARCHIE MILLER Q AND A

OPENING STATEMENT: All right. Welcome back to another start here of college basketball season. It's always an exciting time. I think for our basketball program in general we're anxious to get kicked off. It's been a long pre-season, been a good pre-season.

Hopefully we'll finish up here in the next five to seven days, but it's been uneventful, so to speak, which is very rare as you start the fall term where you don't have a lot of hiccups, ups and downs, learning each other.

I think our older guys have been very calm. They've been very good with their leadership on and off the floor. I think our newcomers, two true freshman and Joey Brunk; those three guys fit in seamlessly. They've been a pleasant surprise not only from the summertime, but also as we've started school here. No. 1, how much they're embracing the challenge of joining the group, and also embracing the challenge of striving to be the better players on our team, the better leaders. They're not waiting around to learn.

So it's been a good group. Like I said, our staff, we've worked very, very hard to get to this point in terms of off-season and planning, and we're excited to get started like everybody.

Q. Coach, I think you spoke in Evansville about wanting to get more motion in your offense. Is that a reflection on what you saw from your team last year?

I think each team is different every season. You have to play to your strengths. This team in general and looking at the parts that we have and how we'll have to be built, we're going to have to be much more difficult to deal with, which has to have a lot more randomness into what we do. We have to utilize our versatility with the guys that can play multiple positions together.

And we are going to have to move that ball. To do that, you're going to have a lot of concepts and action to the way you play. I'll excited to coach this team in that regard. We do have a lot different guys I think that can play together that may look the same and do some things differently.

But there is some versatility and some interchangeable parts. I think that's going to be the quest for this team, by far and away offensively, is to have more movement. Definitely have more ball movement and play more people.

And to do that, I think you definitely have to spend more time on the concepts and guys playing the game together rather than just a play or two or guy or two. It's going to be much more of a by-committee team on both ends of the floor. From an offensive perspective, how we generate offense, how we score, how we're efficient, is going to be through the bulk of the parts, not one guy.

Q. How do you build chemistry? Does that just happen organically, or are there things you do as a head coach?

I think you're always on a quest as you guide the team. Whether you're on the team or on the staff or the head coach, you're constantly trying put people in situations where they learn one another better, they spend more time together, there is more communication and working together.

I think for me and learning how things go, especially with young people these days, they can very much stay in their own lane, on their own phone. You know the setting with young people these days. They very literally don't talk as much as they used to. So we try to put our guys in situations where it forces them communicate, be more active with one another always.

But I think the one thing that's unique as you get older, as you have more familiarity with each other, you have more closeness. You're not as new. Last year's team had five true freshman and one transfer, so six new bodies. This team has two true freshman and one new guy. Those older guys are all back and they're more familiar with one another, with the routine, and they're more able to communicate what to do, when to do it, how to do it.

So there has definitely been some step-up in that regard. I definitely think our team understands from a staff perspective there is a lot of pressure on us as a group of people to really come together. To do that, I think definitely more talking, more communicating, and more situations where we're forcing them to be sort of the driving force behind that.

Because we do have a group of guys that naturally are kind of quiet natured. I think that's where Joey has been a great boost with his voice. His personality has really our workouts, our locker room.

The younger guys who've got a year under their belt have changed. Rob has done a really nice job in our workouts. He's taken a concerted effort to communicate better, talk better, not be quiet.

So I think just in general I think familiarity with each other, getting a little bit older with your younger guys, and then having some influx of some new energy. A guy like Joey can really help the cause as well.

Q. How do you envision Trayce, De'Ron, and Joey being able to fit together, and do you foresee lineups where two of those guys can be on the floor at the same time?

You know, that's the old-school lineup right there. That's the big-ball, traditional two bigs. Can it happen? Absolutely.

In my opinion and how these guys find that niche, will be their ability to defend together. That's obviously the hardest part for two bigs on the floor. It's not offense. You can run a lot of different types of offense, especially when you have some guys who can score the ball down low.

But could they play together and defend a team who doesn't play traditional with bigs. That will be the quest. Can those guys exist on that end of the floor a little bit.

Very, very hopeful. Very, very hopeful with Trayce. His lateral mobility, athleticism, and watching him here early as the season goes, he knows he has to defend on the perimeter. He's going to have to do that to be able to play with other guys. He's going to have to learn early and probably go through some hard times getting used to guarding college actions and scouting and whatnot.

But for the betterment of him and our team, that's one thing I think that we're all hopeful for, is he can take that role as a guy who can defend inside and out a little bit. He's not a prototype typical big. He's very mobile, athletic, he's got great endurance for a young player. He's just going to have to get some experience under his belt.

Q. Talking about chemistry, communication, how important is Rob? You put a lot on his shoulders last year, and seemed like he stepped up a lot of the time. Now asking for some of those intangible pieces to really come out, how important is he going to be for you?

Huge. Rob plays a big role. I think you saw a team last year at times when Rob was playing effectively, was healthy. He's a gamer. But with that gamer, as you get another older it's not about -- there is no surprises anymore. You're expected to do it. I think he knows from my standpoint as he looks at me what I expect of him.

As the head coach, I look at our point guards in a very different manner than I do all other positions. I think it's its most important position on the team. It's the quarterback. It starts with Rob on the defensive end. He triggers us in a lot of ways in terms of his on-ball pressure and how he can establish our defense in the half court.

Offensively, playing the floor game that he needs to play, he's traditionally a pretty safe guy, which he does a good job there. Getting more confident offensively. The biggest thing is probably what you said early, is to have an extension of your staff a little bit in terms of what you expect, and he knows that now. He's been through it over a year.

Like you said, he has had a lot of experience under his belt, he's been through a lot in his one year, and he's? More prepared to handle the communication part of it of, and he knows that's a big part of his job.

Q. What have you guys done during the off-season, and how did you hope to improve the shooting for this team?

You know, I think you work on it. That's the simple thing. Each guy individually has taken some time here and were addressing it, working on it. I think there has been some improvement with guys.

Also think the quality of shots you get is the key. The guys that are shooting the ball and where they are shooting it from, how they're getting them, those are the good ones. If that's the case, we have confidence in making them.

Like I said this team is built a little bit differently. Our versatility is more inside out than it is outside in. I do think we have some guys that are going to have to stretch the floor for us to be effective, and that starts with our back court.

Our perimeter guys have to shoot it in, we'll have to find some other guys that can find that niche. Damezi is a guy we have some hope for in that regard. As a sophomore, he's going to have to have a role on our team. One of the best things that Damezi does is he can shoot the ball. You got to start with that with him.

Hopefully adding Jerome into our mix here a little bit as we get started with the flow of the season. Jerome's best gift as a young player will be his outside shooting. As as he comes off a year where he hasn't played, the rust and all that other stuff you're going to go through trying to find it, hopefully he can find some rhythm. But he's another that I think can shoot ball a little bit.

Q. Speaking of Jerome, could we get an update on his status?

Yeah, I think we issued a statement about his clearance and what he's been cleared to do. Jerome went through a very tough freshman year. A lot of guys go through injuries. A lot of guys have to sit, and that's hard for people. Jerome not only did that, but also had a condition that's not just an ankle sprain or repair of the knee. It was a little different.

So we've kind of listened to doctors, trainers, and Jerome has done his part. He's worked very, very hard to get cleared, and then when he was cleared he did a very good job fighting through the not playing, the rust, getting his legs back under him, his strength, his conditioning.

And we're proud of where he started at five weeks ago. As he started here in this five weeks, as leads into October, he hasn't missed a workout. He hasn't been comfortable at all with that being said. He doesn't obviously look to be the full strength Jerome we inherited as he came off high school season, but that's to be natural with any guy that's taken six, seven months off. He's got to get his legs under him, get his basketball game back in terms of rhythm, catching, running, contact all of a sudden.

He's bigger and stronger, yet he's not playing as strong as he once was. I think all that is going to come with repetition of being out there every day. We're hopeful. One day at time. We work with him every day. Communication is always the most important thing.

I suspect there will be some days he doesn't feel as good as the other guys as well. We're all very, very hopeful. I think he's very, very grateful. I know I am very, very grateful. The doctors and the training staff and just our administration in general how much work and information went into sharing and working towards getting him just back on the floor.

So to his credit, he did his part. He worked very, very hard. When you work that hard to get back off any kind of setback there is a little bit of pride in yourself, so he's anxious to get back, too.

Q. Obviously Trayce Jackson-Davis is a freshman coming in.. Is he someone you expect to have an impact on Big 10 play once that gets here?

No question. Trayce is going to have to earn it the old fashioned way by doing it every day, but he's doing that right now. Very, very proud of him in terms of what he's done this summer and how he's embraced the off-season. He's gotten himself in terrific shape as of right now. He's got to continue to go with that. His athleticism, his conditioning, are all very, very impressive. He's a gifted young guy and he's coachable.

He's a guy that sponges it up. He doesn't know what he doesn't know, and he asks questions. He's improved as a player, but he's going to go through some really hard times. I feel like college basketball is harder for young bigs than it is guards because they're not used to the pounding and the size, and in some cases in the Big 10 the age difference.

So he'll go through that, but he's going to be put in the fire. He was brought here to be put in the fire, and he can help our team immensely. I think as you watch us play he's got some confidence in him. The more experience he gets under his belt the better he'll be.

He's got to continue to work on his game, evolve as a player, but he's going to get pushed and thrown into the fire and have to earn it. There is no better guy to be around than him on a daily basis with how he approaches things.

Q. How do you approach this year differently than maybe you did your first year, and do you approach the season differently now than when you first started your coaching career?

Each season is a unique challenge. Each season is different. Each team is different, regardless if you return a ton or bring back a bunch of new guys. It's starting over. You have 10, 12, 13 brains that need to be reset and focused on the mission that we have as a group.

And we're going to have to get some roles identified quickly. We're going to have to get the new chemistry and how we're going to have to do things put forth, and we are going have to earn our way just like every other team.

But, no, I don't change anything. I mean, every day is a hard. Every practice is difficult. Every game that you prepare for is difficult. Never changes. And this team is going to be pushed. For us to have a great season we have with to be locked in, bought in. We have to play everybody that we have. There can't be a game or a day that we don't feel like, hey, we can use everybody. Every single guy in practice should expect to help this team.

I think that's a good thing that everybody has a chance to contribute and help. How much is up to them, but, no, I think right now we're on the ground zero. We're building our team. This team in general as we've talked, you know, there is some older people have been with us for a couple years. Those guys obviously hopefully are our strength, inside the locker room more so than on the court.

Inside the locker room is a huge thing for this group. Everyone has to understand the importance of every day. To max out everything that we have, every single guy has to really take care of one another. Got to be about the right thing and be about one another. That's from me all the way down. This team has to have unbelievable humility, it's got to have a great work ethic, and it's got to give more towards the other guys on the team to get the most out of them so we can be the best we can be.

Q. What have you seen in AI that may be different that might jump him to another level from the off-season?

One, he's a great person. He's always been about the right things, and he continues to be the same way right now as he was when he got here. That's a credit to his family and credit to how he approaches things, not only in basketball perspective, but just in general. He's a great guy. He's a great person to have on your team. He's a great guy to go to class with. He's a great guy.

He takes a lot pride in his individual improvement and he works at it. He's a much better player. He's stronger now than he has been in the past. He's heavier now than he has been in the past. Now he's experienced a lot of minutes in a two-year period. We count on him to do a lot.

Definitely without question I see him playing a lot more point guard for us this year. I feel like that's going to be something that's going to help our team. It's going to put -- if it's not Rob or Devonte, it's going to put him on the floor as an older player with the ball in his hands. That's important.

I think second thing is he has a chance to maybe play some other guys off the ball. But he'll play off the ball as well. He's one of our more consistent shooters and he knows what we're doing for the most part. He's been a terrific teammate since day one. Right now really count on him being not only a terrific teammate, but terrific leader for us.

Q. Last year you were one of the top-rated defensive efficiency teams in college basketball. How do you assess this group defensively and how you'll be able to match up scheme-wise both team and individual?

Well, you know from an identity perspective we always want to be a hard-playing, tough-minded team that speaks for itself and plays hard on both ends, but in particular defensively. From year one, gradually improving to year two. Obviously adding some new players, some young guys into the fold, and having a core group that came back from our second round. I think our defense was better against great competition at times.

Weren't as big as we needed to be. Obviously I think at times when we were able to play a little bigger last year it helped us. I think this year's team will start off in that mode of a bigger team in size. So hopefully with the added size it helps you on the glass, helps you around the basket a little bit more. You would hope that your returning players from a system perspective can really hit the ground running and help your new players.

Although Joey is a new player, he's a college player coming in and has competed at a high level. He knows what it's like in terms of effort level. We got to get everybody on the same speed in our scheme. Personnel groupings are everything in terms of the matchups, but our system is in place. If we embrace and buy-in on that end, good things happen. I know we'll teach it the same.

I think defensively this team has a chance to be pretty good. Has some size. Has some real size three through five where you could be 6'7", 6'8", 6'9", where you have that type of front line size around the basket and on the glass protecting the paint. That's sort of what the league is built on.

Back court you have Devonte in his third, AI in his third, Robert, who is a terrific defender, and you have Armaan who is a very intelligent freshman who will be able to pick some things up defending the back court. You need Damezi and Jerome to get more experience and find their way on the perimeter. Being able to defend on the perimeter is something those two guys are going to have an adjustment at, but they give us some versatility as well.

Justin Smith is an integral part of our defenses. He was able to go as a freshman to a sophomore and in our good moments, our best moments, some of our best wins, he was integral in what we did not only how we played offensively, but what he did for us defensively.

He's got versatility where hopefully we can move him back and forth from the perimeter to the small forward slot. To me, he's as capable a defender as there is in college. He's as good as it gets in terms of talent and athleticism. When his mind is right and he's really focused, to me he will be one of the better defenders in the Big 10.

Q. Last year losing 12 of 13, that was the big turning point. What were your biggest takeaways from that, and what can you look at to do differently this year?

Well, it was very odd to go through. I don't think a lot of people had been through that kind of streak before. When you hit adversity, whether it's one or two in a row, you're constantly on a quest to be able to get back on your feet and up off the mat. It takes great character to do that. Takes stay-with-it through tough times.

Part of it is you have to be mature as a player and understand that in this day and age winning is great and you're all good; losing one game doesn't didn't end your life. At the end of the day I think so many times you can compound a loss and make it a lot bigger or a lot harder to deal with with the way you approach things, the way you listen to things out in the general public, handle the adversity on your own.

I think that maturity will be a huge part of the development of this team, is to not get carried away with the outside noise, the negatively, the cluster that everyone deals with in athletics in this day and age. You have to be able to stay tight, stay calm, and be able to have great togetherness through those times.

I think as you looked at our team towards the end of the year, being able to even find a way to get off the mat, what were the key things? Well, we never stopped working to progress. Certain individuals stayed with it and had their best moments toward the end of the season.

There are always some things you can learn with. I would say handling adversity, dealing with negativity when it's thrown at you, and rightfully so, you have to respond to those things in an unbelievably tough-minded manner. From me all the way down, you have to be really, really locked in and focused on the next step, the next day. You're not going to be able to do anything until you can get through those hard parts.

To me, that would be a great maturity lesson for our returning guys, to understand that those things happen and the way you respond is the most important thing.

Q. We're 20 minutes into this and not much talk about Devonte yet. He is back as your leading scorer. He was terrific the last seven game of the season. What do you envision from him this year what will his role be?

You know, Devonte did finish the season fantastic for us. I mean, if you look at the games that we were able to win towards the end of the season, some of the games that we were able to play, we've always had sort of another perimeter or two perimeter players really kind of play well.

When he's played well throughout his time with us we've had some great wins. Consistency is what we're looking for, but he's coming into his senior year. Mentally he is in the best place he's been since I've been here. His five-week pre-season and off-season has been very distractionless on the floor, and the off floor in the weight room and conditioning areas, he's hit all-time high marks. He's good there. Best he's been.

He's our most talented offensive player without question. To be able get the most out of him, you're going to have to live with him doing some things at times that probably you would like to take back. But for him to be able to be himself, for hmmm to be able to do it at another level more consistently, he's got to have some more rope.

I think that's where guys like Al and playing the one more comes into a little bit more play. Devonte, when he needs to score, we have to have the ability to put him in situations where he's a more primary offensive weapon. Where he's not brining it up. He's more of a receiver than a facilitator.

I think the way this he scores, the way he can create, Devonte is going to have to play off the ball a little bit offensively for us. He's a talented, talented player. With those ranges, he's got to be solid. I think he's at place where that's mature, he's a smart guy. He understands this is his last go. Hopefully has the humility sort of to understand that how he finished last year is a by-product of him staying with it.

He didn't have a great start in November when he had back-to-back quad injuries that took him out of the starting lineup at the beginning. Then he sorted of worked his way through it, but he finished in a way that was really, really positive. So hopefully uses that as driving force to get started this year.

Q. With a player like Devonte who can be so impactful, how do you strike that balance where you recognize that sometimes he is maybe going to do something that's frustrating, but you know that there is also that really impactful player in there?

I mean, I do think there is a delicate balance. He's the type of guy that obviously when he is playing free and confident he feels like he can beat the world. You need guys that like, with that type of confidence.

But there is a detriment when the plays are getting you beat. Where he can respond definitely and where he can understand a little bit easier this year is just because there is a few mistakes or maybe it's not working out well for him, that doesn't mean that it's not his day. He can just come right back on the next round when he gets his opportunity, because he knows he's going to get it, and he can get back to business, so to speak, of playing the game.

He doesn't have to play the game worrying about making mistakes. Just got to play the game and move on to the next play. I think he's a guy at times that's hard on himself and sometimes gets down. He let's a bad play or bad half steamroll the game, or maybe even two, rather than just moving forward to the next play, because he knows he's going to be out there because he's one of our best guys.

He's got to understand he's going to have some rope. He's got to understand sometimes he's going to have to hit the single, so to speak, rather than the homerun every time. He's as impactful of a player on this year's team as there is. He is as talented as an offensive player as we have, and he's an older upperclass guy who has been through a lot of games. I think he can play with anybody and we're going to need him to.

CHEANEY TO BE ENSHRINED IN COLLEGE BASKETBALL HALL OF FAME

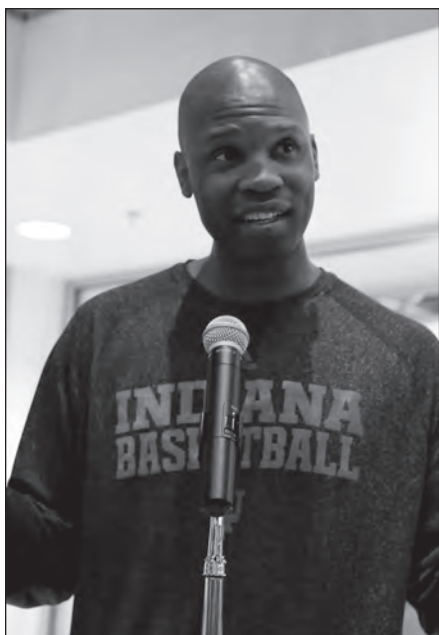

KANSAS CITY, Mo. – Indiana University's all-time leading scorer Calbert Cheaney is among six decorated former players and three influential former head coaches who have been selected to the National Collegiate Basketball Hall of Fame Class of 2019. The honorees will officially be enshrined on Nov. 24 in Kansas City at the 2019 National Collegiate Basketball Hall of Fame Induction Celebration presented by Nike.

The Hall of Fame's 14th induction celebration will precede the 2019 Hall of Fame Classic powered by ShotTracker, which will showcase Missouri, Oklahoma, Butler and Stanford competing Nov. 25-26 at Sprint Center.

One of the most dominant players in the tradition-rich history of the Hoosier program, Cheaney's 2,613 career points from 1989-93 still stand as the most in IU and Big Ten history. The three-time All-American led the Hoosiers to 105 wins during his four seasons on campus, including four NCAA Tournament appearances, two Big Ten titles and a run to the 1992 Final Four. The Evansville native averaged 22.4 points and 6.2 rebounds per game en route to earning Big Ten and National Player of the Year honors as a senior in 1993. He was selected No. 6 overall in the 1993 NBA Draft and went on to play 13 professional seasons.

THE LATE ERIC ANDERSON INDUCTED IN TO IU HALL OF FAME

A member of two Big Ten Championship teams and the 1992 Final Four squad, Eric Anderson was one of the most prolific frontcourt players in IU basketball history.

He is one of only four players in program history to score more than 1,700 points and pull down at least 800 rebounds, joining Alan Henderson, Kent Benson and Don Schlundt in accomplishing the feat. Anderson currently ranks 11th in program history in scoring (1,715 points), eighth in rebounds (825) and eighth in blocked shots (136), and IU went 101-31 (.765) during his four seasons with the program.

He earned 1989 Big Ten Freshman of the Year honors, was a first-team All-Big Ten choice in 1991, and was named the Most Outstanding Player of the West Regional during IU's 1992 Final Four run. After his IU career, he spent two seasons in the NBA the New York Knicks from 1992-94. Eric passed away last December at the age of 48.

Anderson is joined in the 2019 induction class by the following former IU standouts:

Kay Burrus

(Field Hockey/Women's Basketball Coach, 1962-76)

Chris Gartner

(Football, 1970-72)

Jeff Overton

(Men's Golf, 2002-05)

Rose Richmond

(Women's Track and Field, 2000-03)

(Football, 1972-75)

The class was inducted at the annual Hall of Fame dinner on Friday, Sept. 20, 2019 and was recognized at halftime of the University of Connecticut football game at Memorial Stadium the following day.

The six individuals comprise the 38th class, bringing the roster of inductees to 237.

After seeing IU allow 76 points per game on 45.9 percent shooting and 41.7 percent accuracy from 3-point range in the month of November, IU limited teams to 65.4 points on 41.3 percent shooting from the floor and 33.1 percent from long distance in the month of February.

• IU posted a two-win improvement in the Big Ten from 2016-17 to 2017-18.

• He saw junior forward Juwan Morgan emerge as the most improved player in the Big Ten adding more than 10 points per game scoring in Big Ten play during the 2017-18 season. Morgan earned second-team All-Big Ten honors and was named All-District by the USBWA and NABC in 2018. Senior Rob Johnson averaged a career-best 14.0 points per game earned honorable mention All-Big-Ten honors his senior year.

ARCHIE MILLER

• Regarded as one of the top young coaches in the country, Miller is a tireless recruiter, noted developer of talent, and a gifted tactician whose teams are known for their stout defense and efficient offense. His 2018 recruiting class at IU was ranked 7th in the nation after a successful haul of players from the Big Ten footprint.

• The 39-year old native of Beaver Falls, Pennsylvania, came to IU after serving six seasons as head coach at the University of Dayton, where he won Atlantic 10 Conference regular season championships in 2016 and 2017.

• He guided the Flyers to a 139-63 record (69.8) and a 68-34 mark (66.7) in the Atlantic 10. He took Dayton to the NCAA Tournament each of the last four years with the Flyers advancing to the Elite Eight in the 2014 Tournament. UD was nationally ranked in three of Miller's six seasons (2013-14, 2014-15 and 2015-16).

• During their elite eight run, UD topped Ohio State (60-59), Syracuse (55-53) and Stanford (82-72) before falling to Florida (62-52) in the regional finals. In 2015, they defeated Boise State (56-55) and Providence (66-53) and were eliminated by Oklahoma (72-66) in the Sweet Sixteen. In 2016, they were defeated by Final Four participant Syracuse (70-51) in the second round and by Wichita State (64-58) in their first tournament game this season.

• Miller is one of five active coaches who had at least five NCAA wins in his first four seasons. The others are Mark Few, Thad Matta, Shaka Smart and Roy Williams. With three NCAA wins in 2014 and another two in 2015, Dayton was one of just six teams to have at least five NCAA tournament wins in those two years. The others were Arizona, UConn, Kentucky, Michigan State and Wisconsin.

• For his efforts during the 2016-17 season, he was named Atlantic 10 and NABC District Coach of the Year. He led UD to perform at a championship level despite playing a 2016-17 campaign where the team's top six scorers missed a total of 32 games during the year due to injury. He also was a finalist for the 2015 Jim Phelan National Coach of the Year Award.

• He comes from a family of coaches with his father, John, having guided Archie and his brother Sean at Blackhawk High School in Beaver Falls. His brother Sean has been the head coach at the University of Arizona and also was the head coach at Xavier University. John was one of the country's top high school coaches when he retired in 2005, with 657 wins in a 35-year coaching career. Archie, Sean and their sister Lisa all played Division I college basketball.

• Miller is regarded as a top recruiter – Arizona's 2011 recruits were a Top 10 class – and game strategist – he was the architect of the Wildcats upset of eighth-ranked Texas to get them to the Sweet 16. He was reunited with his brother during the summer of 2015 on the coaching staff of USA Basketball's U19 World Championship. When Sean was elevated to the team's head coach, he turned to his brother to help USA basketball win the gold at the 2015 FIBA U19 World Championship that was held June 27-July 5 in Heraklion, Crete, Greece.

• He was a four-year letterwinner at North Carolina State from 1998-2002. A point guard, he is currently third at NC State in career FT% (.846, 165-195), sixth in career 3-pt. FG% (.429, 218-509), and fourth in career threes (218). As a senior, he helped lead the Wolfpack to the finals of the ACC championship game and was named to the all-tournament team. That season was coach Herb Sendek's first NCAA team at NC State.

• As an assistant, Miller coached in the Big Ten, Pac-12 and ACC, where he honed his craft under some of the most respected coaches in the country. He began his coaching career at NC State, serving as a coaching intern under Sendek in 2002-03. Miller then went to Western Kentucky as a full-time member of Darrin Horn's staff for one season. He returned to NC State, first as Director of Basketball Operations (2004-05), and then as a full-time assistant coach (2005-06). When Sendek went to Arizona State in 2006-07, Miller remained on his coaching staff before joining Thad Matta at Ohio State for two seasons (2007-09). As a coach, he has been part of 20-plus win and NCAA seasons at NC State (2005-06), Ohio State (2008-09), Arizona (2010-11), and Dayton (2013-14, 2014-15, 2015-16 and 2016-17).

• In April, 2015, he joined his father and brother in the Beaver County Sports Hall of Fame. Other greats in the Beaver County Hall include Mike Ditka, Tony Dorsett, Terry Francona, Pete and Press Maravich, Joe Namath, Babe Parilli and Norm Van Lier.

• Miller earned his bachelor's degree in Parks, Recreation and Tourism from NC State in 2002. He was born October 30, 1978. He is married to the former Morgan Nicole Cruse and they have a 15-year old daughter, Leah.

TOM OSTROM

ASSOCIATE HEAD COACH

3RD YEAR AT IU / 18TH YEAR OVERALL

- Tom Ostrom is in his third season at Indiana after spending six years with Coach Miller at Dayton. He has served on the NCAA Division I level as an assistant coach at Arkansas (2007-11), South Alabama (2004-07) and Florida (2002-04).
- Ostrom has been part of a staff that produced the No. 7 recruiting class nationally in 2018 and been successful in luring in-state talent to Bloomington including McDonald's All-Americans and Indiana Mr. Basketball winners Romeo Langford (2018) and Trayce Jackson-Davis (2019).
- Last season, the Hoosiers earned their first national ranking since 2017 and were rated as high as 21st in the country. IU finished with 19 wins and won two post season games in the NIT, beat four nationally ranked teams and also improved to 32nd in adjusted defense after finishing 65th in 2017-18. IU also finished 36th in the country in blocked shots.
- Ostrom was a big reason why the Flyers went to the NCAA Tournament in each of the last four years of his time at Dayton, seeing them advance to the Elite Eight and Sweet Sixteen and winning Atlantic-10 regular season championships in 2016 and 2017.

His 20-foot shot with two seconds left in overtime gave IU the victory and lifted him to a Big Ten-record 56 points. He accomplished the feat once more, this time in regulation, during an IU rout of Michigan State. Rayl put up 48 shots, hit 23 field goals, and scored 56 points. All marks are still IU records. Throughout his junior and senior years, Rayl had a 43-game string of double-digit performances. Rayl was a two-time All-Big Ten team member.

DICK VAN ARSDALE - 1965

Dick Van Arsdale scored 292 points and captured 213 rebounds as a sophomore to begin a most impressive career at IU. His junior season took on a whole new level as Van Arsdale led Indiana in scoring with 535 points and in rebounding with 298. His senior season was also the last to be coached by the great Branch McCracken at Indiana. Van Arsdale finished his career with 1,240 points and 719 rebounds. He won IU's co-MVP award as a junior and senior and contributed to a gold medal performance at the World University Games. An Academic All-American, Van Arsdale went on to play 12 seasons in the NBA for New York and Phoenix.

TOM VAN ARSDALE - 1965

The only player who could have challenged Dick Van Arsdale as Indiana's top player through 1962-65 was his brother and identical twin Tom Van Arsdale. The two had almost identical stats throughout their three years and put in numerous identical performances. Tom finished his career with 1,252 points, just 12 more than his brother. Tom grabbed 723 career boards and led Indiana in scoring and rebounding during his sophomore and senior seasons. Both brothers had career scoring highs in the same game with Tom netting 34 points against Notre Dame as a junior. He received co-MVP with his brother in their final two seasons and was a member of the gold medal World University Games team. As was Dick, Tom was also an Academic All-American and played 12 seasons in the NBA, retiring with his brother from the Phoenix Suns after the 1976-77 season.

GEORGE MCGINNIS - 1971

In only one season with the Hoosiers, George McGinnis did what most college basketball players only dream about. Taking Indiana to a 17-7 record, the sophomore forward led the Big Ten in both scoring (29.9) and rebounding (14.9). He is one of just five players to do that in more than 40 years of conference records. His scoring average was also an IU record. McGinnis scored 20 or more points in 21 of his 24 college games, including an Indiana record 14 times in a row. He scored over 30 points on 12 different occasions, a Hoosier single-season record. The 1971 All-American went on to become a three-time NBA All-Star.

STEVE DOWNING - 1973

Steve Downing's totals in his first big college game were 28 points, 17 rebounds, and 10 blocked shots, Indiana's only recorded triple-double. His career continued as it started with Downing becoming the first All-American under Coach Bob Knight. Overcoming a knee injury, Downing led the Hoosiers to a Big Ten title in his final season, averaging 21.8 points in non-conference play and 14.7 during the Big Ten season. He averaged 24 points per game in the Hoosiers' last eight conference games. The conference champions were led by Downing in the quest for the NCAA title but fell short, losing 70-59 to UCLA in the Final Four. Downing was named All-Final Four, Big Ten MVP and chosen as the Boston Celtics' No. 1 draft pick. He won an NBA Championship with the Celtics in 1974.

STEVE GREEN - 1974, 1975

Steve Green was a member of one of the greatest combination of players Hoosier fans have ever seen. He had a breakout season as a junior and was considered one of the best players in the Big Ten. IU's Most Valuable Player and an All-Big Ten selection, Green was Indiana's leading scorer with 16.7 points per game. He hit in double figures in 24 games. His senior season, Green helped lead a Hoosier team through an 18-game Big Ten schedule undefeated. The wins came by a record average winning margin of 22.8 points per game. Green went on to sign with Utah and then joined the Indiana Pacers for their first three seasons.

QUINN BUCKNER - 1975, 1976

One would think a perfect 18-0 conference record is something that only comes along once in a lifetime. Quinn Buckner and members of the Hoosier Basketball team from 1974-76 proved that history can repeat itself. Buckner's four-year career at Indiana featured four consecutive Big Ten Championships, two undefeated conference seasons, one unbeaten regular season and an NCAA title. IU's captain as a junior and senior, Buckner was considered one of the greatest leaders the Hoosier backcourt has ever seen. Upon finishing his college career, Buckner helped lead the 1976 U.S. Olympic team to an 8-0 record and a gold medal. He went on to play 10 NBA seasons and in 1984 with the Boston Celtics, joined Jerry Lucas as the only players ever to be on championship teams in high school, college, the Olympics and the NBA. Only Magic Johnson has since completed that feat.

SCOTT MAY - 1975, 1976

Scott May was another member of the Indiana dream team of 1976. An undefeated season, four Big Ten Championship rings and an NCAA title are just a few of the accomplishments under May's name. As a junior, the All-American helped lead Indiana to a perfect 18-0 conference record, only to break his arm in the final game of the regular season. Without May, the Hoosiers' tournament title dreams ended with a 92-90 Midwest Regional championship loss to Kentucky. May returned for his final season in perfect condition and proved it by helping IU to its one and only unbeaten season. The 1976 Player of the Year was the Hoosiers' leading scorer on Bob Knight's first national championship team. May also contributed to the gold medal U.S. Olympic team following his senior season. He averaged 14.2 points for the Chicago Bulls, making the NBA All-Rookie team. His NBA career spanned seven seasons.

KENT BENSON - 1975, 1976, 1977

Nicknamed Big Red for his recognizable red hair, Kent Benson was part of one of the most amazing periods of Indiana Basketball. After an average 1973-74 season, the Hoosiers took the world by storm in 1974-75, posting a perfect 29-0 regular season record. After teammate Scott May broke his arm, Benson did his part against Kentucky to try to keep the NCAA Tournament dream alive. Benson netted 33 points and grabbed 23 boards but IU fell 92-90 and Benson would have to look forward to his junior season. Benson was named All-Big Ten as a sophomore and his list of honors is endless. During the 1976 championship run, Benson racked up 25 points in the final game at the Final Four and received the Most Outstanding Player Award. The dream would come true as Indiana dominated Michigan for the tournament crown. After a final year at IU, Benson was the first player taken in the NBA draft. He played eight NBA seasons for Milwaukee, Detroit, Utah and Cleveland.

MIKE WOODSON - 1979, 1980

Mike Woodson became Indiana's 11th All-American in five seasons. He averaged 21.0 points during his junior season and helped lead Indiana to an NIT Championship. Woodson captained the USA's Pan American Games team to a gold medal during the summer prior to his senior year and was all set to have a perfect season with the Hoosiers. After five games and a No. 1 ranking, Woodson suffered a herniated disc in his back and had to undergo surgery. Upon losing Woodson, the Hoosiers went 7-5 in the Big Ten until he returned to spark Indiana back into action. IU finished the conference season with six straight victories and won the Big Ten title. Woodson was the MVP after playing in only six league games that season. Following his senior year, Woodson went on to an 11-year, 10,981-point NBA career with New York, New Jersey, Kansas City, Sacramento, the Los Angeles Clippers and Houston.

ISIAH THOMAS - 1981

The only thing disappointing about Isiah Thomas' IU career is the fact that he only played two years in a Hoosier uniform before turning pro. Before even playing a game at Indiana, Thomas played on Bob Knight's gold-medal Pan-American Games team in San Juan. Thomas helped lead the U.S. team to a 113-94 victory over Puerto Rico in the championship battle. At IU, Thomas started every game he played. He was a member and leader of two Indiana teams that won Big Ten Championships. During his second and final season at IU, Thomas led the Hoosiers in scoring and set a single-season school record for assists with 197. In the 1981 championship game, Thomas led all scorers with 23 points and was honored as the Outstanding Player. Several weeks later, he announced he was headed for the NBA. A No. 2 draft pick, Thomas was an instant success in the NBA. He received Rookie of the Year honors and was a starting All-Star from his first year on. He led the Detroit Pistons to two NBA Championships and his No. 11 was retired by the Pistons.

LONDON TURNER - 1982

The courage and strength shown by Landon Turner can be matched by few athletes around the country. Turner had an up and down basketball career during his first two years at Indiana. During his junior season in 1981, Knight gave Turner one last chance to prove he could contribute. Turner responded with a 4-of-5 performance against Northwestern, which boosted an already powerful line-up. Turner went on to reach double figures in nine of his last 11 games. The Hoosiers won their last five regular season games and earned their second straight Big Ten crown. Turner was on the rise heading into his senior season when disaster struck. On his way to Kings Island in Cincinnati, Ohio, Turner lost control of his vehicle and crashed in an accident that left him paralyzed from the chest down. Turner eventually graduated from Indiana in 1984 and went on to play wheelchair basketball. He was named an honorary All-American by the U.S. Basketball Writers Association and received the Most Courageous Athlete award in 1989.

TED KITCHEL - 1982, 1983

By his sophomore year, Ted Kitchel already had two Big Ten titles and had an NCAA Championship ring on his finger. He also set a conference record that still stands today when he hit all 18 of his free throw attempts in an Indiana victory over Illinois. Kitchel was a starter on an all-senior lineup that began the 1982-83 season 10-0 and gained a No. 1 ranking. On a weekend trip to Michigan late in the league season, Kitchel sank a three-pointer and fell to the floor. An early back problem had returned and his season was over. Despite the injury, Kitchel averaged 17.3 points and was one of the league's top scorers.

RANDY WITTMAN - 1983

Randy Wittman and Ted Kitchel experienced similar careers at Indiana. Five-year roommates, injury caused redshirt seasons for both individuals. Wittman gathered up his conference championships and NCAA title by his sophomore season. He and Kitchel were major contributors throughout their careers. After Kitchel suffered an injury late in the Big Ten 1982-83 season, Wittman and the Hoosiers were in a tie for the conference lead with three games remaining. Wittman took Indiana under his wing, helping the Hoosiers rout Purdue, Illinois and Ohio State for yet another Big Ten Championship. Wittman shot .543 on the season and averaged a team-leading 18.9 points. He was IU's third Big Ten MVP in four years. In his IU career, Wittman played an IU-recorded 4,699 minutes, including the full 40 minutes 45 times. He went on to a productive nine-year NBA career and is currently an assistant coach with the Washington Wizards.

STEVE ALFORD - 1986, 1987

Steve Alford may have been born dribbling a basketball. Alford was not only a talented athlete, but he had the work ethic and determination to bring out the most of his abilities. An Indiana Mr. Basketball as a high school senior, Alford averaged 37 points a game and never scored less than 20 points in a game his final two seasons. As a freshman at Indiana, Alford led the nation in free throw shooting with a 91.3 percentage and led the Hoosiers with 15.5 points a game. After just missing a Final Four appearance that year, Alford and the Hoosiers had a slow season his sophomore year. He still managed to make history, draining 58 of 62 free throws during the Big Ten season. He also averaged a team-high 18.1 points. Alford continued to improve as a junior as he averaged 22.5 points and brought his team to a 21-8 record. The team was shocked in an NCAA Tournament opening round loss but would return for Alford's senior season with a vigor never seen before. In the first season of college basketball's three-point shot, Alford hit seven treys on two different occasions. He set an NCAA record with his seven baskets from beyond the arc in the championship game, a victory over Syracuse that would secure a fifth national title for the Hoosiers. Alford was the Big Ten MVP in 1987 and went on to a brief NBA career.

JAY EDWARDS - 1989

Jay Edwards made his debut appearance in a Hoosier jersey under the fan pressure to see a repeat NCAA Championship performance in 1988. Although Indiana did not obtain back-to-back titles, Edwards gave the Hoosier faithful a sight to see. The Big Ten Freshman of the Year had an NCAA freshman record .536 three-point percentage. He broke Alford's conference record of seven threes in a game. As a sophomore, Edwards led Indiana to a Big Ten title with last second shots to knock off Purdue and Michigan. With an average of 20 points a game and All-America achievement, Edwards gave up his final two years of eligibility to enter the draft and was a second-round pick of the Los Angeles Clippers.

CALBERT CHEANEY - 1991, 1992, 1993

Calbert Cheaney was Bob Knight's first-ever left-handed player and a good choice he was. Cheaney is the only Indiana freshman to start the season opener and score 20 points. Cheaney kept the Hoosiers a national power during all four of his years at Indiana. As a freshman he led the team in scoring with a 17.1 average. Over his final three seasons, Indiana spent all but two of 53 poll weeks in the Top 10 and 38 in the top five. The Hoosiers were 87-16 during those years. In his second season, Cheaney set a school-record with a .596 shooting percentage and an average of 21.6 points per game. Cheaney took on captainship of the team following that year. Indiana was unable to come up with a championship but outscored opponents by 17.6 points to lead the nation. Cheaney led the team to a Final Four appearance as a junior. On his way, he gained control of the all-time Big Ten men's scoring record with his career total of 2,613 points, a record that still stands. Cheaney was named the National Player of the Year (Wooden Award), a unanimous All-American, Big Ten MVP and was taken No. 6 in the NBA draft by Washington.

ALAN HENDERSON - 1995

During Henderson's sophomore season, the Hoosiers were ranked No. 1 for almost the entire season, but their championship hopes took a turn for the worse when Henderson tore a ligament in his knee in February. Indiana managed a Big Ten Championship but Kansas was victorious in the regional final of the NCAA Tournament. Henderson came back strong as a junior, building up to a 41-point performance against Michigan State at the end of the season. Indiana reached the Sweet 16 for the fourth straight season but could not advance further. As a senior, Henderson scored 20 or more points on 24 occasions and recorded 49 double-doubles in his four years. He set IU's career rebounding record with 1,091, topping a record set 34 years before. Henderson was the Atlanta Hawks' first round draft pick, eventually becoming a starter and outstanding player for the Hawks.

KIRK HASTON - 2001

Kirk Haston carried the Hoosiers in Mike Davis' first season as head coach, scoring 19 points and pulling down 8.7 rebounds per game. He led the Big Ten in conference scoring and ranked second in rebounding. He had one of the greatest seasons by a Hoosier and the NBA took notice, as Haston chose to forgo his senior season and enter the NBA Draft where he was a first-round selection (16th) of the Charlotte Hornets. Haston's game came to life in 2000-2001, as he discovered the three-point shot. No 3-pointer was bigger than the one he hit at the buzzer to beat No. 1 Michigan State, the first time Indiana had posted a victory over a top-ranked team in Assembly Hall. Haston concluded his career ranked 17th in school history with 1,406 points scored and finished ninth in career rebounds with 748. He earned All-Big Ten first team honors as a junior and second team honors as a sophomore.

Dean led the Hoosiers to their first-ever Big Ten Conference co-championship which they clinched in a 15-point victory over Wisconsin to end the 1926 season. He led the squad to two more Big Ten titles and had an impressive overall career record of 162-93 with a Big Ten mark of 96-72 which was by far the most successful coaching career in Indiana basketball history at the time. Dean's era officially kicked off the tradition of Hoosier basketball at Indiana University that continues today. Dean was inducted into the Indiana University Athletic Hall of Fame in 1982.

364-174 (.677), 210-116 (.644)

McCracken spent 24 years at the helm of the "Hurriyin' Hoosiers" and brought two National Championships, four Big Ten Championships and IU's first four 20-win seasons to Bloomington. The first national title came in 1940 when the Hoosiers finished 20-3 overall and 9-3 in the Big Ten. NCAA Championship number two came in the 1952-53 season when the squad racked up a then-school-record 23 wins to only three losses, an unprecedented 17-1 Big Ten record and IU's first number 1 national ranking and first outright Big Ten Championship. McCracken led the squad to a 364-174 overall record and a 210-116 Big Ten record. His 450 career wins places him 76th on the NCAA's all-time victories list and 86th on the all-time winningest coaches list. "The General" led the Hoosiers to three national championships, 11 Big Ten championships and one National Invitation Tournament title. The greatest accomplishment in the Bob Knight era was the 1975-76 National Championship run where the Hoosiers began the year as the Associated Press' preseason number one team and carried that ranking all the way through the season to Knight's first and the school's third NCAA Championship. That squad was also the last team to finish the season perfect with a 32-0 overall record and an 18-0 Big Ten mark. Knight's second title came during the 1980-81 season when Isiah Thomas led the squad to the NCAA title over the North Carolina Tar Heels. The squad's final championship of the Knight era came in the 1986-87 season when Keith Smart hit the game-winning shot to defeat Syracuse in the national title game. Knight's career saw numerous achievements by both the coach himself and his players. He was awarded with National Coach-of-the-Year honors on four occasions in 1975, 76, 87 and 1989. He ranks sixth on the all-time coaches list for victories and is the 30th winningest coach of all-time. However, prior to the start of the season, IU announced that a series of recruiting sanctions and corrective actions were being imposed on Sampson and his staff. When the NCAA announced that possible major violations had occurred during his tenure, Sampson resigned after leading IU to a 22-4 record.

- Knight then went on to coach the JV basketball team at Cuyahoga Falls (Ohio) High School for one season before enlisting in the U.S. Army. Then in 1965 he was named the head coach of the Army men's basketball program, where he would go on to post a record of 102-50 in six seasons.

BOB KNIGHT

On Nov. 6, 2009, legendary IU coach Bob Knight, the winningest NCAA coach in collegiate men's basketball, was among the 2009 Indiana University Intercollegiate Athletics Hall of Fame inductee class. Knight won three national championships, was Big Ten Coach of the Year seven times and National Coach of the Year twice.

The class was officially inducted at the annual Hall of Fame dinner on Nov. 6, and was recognized at halftime of the football game against Wisconsin at Memorial Stadium, the following day.

The Hall of Fame was established in 1982 by the Indiana University Varsity Club National Board of Directors, in cooperation with Indiana University, its Department of Intercollegiate Athletics, the I Association, and the Indiana University Alumni Association. Its purpose is to recognize and honor individuals who have made exceptional contributions to the achievements and prestige of Indiana University in the field of athletics and who have demonstrated the values imparted by intercollegiate athletics. Each year, a subcommittee of the Indiana University Varsity Club National Board of Directors selects inductees for the Hall of Fame. With the 2010 class included, the current number of inductees to the IU Hall of Fame is 170.

GOING GLOBAL

Indiana University's Basketball program has been well represented in the U.S. National team's history and in international competition.

Among the most memorable IU connections with international play was the Games of the XXIII Olympiad in Los Angeles during the summer of 1984. Three Hoosiers participated in the games, IU coach Bob Knight as the U.S. head coach, Steve Alford as one of the 12 U.S. players and Uwe Blab on the West German squad.

A large banner of the Olympic rings and U.S.A. stitched into the rings hangs in Assembly Hall as a remembrance of the role Hoosier fans, players and coaches had in the U.S.A. gold medal effort.

Indiana hosted the team selection in April 1984 when 74 candidates worked out daily in the IU Fieldhouse. Over 34,000 turned out over two nights to watch the final trials games. A dinner with over 3,000 attending in the RCA Dome at Indianapolis saluted the U.S. team and helped raise over $131,000 for the U.S. Olympic Committee. More Olympic contributions came when 17,100 watched a June game in Assembly Hall between the U.S. team and a group of former Indiana players.

A highlight of the summer came in July when the RCA Dome had quite a debut for its first sporting event. Exceeding all expectations, 67,596 fans turned out for two exhibition games featuring the U.S. men's and women's Olympic Basketball teams.

The U.S. squad turned aside eight opponents en route to the gold medal with some of the decisions very one-sided thanks to contributions from all 12 U.S. players. Alford and Blab's respective teams met during pool play, and the U.S. won, 78-67. It was the closest margin of victory for the U.S. team.

HOOSIER HOME COURTS

OLD ASSEMBLY HALL

Indiana University Basketball has in its 100-year existence come full circle. Today, the 17,000 -plus capacity Assembly Hall is a mecca for sporting arenas, just as old Assembly Hall was in its day.

The original Assembly Hall was not a sporting arena, it was a small one-story structure with a wooden frame. The building, located near the Indiana Memorial Union, was built in 1895 and had a price tag of $12,000. When full the building could seat 600 people for a basketball game. It also was the practice site for the team and the gymnasium for physical education classes.

IU's first-ever game was on February 8, 1901 against Butler. The game was described by the Indianapolis News as a "fast" and "hard-fought" game which had Butler on top 20-17. The first game at Assembly Hall came 20 days later against Butler. In another tight game, Butler pulled it out 24-20 and left IU 0-2.

Opponents were rare and basketball was still enduring growing pains, but the 1901 total of two games doubled in 1902 and five games were played in 1903. It was a time when basketball was just taking hold, but when it did, the growth was accompanied by the need for a new building.

The final game at the original Assembly Hall was against Rose Poly on January 5, 1917 and it was the fifth-straight victory for IU and it came in dominating fashion, 35-9.

The building attracted former Presidents William Howard Taft and Teddy Roosevelt and also presidential candidate William Jennings Bryan.

The doors to Assembly Hall, which boasted an overall record of 61-43, officially closed in 1938 when it was demolished, but the tradition carried on and only grew stronger.

OLD ASSEMBLY HALL

MEN'S GYMNASIUM

MEN'S GYMNASIUM

What is now an upstairs recreational gymnasium in the School of Health, Physical Education and Recreation building is the Men's Gymnasium. This facility housed the Indiana Hoosiers from 1916-1928 and was brought into existence amid controversy.

With the original Assembly Hall falling into disrepair, students and faculty alike marched for a new gymnasium for the athletes. Alumni and University personnel also lobbied for its abandonment by the athletic program. The people's wishes were granted in 1914 and with a capacity of 2,000 and a cost of $200,000, the Men's Gymnasium's era began in 1916.

The first game at the gymnasium was on Jan. 19, 1917 against Iowa. The Hoosiers pulled out one of the lowest scoring games in history, 12-7.

The building was the home court of consistent teams coached by the likes of Dana M. Evans and Everett Dean. Dean led his squad to the first two Big Ten Championships in the history of IU Basketball as the head coach. He led the final team to play in the building to the program's first unbeaten home season at Men's Gymnasium (11-0).

As a player, Dean called the Men's Gymnasium home and was named as Indiana University's first All-American in 1921 while playing in that facility.

The team's consistent success led to the growth of the fan base supporting the squad. The capacity of 2,000 was no longer sufficient, so the program had to be moved into another facility.

The time had come because the growth was so substantial.

OLD FIELDHOUSE

Indiana's third home, after outgrowing the Men's Gymnasium, was the Old IU Fieldhouse and it was built on East 7th Street with a price tag of $350,000. The dedication game was on December 13, 1928 when IU defeated Eastern Champion Pennsylvania, 34-26. The facility had a portable hardwood floor and a lighting system consisting of 47 electric lamps suspended from the ceiling. Seven floodlights, three above the floor and two pointing directly at the hoops, made it easier for the players to see during the game. It was not one of the luxurious buildings of today, but head coach Everett Dean and the Hoosiers made due with what they were given.

The Old Fieldhouse was where Indiana Head Coach Everett Dean led the Hoosiers into what is now a well-documented tradition. Dean coached the 1936 team to an undefeated home record (9-0) and a share of the Big Ten Conference crown.

The facility saw six perfect seasons including a 24-game unbeaten home winning streak from 1938-1941. It was the home to the "Hurryin' Hoosiers" under head coach Branch McCracken. It was also the home to McCracken as a player where in 1930, he was named an All-American.

The fieldhouse was the home court for the 1940 NCAA National Champions and it was the place where IU attained its first 20-win season going 20-3 including a 9-0 mark at home. It was also the home to the 1953 NCAA National Champion "Hurricane Hoosiers" that went 20-4 overall and an unprecedented 11-0 in the Fieldhouse. Indiana squads amassed an amazing 234-74 overall record in the Old Fieldhouse era. Besides the two national titles, it was the home of five Big Ten Conference Championships, 20 All-Americans, 17 All-Big Ten First Team selections and three Big Ten Most Valuable Players.

Today the Fieldhouse is named the Ora Wildermuth Intramural Center and it houses one of the most well-known facilities in the country. The HPER building's famed basketball courts are now residing where the tradition of Indiana University Basketball began.

NEW FIELDHOUSE

From 1960-71, Indiana played in what is known as today as Gladstein Fieldhouse, adjacent to Assembly Hall. Gladstein Fieldhouse was the fourth home of the Hoosiers

Although it was only expected to last a few seasons, it lasted 11 years. Over that time, Indiana had only two losing seasons and consistency was the name of the game for the Hoosiers.

The building still exists and it plays host to the Indiana University Indoor Track and Field squad and is utilized during graduation ceremonies. The facility has played host to four Men's Big Ten Indoor Track and Field Championships and three Women's Indoor Big Ten Championships. It is a building that is well-utilized throughout the athletic season.

The Hoosiers, under Branch McCracken for the first five years, went a combined 44-15 in those seasons. In the opening game at the Fieldhouse, Indiana defeated Butler 80-53 in front of 9,236 screaming Hoosier fans.

Players like Walt Bellamy, Tom and Dick Van Arsdale and Jimmy Rayl competed at the Fieldhouse. It was the home arena for five All-Americans, six All-Big Ten First Team selections, three Academic All-Americans and three Academic All-Big Ten selections.

The tradition of Indiana University Basketball was not altered in any way by the temporary move to the Fieldhouse, but the tradition began to escalate when the Hoosiers moved into Assembly Hall.

SIMON SKJODT ASSEMBLY HALL

The 2016-17 season marked the 46th anniversary for the building that is the definition of tradition -- Assembly Hall. The Indiana Hoosiers have won over 83 percent of the games played at Branch McCracken Court. This season also marks the renaming of the building to Simon Skjodt Assembly Hall following a $40 million gift from Cindy Simon Skjodt for renovations to the facility.

The last unbeaten team in NCAA basketball, three NCAA Championships and 11 Big Ten Conference championship-winning teams have graced Branch McCracken Memorial Court. It has been the home to seven perfect seasons including a 56-game winning streak from 1991-1995 and it is the home of the shot that gave Calbert Cheaney the title of Big Ten career scoring leader.

Assembly Hall has played host to the pre- and postseason National Invitational Tournament on six occasions and the 1981 NCAA Midwest Regional Championship won by the Isiah Thomas-led Indiana Hoosiers. The building was also the home arena of the 1984 Olympic gold medal-winning basketball team coached by Bob Knight.

The cavernous structure was completed in 1971 and is an impressive sight. It has 15,200 fully-cushioned, theatre-style seats located on concourse and upper balcony levels and another 2,057 can be seated in the bleachers located on all four sides at court level. The north and south loge areas give disabled fans an opportunity to have a pristine vantage point for Hoosier games.

The building has a suspension roof made up of 4,500 concrete slabs each six feet long, three inches thick and 30 inches wide. Each slab weighs 500 pounds giving the roof a total weight of 1,350 tons or 2,700,000 pounds. The building holds more than 30,000 yards of concrete, six million pounds of reinforcing steel and almost 1.5 million pounds of structural steel.

Assembly Hall has played host to memorable moments such as Kirk Haston's game-winning three-point shot to knock off No. 1 Michigan State, 59-58, which marked the first time in Assembly Hall history that the Hoosiers upset a No. 1 team at the Hall.

Another memorable victory over Michigan State was the backdrop for the Hoosiers' 400th victory in the facility. IU defeated the Spartans, 78-74, in overtime on Feb. 27, 2005.

During the 2005 summer months, a $1.99-million scoreboard-video board was installed in Assembly Hall. The state-of-the-art scoreboard-video board includes four video screens, four video/scoring/statistics screens, one center-hung ProAd ring, five ProTable scorer's table units, four auxiliary portal scoreboards, as well as three-sided shot clocks and a new game timing system.

During the summers of 2010 and 2011, a new roof was installed on the structure. The tradition can be felt the instant you walk into Assembly Hall and if you have been there before you can hear Indiana, Our Indiana and Go IU! Fight! Fight! Fight! resonate off the walls and throughout the building long after you leave.

INDIANA BASKETBALL

SIMON SKJODT ASSEMBLY HALL

On October 14, 2016, Indiana University President Michael A. McRobbie presided over the dedication of Simon Skjodt Assembly Hall. The historic and venerable arena was renamed in honor of IU alumna Cindy Simon Skjodt, whose $40 million gift represents the largest gift in IU Athletics history. The renovation preserved the greatest home court advantage in college basketball while adding fan amenities and modern technology to the iconic venue.

COOK HALL

Thanks to a generous donation of $15 million to the "For The Glory of Old IU" campaign by the Cook Group, Indiana Basketball is able to call Cook Hall home for day-to-day operations. The late Bill Cook and his wife, Gayle, have been instrumental in a number of different projects at Indiana University and Cook Hall is no exception.

BIG TEN CONFERENCE

PREMIER ACADEMIC INSTITUTIONS

The Big Ten Academic Alliance is an academic consortium of all 14 Big Ten universities, which is widely considered to be the model for effective and voluntary collaboration among top research universities. Every Big Ten Academic Alliance institution ranks among the top 65 universities in the nation according to the 2017 Academic Ranking of World Universities, including five in the top 25.

The Big Ten leads all conferences with more than 1,800 Academic All-Americans, including 37 honorees during the 2018-19 academic year. Big Ten Academic Alliance schools annually conduct $10 billion in funded research, $5 billion more than any other conference.

A HISTORY OF ATHLETIC SUCCESS

Big Ten schools have won at least five national championships in 24 of the last 25 years including an average of seven per year over the last 13 years. Since the 2008-09 academic year, current Big Ten institutions have claimed 76 team national championships in 21 different sports.

BROAD-BASED PROGRAMMING

The Big Ten will administer over $200 million in direct financial support to more than 9,800 students competing in intercollegiate athletics for more than 11,000 participation opportunities on more than 350 teams in 42 different sports.

The Big Ten sponsors 28 official conference sports, 14 for men and 14 for women, including the addition of men's ice hockey and men's and women's lacrosse in this decade.

The Big Ten leads the nation in total students competing in intercollegiate athletics and participation opportunities, and sponsors more official sports than all conferences except the Ivy League.

Almost 1,400 Big Ten competitors have participated in the Olympics, winning more than 600 medals, including nearly 300 gold. In the 2016 and 2018 Olympic Games, more than 200 representatives from Big Ten institutions including current or former students and coaches were members of Olympic teams. Big Ten Olympians collected more than 50 medals in the most recent games in Rio and PyeongChang.

PASSIONATE FOLLOWING

The Big Ten leads all conferences with 5.7 million alumni and nearly 580,000 students. Each year more than 11 million patrons attend Big Ten home contests, as the conference has led the nation in attendance for men's basketball, ice hockey, volleyball and wrestling.

LEADERS IN INNOVATION

Took part in the nation's first bowl game, winning the 1902 Rose Bowl Game, and signed an exclusive contract with the Tournament of Roses in 1946, making it the first bowl with permanent conference affiliations. Awarded the first Big Ten Medal of Honor in 1915, honoring outstanding seniors who demonstrated excellence in academics and athletics.

Formed the Big Ten Advisory Commission in 1972, enlisting former students that competed in conference athletics to serve as liaisons to the NCAA's Diversity and Inclusion Department, the Big Ten Student-Athlete Advisory Commission and other organizations. Became the first conference to voluntarily adopt male and female participation goals after launching its Gender Equity Action Plan in 1992.

Implemented the first collegiate football system of instant replay in 2004, which the NCAA approved for use among all conferences in 2006. Launched the Big Ten Network (BTN) in 2007, the first national conference-owned television network. Began partnering with the Ivy League to study the effects of head injuries in sports in 2012.

Accepted Johns Hopkins University as the conference's first sport affiliate members in men's and women's lacrosse in 2013 and 2015, respectively, and added Notre Dame as a sport affiliate member in men's ice hockey in 2017.

EXTENSIVE TELEVISION EXPOSURE

Through the Big Ten's current media agreements with BTN, ABC/ESPN, CBS and FOX, more than 2,000 Big Ten events are produced and distributed nationally and globally on an annual basis.

BTN is in almost 60 million homes across the United States and Canada, and is also available internationally via the Fox Sports App, delivering live and on-demand programming to computers, smartphones and tablets. BTN Plus streams hundreds of additional events each season.

COMMUNITY INVOLVEMENT

For more than 30 years, through the Big Ten's SCORE (Success Comes Out of Reading Everyday) program, the conference has partnered with Chicago elementary schools to improve reading performance.

Surrounding the Big Ten Football Championship Game and Basketball Tournaments, the conference has held numerous community initiatives, partnered with the College Football Playoff Foundation and other events such as the Big Ten Career Expo, SATurDAY of Service and Youth Football Clinics. In addition, the Big Ten has hosted a downtown 5K, collaborated with a local breast cancer awareness group and provided unique event experiences for military veterans.

In 2006, he was named interim provost and vice president for academic affairs for the Australian National University in 1979 and has honorary doctorates from the University of Queensland (2007); Sung Kyun Kwan University in Korea (2008); the Australian National University (2010); the South East European University in Macedonia (2011), which IU helped found; and Griffith University in Australia (2014). He was honored by the Australian National University as Alumnus of the Year in 2015.

He was elected a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences in 2012 and is an honorary fellow of the Australian Academy of Humanities. IU's Bloomington campus.

Under President McRobbie's leadership, IU has seen:

- A major expansion in the size, quality, and diversity of its student body;
- the largest academic restructuring in its history during which ten new schools have been established;
- A reinvigoration of its global engagement that support the university's international academic and educational programs;
- The construction or renovation of more than 100 major new facilities across all campuses, including the completion of the Master Plan for IU Bloomington's central athletics campus, which consolidates all of IU's major athletic facilities into one neighborhood; and
- The launch of the largest fundraising campaign in IU's history and one of the largest ever by a public university—"For All: The Indiana University Bicentennial Campaign," which has a goal of raising $3 billion by June 2020.

McRobbie also oversaw the development of The Bicentennial Strategic Plan for Indiana University, a comprehensive set of strategic initiatives that cover all IU's campuses and are to be implemented by the Bicentennial.

McRobbie is one of the longest serving presidents of a major public university in the United States. He serves as chair of the board of directors of the Association of American Universities, founded in 1900, whose members are the 60 leading research universities in the U.S. and two in Canada. He is a member of the Big Ten Council of Presidents and Chancellors, and was its chair from 2010 to 2012. He recently chaired the executive search committee that selected Kevin Warren as the sixth commissioner of the Big Ten Conference.

McRobbie also serves as vice chair of the board of directors of the Indiana University Health system—one of the largest and most highly regarded hospital systems in the U.S.—and on the executive committee of the board of the OneAmerica insurance company, based in Indianapolis.

He served as co-chair of the National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine's Committee on the Future of Voting. He is a former chair of the Board of Trustees of Internet2, and the former chair of the board of directors of the Digital Preservation Network.

A native of Australia, McRobbie received a Ph.D. from

He has received the Bicentenary Medal of the University of Warsaw in Poland, the Prince Naradhip Bongsprabandha Plaque for services to international education from the National Institute for Development Administration in Thailand, and the International Citizen of the Year Award from the International Center for outstanding contributions to the globalization of Indiana.

ATHLETICS ADMINISTRATION

FRED GLASS - Vice President and Director of Intercollegiate Athletics

In the last decade, instability and uncertainty within the IU Athletics Department have been replaced by visionary leadership, transformative improvements, and an unprecedented commitment to its students. Indiana University President Michael A. McRobbie appointed Fred Glass Vice President and Director of Intercollegiate Athletics on January 1, 2009, after one of the most tumultuous decades in the history of IU Athletics. In the decade since, Glass has worked tirelessly to return his alma mater to its rightful place as one of the premier athletic departments in the country. His tenure has been marked by establishing clearly articulated priorities; instituting groundbreaking initiatives; dramatic improvements in fundraising, facilities, and fan experiences; and a deep commitment to the wellness, holistic development, and achievement of the students under his charge. With those priorities in place and most of the facility projects either finished or near completion, Glass has IU Athletics well-positioned for success both on and off the field. Forbes Magazine has named Indiana University one of "25 Schools That Dominate Academically and Athletically."

INITIATIVES

Glass established five priorities for the department and its students which have become the hallmark of his tenure as athletic director: 1.) playing by the rules; 2.) being well in mind, body, and spirit; 3.) achieving academically; 4.) excelling athletically; and 5.) integrating with the rest of the University and being a part of something bigger than yourself. Building on these priorities, Glass subsequently unveiled a creed that represents Indiana University Athletics' core values: The Spirit of Indiana: 24 Sports, One Team. To ensure that the department meets the promise of The Spirit of Indiana, Glass established The Excellence Academy, one of the nation's most innovative and comprehensive student personal development programs. As of last fall, the Excellence Academy is housed in the new $48 million, 66,575-square foot Excellence Academy facility that encloses the south end of Memorial Stadium.

In 2014--building on the department's priorities, Spirit of Indiana, and Excellence Academy--Glass unveiled the Indiana University Student-Athlete Bill of Rights, a first of its kind, 10-point document that sets forth the department's commitment to students who participate in intercollegiate athletics during their time at IU and beyond. Glass also established the Spirit of Indiana Showcase, an annual awards gala celebrating our students' top athletic and academic achievements as well as other talents. The Spirit of Indiana Director's Award honors the senior male and female student who, on the whole, best personify the tenets of The Spirit of Indiana: 24 Sports, One Team. A leading advocate for sexual violence prevention, Glass established intercollegiate athletics' most comprehensive Sexual Violence Disqualification Policy, which prohibits any individuals who have a documented record of sexual violence from participating in intercollegiate athletics for Indiana University.

STUDENT ACHIEVEMENT

Since Glass's arrival in 2009, 23 teams and 195 individuals have won conference championships, 45 students have been named Big Ten Player of the Year in their respective sports, 588 students have earned All-American honors (including a school record 91 in 2017-18), three students have been named Big Ten Athlete of the Year (before Glass' arrival, it had been 19 years since an IU athlete won the award), 24 coaches have been named conference coach of the year, five coaches have been named national coach of the year, and the department has produced a national team championship, as well as 28 individual national champions.

During Glass's tenure, Indiana students participating in intercollegiate athletics have also excelled in the classroom. The Graduation Success Rate for IU students participating in intercollegiate athletics during Glass's tenure has increased dramatically from 74.4% in 2011 to most recently, 91.2%, marking a seventh consecutive Indiana University record. Since 2009, 2,361 students have earned Academic All-Big Ten honors (including a record 279 in 2018-19), 554 have been named Big Ten Distinguished Scholars (including a school record 68 in 2016-17), 26 students have been named CoSIDA Academic All-Americans, and 1,224 have graduated. One hundred ten teams have had perfect single year Academic Progress Rate scores (including 14 during the 2018-19 season) and 37 teams have received NCAA APR public recognition awards. Students earned an average GPA of 3.13 during the 2018-19 academic year.

FINANCES AND FUNDRAISING

Under Glass' stewardship, Indiana Athletics has been financially self-supporting without any tuition contribution, student fee, or taxpayer money. In fact, the Athletic Department annually pays over $17 million to the University in tuition, room and board, books, and fees for scholarships, and is helping to fund the University's Global and International Studies Building and Regional Academic Health Center.

To help generate the financial resources necessary to pursue the department's priorities, Glass has cut administrative overhead and increased fundraising. He eliminated 10 senior administrative staff positions he inherited annually freeing up nearly two million dollars. Glass has secured 17 of the 18 largest gifts in department history, alone totaling $105 million. He has raised more $1 million-plus gifts than in the entire rest of the history of IU Athletics. IU Athletics has set five annual giving records during Glass's tenure.

As part of the University's Bicentennial Capital Campaign, Athletics is in the process of raising a record goal of $215 million for scholarships and capital improvements, almost three times Athletics' last capital campaign goal.

FACILITIES

Glass has led a much-needed effort to renovate and expand IU's aging athletic facilities, all without any use of tuition contribution, student fees or taxpayer money. This 10-year, one quarter of a billion dollar plus investment in facilities greatly enhances the experience and ability to compete for our students who participate in intercollegiate athletics, and will continue to do so for a generation or more. With the openings this year of the Terry Tallen Football Complex, the Pfau Course at Indiana University, the Cross Country Course, and the Armstrong Stadium renovation, Glass will have completed the University's ambitious Bicentennial Facilities Master Plan for IU Athletics.

FAN EXPERIENCE

Glass can often be found attending competitions and interacting with fans in and around the stands. As a result of his relentless focus on improving the game day football experience, football attendance in Glass' first year as athletic director (2009) increased by 32%, the third largest one year percentage increase in average attendance in the country that year and the highest IU attendance since 1992. This increase has not only been maintained, but increased, over the ensuing nine years. Also focusing on preserving and improving the game atmosphere in Simon-Skjoldt Assembly Hall, IU has finished in the top ten nationally in attendance for men's basketball in each of the last eight years and boasts the nation's largest student section. In women's basketball, IU has more than doubled its average home attendance during Glass' tenure, highlighted by a school-record average of 4,102 during the 2017-18 WNIT Championship season, and a school-record average of 3,920 during regular season games in 2018-19. Indiana's 153% increase in average attendance at women's basketball over the last 11 years is easily the best in the Big Ten, more than double its closest competitor.

BACKGROUND

Glass is a double graduate of Indiana University and had been a well-known Indianapolis lawyer and civic leader before being named a vice president and the director of intercollegiate athletics at his alma mater. Born in Indianapolis, Glass earned bachelor's (Bloomington) and law (Indianapolis) degrees from IU in 1981 and 1984, respectively.

Glass played a central role in several major sports-related initiatives in Indianapolis, including negotiating the 30-year agreement to keep the Colts in Indianapolis, developing Lucas Oil Stadium and an expanded Indiana Convention Center, and helping to negotiate the arrangement to regularly bring Final Fours and other major NCAA events to the city. Formerly a partner in the law firm of Baker & Daniels, Glass served as chairman of the firm's management committee. He was appointed by Indianapolis Mayor Bart Peterson to the Capital Improvement Board and was elected its president. Glass also has served as Chief of Staff to then Governor Evan Bayh, Chairman of Mayor Peterson's transition team, and in a number of other civic, legal, and sports related positions. Glass also served as president of the City of Indianapolis' 2011 Super Bowl Bid Committee, which although not successful for that year, has been credited with successfully laying the groundwork for the city's successful bid for 2012.

Upon his appointment of Glass, Indiana University President Michael McRobbie said, "In all of these major undertakings, Fred demonstrated a remarkable talent for leadership, for mastering the details of big challenges, for diplomacy, and for consensus building. He has a well-earned reputation as someone who can get the big things done. He is exactly the person we need to take on the challenges our Athletics Department will encounter in the next decade." Tony Dungy added: "I worked very closely with Fred on the Super Bowl effort, and I was very impressed with his vision, leadership and judgment. Indiana University has made an outstanding choice."

FAMILY

Glass and his wife, Barbara, who Fred met at an IU football game and graduated from IU in 1980, have four children and four grandchildren. They are: Katie Askey, a 2008 IU Kelley School graduate and her husband Tom Askey, also a 2008 Kelley School graduate, and their daughters Betsy, Ellie and Anna Rose; Joe, (Marquette University '10) a 2014 graduate of the Indiana University McKinney School of Law and his wife Emily (MacGill), a 2010 IU graduate and their daughter Lucy; Connor, a 2014 IU School of Journalism graduate; and George, a 2017 Kelley School graduate. Fred, Barbara, Katie, Tom, Joe, Emily, Connor, and George are all life members of the IU Alumni Association.

ENGAGEMENT

Glass and his wife Barbara made a major gift in support of the Excellence Academy to the Bicentennial Capital Campaign which established the Glass Family Student-Athlete Leadership Suite. The gift also named a men's basketball locker in honor of lifelong Glass family friend and IU alumnus Bob Clifford who passed away on May 11, 2016. A portion of the gift also goes to support scholarships for students who participate in intercollegiate athletics.

This past spring, Glass once again had his head shaved to stand in solidarity with kids fighting cancer at a St. Baldrick's event in Indianapolis, marking the third time Glass has participated in the event. As a result of his efforts, he has helped raise nearly $50,000 for the cause. In May 2012, Glass received the Distinguished Alumni Award from IU's Robert H. McKinney School of Law. In April 2010, Glass was presented the Trevor R. Brown Award by the students of the Indiana Daily Student and the Arbutus for his contributions to the experiences of student journalists. Glass has also received the Brebeuf Jesuit President's Medal in 2007; The St. Thomas More Society Man for All Seasons Award in 2006; the 2006 Spirit of Service Community Service Award from the Archdiocese of Indianapolis; the 2005 Charles L. Whistler Award from The Greater Indianapolis Progress Committee; the 2004 Fred McCashland Outstanding Alumnus Award (Brebeuf Jesuit Preparatory School); and the National Catholic Education Association Distinguished Graduate Award (St. Thomas Aquinas School in Indianapolis) in 2003.

TELEVISION COVERAGE

Over the last few years, the Big Ten has reached a series of milestone media agreements to provide the conference with its greatest television exposure ever. In the summer of 2017, the conference agreed to a new media rights deal that will provide the most robust men's basketball over-the-air network package ever, with as many as 20 games appearing on FOX and CBS.

Between football and men's basketball, the Big Ten will have events on three of four legacy networks (ABC, CBS and FOX). Additionally, FOX Sports and ESPN have also committed to help promote the conference with co-branded logos on broadcasts on the ABC/ESPN networks and the FOX Sports family of networks.

CBS

CBS returns as men's basketball network television partner to extend relationship that began in 1994.

CBS will continue to have at least 10 regular season men's basketball games, and the semifinals and championship game of the men's basketball tournament, which have been broadcast on the network since the event's inception in 1998. The network will feature Big Ten contests in regular Sunday afternoon windows and share priority selections for regular season contests with ESPN and FOX.

ESPN

The new agreements build on the conference's longest television partnership that began in 1979 with ESPN and 1966 with ABC. ESPN and ABC will share priority selections on both football (with FOX) and men's basketball (with CBS and FOX).

ESPN will feature 38 men's basketball games annually and will continue to feature women's basketball and a robust package of 30 Olympic sports events annually. All intra-conference football and the vast majority of intra-conference men's basketball games will appear on ABC, ESPN or ESPN2.

BIG TEN NETWORK

In June 2007, the Big Ten announced that the Big Ten Network would become the first national network to commit to "event equality" for men's and women's sports on all network-controlled media within the first three years of launch. This dedication to "event equality" highlights the Big Ten's ongoing dedication to gender equity, which is aligned with the commitment of conference institutions to provide fairness for all female student-athletes.

The network is led by President Mark Silverman, a former Disney executive who came to the network after serving as the general manager and senior vice president of ABC Cable Networks Group since April of 2004, managing the company's equity in such channels as Lifetime Television, A&E Network and the History Channel, each of which recorded their best financial performance in 2005. Silverman was also responsible for developing and launching new cable channels, shows and other key initiatives.

The new agreement signed in 2017 extended the joint venture with FOX Sports through 2032. The programming on the Big Ten Network (linear and digital platforms) includes over 1,600 events per year and will expand its coverage of the men's basketball tournament to 10 games.

Located in the historic Montgomery Ward building in Chicago, the Big Ten Network is the first national television network to call the largest city in the Midwest its home. The original section of the building was designated as a historic landmark in 2000 for its significant role in American retail history. The space includes two studios and three control rooms as well as a 20,000 square-foot office space.

In addition to airing more coverage of Big Ten sports than ever before, the Big Ten Network also provides numerous benefits to communities around the Big Ten. Those include increased exposure for women's sports, providing positive role models for girls; a greater economic impact to the communities from added sporting event production, with the potential to generate higher attendance; and greater national exposure for the excellence that surrounds the academic endeavors of Big Ten universities, some of the most highly regarded in the nation. Also, an internship program at each of the 14 universities will offer students training for careers in sports, television and entertainment.

The Big Ten Network is a joint venture between subsidiaries of the Big Ten Conference and Fox Cable Networks. For more information regarding the Big Ten Network, visit www.BigTenNetwork.com.

FOX SPORTS

The agreement in 2017 ushered in a new phase in the conference's relationship with FOX Sports, which began 10 years ago with the joint venture to establish BTN and was enhanced six years ago with the establishment of our Football Championship Game.

Starting 2017, FOX Sports will televise 24-27 regular season football games and will continue to broadcast the Football Championship Game.

As it relates to men's basketball, the network will cover 39-47 men's basketball games and share priority selections on men's basketball (with ESPN/ABC and CBS).

COMPLIANCE

Indiana University is extremely proud of the performance of its athletics teams both in competition and in the classroom. While our student-athletes are extremely talented, they would not reach their full potential without the encouragement and support that Hoosier fans bring to every event. We thank you for your consistent display of commitment and support for our IU student-athletes, coaches, and staff.

As a member institution of the NCAA, Indiana University is responsible for exercising institutional control over its intercollegiate athletics programs. Our efforts to exercise institutional control include educating boosters and fans of NCAA rules and regulations. Below you will find important definitions and information regarding restrictions that are in place for both boosters and fans. Our goal in providing this information is to protect the eligibility of both prospective and enrolled student-athletes.

A booster is defined as any individual or organization who:

- Attended Indiana University;
- Works at Indiana University;
- Donates Money to Indiana University;
- Purchases Indiana University athletics tickets; or
- Is a fan of Indiana University.

Please note that booster status, once triggered, remains with an individual or organization indefinitely. NCAA legislation prohibits boosters from engaging in certain activities related to both prospective and enrolled student-athletes. Boosters are prohibited from engaging in the following activities:

- Boosters may not contact prospective student-athletes, their relatives, legal guardians, teachers, or coaches for the purpose of recruitment. This includes but is not limited to: oWritten communication (including emails), telephone calls, and interaction via all social media outlets (e.g. Facebook, Twitter, Instagram).
- Boosters may not make special arrangements or provide any benefits to prospective or enrolled student-athletes, their family or friends.

If there is a prospective student-athlete that you would like to see wearing the cream and crimson in the future, please recommend that particular individual to the Indiana University Department of Athletics. In addition to the above restrictions placed on boosters, all fans should be aware of the additional restrictions related to extra benefits and publicizing recruitment.

An extra benefit is defined as a benefit provided to enrolled student-athletes, their family or friends that is based on their status as a student-athlete. Examples of extra benefits include, but are not limited to, transportation, lodging, meals, gifts, co-signing loans, etc. Providing an extra benefit to an enrolled student-athlete will always jeopardize his or her eligibility, and could possibly result in withholding from competition and repayment of the benefit. Further, all individuals, boosters and fans alike, must refrain from using a student-athlete's name, image, or likeness to promote a business, product or service.

Finally, NCAA rules prohibit any member of the IU athletics staff from commenting publicly about any prospective student-athlete being recruited by our institution, other than to confirm the prospect's recruitment. IU is prohibited from publicizing recruiting visits made to our campus by prospects, or otherwise making those prospects available for interviews or media comments while they are meeting with our coaches and touring campus. Only after a prospective student-athlete makes an official commitment to IU by signing a National Letter of Intent (NLI) or an offer of athletics aid, may the university comment publicly on the recruitment. Publicity includes verbal comments, social media posts, or any other form of public comment.

The Indiana University Department of Athletics would like to thank you for supporting our student-athletes. Much of our success is due to you, our friends and fans. If you have any questions about these or other NCAA rules, please contact a member of our compliance staff (iucomply@indiana.edu) or visit our website at: www.iuhoosiers.com/compliance. Thank you for helping Indiana University play by the rules!

IU RADIO NETWORK

Indiana University's basketball program receives some of the most extensive media coverage in the country. On Dec. 31, 2018, Learfield Communications entered yet a new phase as it was announced that the proposed merger of Learfield and IMG College was completed. The new company – now operating as Learfield IMG College – reflects the strengths of both companies which respectively shared deep roots in the collegiate athletics landscape.

DON FISCHER

This marks the 74th year that Don Fischer has been the radio play-by-play "voice" of Indiana University football and men's basketball games. He shares the second-longest football radio tenure in the nation. The past 33 years, Fischer has worked as an independent contractor and is currently serving the Indiana University Radio Network owned by Learfield IMG College out of Plano, Texas.

In addition to broadcasting the games, Fischer hosts the weekly coaches radio talk shows for both the football and men's basketball programs. Fischer also offers stations a weekly talk show about IU football and basketball that airs in several markets around the state during the school year.

Fischer does freelance sportscasting, which included handling for 23 years the pre-season television play-by-play for the NFL's Indianapolis Colts (1995-2017).

During his 46 years with IU, Fischer has been named Indiana Sportscaster of the Year 30 times by two different organizations. The National Sportscasters and Sportswriters Association has awarded him 26 times, while the Indiana Sportswriters and Sportscasters Association has named him its honoree four times.

He received the inaugural Woody Durham College Voice Award from the National Sports Media Association, the University of North Carolina and Learfield Sports in June of 2018.

In October of 2010, Fischer was one of eight inductees into the Indiana Broadcast Pioneers Richard M. Fairbanks Hall of Fame. The Indiana Sportswriters and Sportscasters Association (ISSA) inducted Fischer into the ISSA Hall of Fame in 2004.

He has won several awards for best play-by-play performance, and he has been honored by Indiana University with the J.W. Bill Orwig Medal, that goes to non-alumni for distinguished service to the University.

Fischer also has been named an Honorary "I" Man. In addition, the City of Indianapolis, and the State of Indiana have each honored Fischer with a special "Recognition Day" for his service and abilities as the play-by-play broadcaster for IU.

He has broadcast over 1,900 Indiana University games - a total that includes 10 bowl games, four NCAA basketball championship games and two N.I.T. championship games.

From 1973 through 1987, he worked for ABC Radio, Canada's CBC and several additional major market radio stations, including WIRE in Indianapolis, as their source for reports during the month of May coverage of the Indianapolis 500. During that period, Fischer also served WIRE and Network Indiana, a statewide news network, as their sports director.

A native of Rochelle, Ill., Fischer has been in the radio business for 53 years. His previous broadcast experience includes stops in Butte, Mont.; Ottawa, Ill.; Springfield, Ill.; and Terre Haute, Ind.

Fischer has four sons and 12 grandchildren. Don and his wife, Susy, reside in Greenwood, Ind.
