Disclosure Report

Date Submitted: September 25th, 2025

Disclosure Materials

Certified B Corporations must complete a Disclosure Questionnaire to identify potentially sensitive issues related to the company (e.g. historical fines, sanctions, material litigation, or sensitive industry practices).

This component does not affect the company's score on the B Impact Assessment. If the company answers affirmatively to any items in the Disclosure Questionnaire that B Lab deems relevant for public stakeholders, then, as a condition of their certification, the company must:

- 1) Be transparent about details of the disclosure issues identified on the company's public B Impact Report
- 2) Describe how the company has addressed this issue
- 3) Demonstrate that management practices are in place to avoid similar issues from arising in the future, when necessary.

In all cases, the Standards Advisory council reserves the right to refuse certification if the company is ultimately deemed not to uphold the spirit and integrity of the community.

In addition to the voluntary indication of sensitive issues in the Disclosure Questionnaire, companies pursuing Certification also are subject to a background check by B Lab staff. Background checks include a review of public records, news sources, and search engines for company names, brands, executives/founders, and other relevant topics.

Sensitive issues identified through background checks may or may not be within the scope of questions in the Disclosure Questionnaire, but undergo the same review process and are subject to the same possible review by the Standards Advisory Council, including ineligibility for B Corp Certification, required remediation, or disclosure.

B Lab's Public Complaints Process

Any party may submit a complaint about a current B Corp through B Lab's Public Complaint Process. Grounds for complaint include:

- 1) Intentional misrepresentation of practices, policies, and/or claimed outcomes during the company's certification process
- 2) Breaches of the B Corp Community's core values as expressed in our Declaration of Interdependence

This document contains a copy of the company's completed Disclosure Questionnaire and related disclosure documentation provided by the company.

Disclosure Questionnaire Statement

Disclosure Questionnaire Category: Operations located in Conflict Zones

Topic	Company has suppliers located in Conflict Zones
Summary of Issue	As an agricultural company, GoodSAM has tier 1 suppliers, farmers who are located in Burkina Faso. The country is currently experiencing high levels of violence due to non-state armed groups and military operations, causing mass displacement and a humanitarian crisis, according to the Global Conflict Tracker. This directly impacts the safety and stability of farming communities that produce mangoes imported by GoodSAM. GoodSAM also has tier 1 suppliers in the Juárez region, the northern border of Mexico, where there is high levels of violence linked to organized crime and cartels based on the Global Conflict Tracker, directly affecting pecan-producing communities that supply to the company.
Size/Scope of Issue (e.g. $ financial implication, # of individuals affected)	8.89% of the company's purchases come from suppliers that are located in regions at high risk of armed conflict.
Impact on Stakeholders	Business activities located in conflict zones are considered high-risk as they are more likely to cause or contribute to the conflict and/or sociopolitical instability. Countries classified as conflict zones are more likely to have a weak rule of law or a corrupt judicial system, which could undermine the effectiveness of operational grievance mechanisms for these businesses and their suppliers. In addition, the safety of the company's workers and other potential human rights violations are at risk.
Implemented Management Practices	100% of the company's purchases from the conflict zone are certified by some kind of third-party organization such as Rainforest Alliance, Organic EU /USDA NOP, Fairtrade, USDA Organic, and ISO 14001. While GoodSAM does not hold a third-party certification itself, most of its farmers and associations do hold certifications. GoodSAM continues to pay the Fair Trade/Fair for Life premiums to their farmer suppliers.

	GoodSAM's approach to engaging with farming communities and associations follows a structured process that includes the following steps: • Identification of farmer associations that meet specific attributes: strong community organization, willingness to implement organic and regenerative practices, ability to scale production, and openness to execute social and environmental impact projects. • Joint definition of prices and purchasing frequency, based on market projections and long-term sustainability of the commercial relationship. • Initial field visit to evaluate the territory, the community, governance dynamics, and levels of transparency. • Product testing to verify quality and formally initiate the commercial relationship. In addition, GoodSAM applies strict due diligence and control policies: • Supplier selection criteria: minimum socio-environmental requirements (no deforestation, no child labor, no links to illicit activities). • Anti-corruption and transparency mechanisms: clear contracts, direct payments to associations, internal audits, and digital • Audits and field visits: periodic evaluations to ensure compliance with sustainable and regenerative practices. • Third-party certifications are required where viable. • Capacity building and technical support: training in regenerative agriculture, human rights, business management, and market access. • Community programs: initiatives focused on water access, environmental education, economic resilience, and transition to organic and regenerative practices.

Management Comments	GoodSAM believes that sourcing in conflict-affected regions, while high-risk, is an essential part of its mission to support vulnerable farming communities, protect ecosystems, and build resilient supply chains.
