Disclosure Report

Date Submitted: August 20th, 2024

Disclosure Materials

Certified B Corporations must complete a Disclosure Questionnaire to identify potentially sensitive issues related to the company (e.g. historical fines, sanctions, material litigation, or sensitive industry practices).

This component does not affect the company's score on the B Impact Assessment. If the company answers affirmatively to any items in the Disclosure Questionnaire that B Lab deems relevant for public stakeholders, then, as a condition of their certification, the company must:

- 1) Be transparent about details of the disclosure issues identified on the company's public B Impact Report
- 2) Describe how the company has addressed this issue
- 3) Demonstrate that management practices are in place to avoid similar issues from arising in the future, when necessary.

In all cases, the Standards Advisory council reserves the right to refuse certification if the company is ultimately deemed not to uphold the spirit and integrity of the community.

In addition to the voluntary indication of sensitive issues in the Disclosure Questionnaire, companies pursuing Certification also are subject to a background check by B Lab staff. Background checks include a review of public records, news sources, and search engines for company names, brands, executives/founders, and other relevant topics.

Sensitive issues identified through background checks may or may not be within the scope of questions in the Disclosure Questionnaire, but undergo the same review process and are subject to the same possible review by the Standards Advisory Council, including ineligibility for B Corp Certification, required remediation, or disclosure.

Disclosure Questionnaire Statement

Disclosure Questionnaire Category: Other - Clients in Controversial Industries

Topic	Clients in Controversial Industries
Summary of Issue	Etch is a digital consultancy company based in the UK that has provided website design and software development services to companies operating in the Offensive Firearms/Weapons industry over the last 5 years. Services offered to this industry can be sold to both clients in controversial as well as non-controversial industries. Etch has made a formal commitment to end work with clients in the Offensive Weapons/Firearms industry within the next 12 months.
Size/Scope of Issue (e.g. $ financial implication, # of individuals affected)	Clients operating in the Offensive Firearms/Weapons industry represented 2.40% of the company's FY2023 revenue.
Impact on Stakeholders	Companies that work with clients in controversial industries can indirectly increase the harmful impact to stakeholders by enabling business growth. Therefore, companies that work with clients in these industries should have practices in place to ensure that their impact is aimed at decreasing the negative impacts of the industry. B Lab has flagged the involvement of companies with clients in controversial industries as a material issue and new standards will be created to address possible risks related to this matter.
Implemented Management Practices	Etch UK Limited does not have a position on working with clients in controversial industries, but has committed to no longer work with clients involved in the Offensive Firearms/Weapons industry. In addition, the company has an Ethical Engagement Policy outlining a case-by-case evaluation process for working with clients from controversial industries, emphasizing alignment with the company's mission of promoting human betterment. It involves a Project Review Committee that assesses projects based on their ethical, legal, and societal impacts, with the Executive Team making the final decision. The policy mandates transparency and compliance with laws, and it is subject to periodic reviews and amendments to ensure it aligns with evolving standards and values.
