Disclosure Materials

Certified B Corporations must complete a Disclosure Questionnaire to identify potentially sensitive issues related to the company (e.g. historical fines, sanctions, material litigation, or sensitive industry practices).

This component does not affect the company's score on the B Impact Assessment. If the company answers affirmatively to any items in the Disclosure Questionnaire that B Lab deems relevant for public stakeholders, then, as a condition of their certification, the company must:

- Be transparent about details of the disclosure issues identified on the company's public B Impact Report
- 2) Describe how the company has addressed this issue
- 3) Demonstrate that management practices are in place to avoid similar issues from arising in the future, when necessary.

In all cases, the Standards Advisory council reserves the right to refuse certification if the company is ultimately deemed not to uphold the spirit and integrity of the community.

In addition to the voluntary indication of sensitive issues in the Disclosure Questionnaire, companies pursuing Certification also are subject to a background check by B Lab staff. Background checks include a review of public records, news sources, and search engines for company names, brands, executives/founders, and other relevant topics.

Sensitive issues identified through background checks may or may not be within the scope of questions in the Disclosure Questionnaire, but undergo the same review process and are subject to the same possible review by the Standards Advisory Council, including ineligibility for B Corp Certification, required remediation, or disclosure.

Size/Scope of Issue (e.g. $ financial implication, # of individuals affected)	In the last fiscal year, 6% of the company's annual revenue was from clients in the Mining industry.
Impact on Stakeholder(s)	Companies that work with clients in controversial industries can directly or indirectly increase the harmful impact to stakeholders by enabling business growth. Therefore, companies that work with clients in these industries should have practices in place to ensure that their impact is aimed at decreasing the negative impacts of the industry. Companies offering certain types of services and products to controversial clients are required to have at minimum a grievance/complaints mechanism and a whistleblower protection policy.
Implemented Management Practices	Buzz Interactive Solutions Ltd has the following mechanisms in place to manage the risks associated with serving clients in the controversial industries: Grievance/complaints mechanism . This is accessible to the public through a grievance/complaint channel available on the company's website, "contact us" section. Once a grievance is submitted, the company acknowledges its receipt within 48 hours. The company will arrange a grievance meeting within one week of receiving the written grievance, to discuss. The complainant has the right to be accompanied by a colleague or a trade union representative. After the meeting, within one week, the complainant will be informed of the outcome and any next steps. If the complainant is dissatisfied with the resolution, there is a possibility of raising an appeal. The complainant will be invited to an appeal meeting, normally within 5 working days, with one of the company's Directors whose decision is final.

Whistleblower Protection Policy. The aim of this Policy is to encourage and enable employees or other stakeholders to raise or report serious concerns within Buzz Interactive rather than ignoring a problem or blowing the whistle outside of the company. Buzz Interactive is committed to:

- Seriously considering any raised concerns;
- Making sure that the complainant is not penalized unfairly for raising concerns, even if they turn out to mistaken;
- Where necessary, provide appropriate support and protection (including, for example, consideration of a move to a different work area, where necessary). Reports made under the policy must be made in good faith. If a false complaint or one made in bad faith (e.g. out of spite or for personal gain) is submitted, action will normally be taken against the individual under Buzz Interactive's Disciplinary Policy.

Buzz is committed to maintaining a workplace where individuals feel safe to report concerns without fear of retaliation. The company strictly prohibits any form of retaliation whether direct or indirect, against any employee, contractor, or stakeholder who, in good faith, has raised concerns about misconduct, unethical behavior, or violations of company policies. Any individual who believes they have experienced retaliation should report it immediately through the designated channels, and their complaint will be handled with urgency and confidentiality. Any employee found to have engaged in retaliatory actions, such as harassment, intimidation, or discrimination will be subject to disciplinary action, which may include termination of employment.

To ensure the safety and confidentiality of whistleblowers, the company has established the following protection measures:

- Confidential Reporting Channels;
- Independent Investigation Process;
- Non-Retaliation Assurance;
- Ongoing Monitoring & Training: regular 1:1s and open communication with employees to reinforce the whistleblowing policies and commitment to ethical business practices.
