Disclosure Materials

Certified B Corporations must complete a Disclosure Questionnaire to identify potentially sensitive issues related to the company (e.g. historical fines, sanctions, material litigation, or sensitive industry practices).

This component does not affect the company's score on the B Impact Assessment. If the company answers affirmatively to any items in the Disclosure Questionnaire that B Lab deems relevant for public stakeholders, then, as a condition of their certification, the company must:

- Be transparent about details of the disclosure issues identified on the company's public B Impact Report
- 2) Describe how the company has addressed this issue
- 3) Demonstrate that management practices are in place to avoid similar issues from arising in the future, when necessary.

In all cases, the Standards Advisory council reserves the right to refuse certification if the company is ultimately deemed not to uphold the spirit and integrity of the community.

In addition to the voluntary indication of sensitive issues in the Disclosure Questionnaire, companies pursuing Certification also are subject to a background check by B Lab staff. Background checks include a review of public records, news sources, and search engines for company names, brands, executives/founders, and other relevant topics.

Sensitive issues identified through background checks may or may not be within the scope of questions in the Disclosure Questionnaire, but undergo the same review process and are subject to the same possible review by the Standards Advisory Council, including ineligibility for B Corp Certification, required remediation, or disclosure.

Rodda's is involved in the production/sale of products, or is part of an industry that can potentially be classified as water intensive, meaning that they are more likely to have significant impacts on the environment, such as water stress or depletion of local water sources if water use is not appropriately managed. Disclosure Questionnaire Statement

Disclosure Questionnaire Category: Other - Clients in Controversial Industries

Topic	Clients in Controversial Industries
Summary of Issue	Treefort LLC is a musical festival organizer.
	The company has had sponsors from the Alcohol, Bottled Water and Recreational Marijuana Industries which are deemed controversial by B Lab.
	Treefort accepts sponsorship from many different industry partners to advertise/sponsor in its music festival. The company allows the sponsors to display marketing materials both on-site and on its digital platforms.
Size/Scope of Issue (e.g. $ financial implication, # of individuals affected)	In the fiscal year of 2024, the company had earned 2% of total revenue from clients in the alcohol industry, 0.40% from clients in the bottled water industry and 0.5% from clients in the recreational marijuana industry.
Impact on Stakeholders	Companies that work with clients in controversial industries can indirectly increase the harmful impact on stakeholders of those businesses by enabling their business growth. Therefore, companies that work with clients in these industries should have practices in place to ensure that their impact is aimed at decreasing the negative impacts of the industry.
	Currently, B Lab does not have specific requirements for companies with clients in this/these industries. However, Certified B Corps are required to make transparent their involvement with such clients. As B Lab continues to evolve its standards and due diligence approach for companies with Clients in Controversial Industries, the updated criteria will be shared with the company once they are finalized.
	B Lab recognizes that the company began its verification process prior to B Lab developing standards for Clients in Controversial Industries, and, therefore, the company will be required to meet the new standards by their next recertification. Additionally, as of the date of this disclosure, the company has committed to not working with any new companies or projects involved in the controversial industries in question.

Implemented Management Practices

Treefort currently does not have a formal position on working with sensitive industries or a policy to move away from them.

They company does engage in an active industry research and has active communications with representatives of the sponsors to ensure their values and ethics align with the company's. If there is a negative experience during any one annual festival, Treefort would not engage with them on future music festivals.

While recreational marijuana is still illegal in the state of Idaho (where the music festival takes place), the sponsor in question is located 50 miles from Treefort's base of operations, within the borders of Oregon where marijuana use or possession of recreational marijuana by anyone above 21 years of age is legal.

Treefort allows the sponsors from recreational marijuana industry to advertise as a sponsor, but does not allow any of their products to be on site. The company engages with the local police and other private security firms to ensure the music festival takes place in full compliance of local laws and regulations. Treefort has a zero tolerance policy and if sponsors ever engaged in untoward or illegal behavior, they would be promptly fired as a sponsor.

The company clearly states that no illegal products are allowed to be brought to any of its sites, or otherwise directly advertised in marketing materials. The marketing on the part of the recreational marijuana company is about their brand, and convincing festival-goers to engage legally and safely within Oregon, not Idaho.
