

DISCLOSURE MATERIALS

Certified B Corporations must complete a Disclosure Questionnaire to identify potentially sensitive issues related to the company (e.g. historical fines, sanctions, material litigation, or sensitive industry practices).

This component does not affect the company's score on the B Impact Assessment. If the company answers affirmatively to any items in the Disclosure Questionnaire and B Lab deems them to be material, the company must:

- 1) Be transparent about the disclosure issues identified on the company's public B Impact Report
- 2) Describe how the company has addressed this issue.
- 3) Demonstrate that management systems are in place to avoid similar issues from arising in the future.

In all cases, the Standards Advisory council reserves the right to refuse certification if the company is ultimately deemed not to uphold the spirit of the community.

In addition to the voluntary indication of sensitive issues in the Disclosure Questionnaire, companies pursuing Certification also are subject to background checks by B Lab staff. Background checks include a review of public records, news sources, and search engines for company names, brands, executives/founders, and other relevant topics.

Sensitive issues identified through background checks may or may not be within the scope of questions in the Disclosure Questionnaire, but undergo the same review process and are subject to the same possible review by the Standards Advisory Council, including ineligibility for B Corp Certification, required remediation, or disclosure.

This document contains a copy of the company's completed Disclosure Questionnaire and related disclosure documentation provided by the company.

DISCLOSURE QUESTIONNAIRE CATEGORY	Environmentally Intensive Industry
ISSUE DATE	Ongoing
TOPIC	Monoculture and Biodiversity
SUMMARY OF ISSUE	Company is an avocado producer operating in Colombia.
SIZE/SCOPE OF ISSUE (e.g. $ financial implication, # of individuals affected)	Company has 6,500 hectares of land, 70% is arable land and the remaining 30% is occupied with forests, water sources, and facilities. Avocado plants last for twenty years once planted. The replacement rate during that period is at 5%.
IMPACT ON STAKEHOLDERS	Monoculture and the use of chemical fertilisers can have negative impacts on soil health and surrounding flora and fauna, as well as impacting nearby community water resources.
IMPLEMENTED MGT PRACTICES	The company uses chemical fertilisers and carries out soil analysis to survey the quality of the soil and assesses for lack of nutrients and soil erosion, to prevent damage to the soil microbiota from the chemical fertilisers.
	A nutrition plan is developed by the nutritional technical assistance team, taking into account the following conditions: type of soil, location of the property, rainfall, and elevation. The company uses an agricultural technique to minimize the degradation of the cultivated land, in some productive units, corn has been planted to prepare the land prior to sowing, organic matter and amendments are made to improve the physical properties of the soil.
	The company is in the process of creating biodiversity targets and has an integrated management policy that establishes the commitment from the company's management on the protection, conservation and preservation of biodiversity.
	The company carried out a study with the EAFIT university, taking as a starting point 4 of the productive units: Sinaí, Playa Rica, Pradera and La Teresita on biodiversity management (Inventory, monitoring and follow-up). Each of the farms have reserve areas as natural habitat and protection and preservation areas. The aforementioned areas vary in forest area, species of fauna and flora according to each productive unit.
	During the environmental process for 2021, the survey of the matrix of aspects and impacts for the biotic component is being carried out which will measure whether the development of the Hass avocado crop has a negative or positive impact on biodiversity.

TOPIC	Water Intensive Industry
SUMMARY OF ISSUE	Company is an avocado producer operating in Colombia which has been recognised as a water intensive industry.
SIZE/SCOPE OF ISSUE (e.g. $ financial implication, # of individuals affected)	For the packing house, the company sources water from the Aguas y Aguas de Pereira municipal aqueduct, granted by the Industry and Commerce body.
	For the farms, the water is supplied by the village aqueduct, which is governed by an agreement with the community and the community aqueduct association, which grants a flow for domestic use.
	For the irrigation system, a water concession is processed before the regional environmental authority.
	The company states that they are not located in a region with water stress. The company are still in data collection to determine the intensity of water, which is intended to be estimated in liters and cubic meters. The company plans to start with the environmental footprint in September, which contains the component of the water footprint, which ends next year, that is, 2022.
IMPACT ON STAKEHOLDERS	Water intensive industry can have a negative impact on natural resources affecting both water quality and quantity.
IMPLEMENTED MGT PRACTICES	The company is in the process of implementing water meters, which measure the flow consumed. Their water use is also monitored by regional autonomous corporations as competent authorities in the area.
	The company has not set any measurable targets for water reduction as measurement is just being implemented.
	The company does not benchmark with other companies in the industry in terms of water use and management. The company already created these goals and it is expected that they can be evidenced in January 2022.
