Certified B Corp

We became a BCorp because we feel strongly about social and environmental issues. Our commitment to the BCorp process shows a wider intent to help people and the planet.

We resolved a few years ago to change the business for good – not that it was particularly bad beforehand. The discipline of the BCorp process forced us to ask questions that we hadn't previously and become much more diligent about monitoring evidence about our impact.

As part of this, we made a commitment that each year we will donate at least 5% of our annual revenue to charity through cash donations, books and online products plus increase our pro bono work.

Charities we have supported over the last couple of years include:

The Concise Advice Books

The Concise Advice series was invented by Kevin Duncan and his publisher. It now contains over 40 books, 12 of them written by Kevin, Sarah and Rosie.

Unlike most business books that are too long and padded out with too much material, these books take the full wisdom of wide-ranging business reading and reduces concepts down to their pithy minimum, typically on one spread.

On average each book or topic is the result of over 25 other books, researched, summarized, condensed, and re-purposed to generate templates and techniques ready for immediate action and application.

Deep wisdom, judiciously applied, means that the books, topics, templates and customized material are a fertile resource for any business.

This allows the time-pressed executive to grasp ideas at speed and put them into practice straightaway.

The handy pocketbook format is ideal for training, note-taking and idea generation on the go.

With their highly visual format and minimal copy, the books have a wide international appeal and have been translated into over 20 languages.

Sales to date are around the 250,000 mark.

Ten years on, many of the Concise Advice series titles are now available in paperback.

3.2 THE BRIEFING STAR

I often make new ideas that the objective or goal is clear before the project begins.

The brief star is a simple diagram that can be used to plan and manage a project. It is a star shape with five points. Each point represents a different aspect of the project: the goal, the plan, the resources, the risks, and the timeline. The star is used to ensure that all aspects of the project are considered and that the project is managed effectively.

The Smart Performance Interactive Workshop

To our knowledge, there is no other workshop like this in the world.

We can take up to 20 attendees in each session. This could be a specific group such as a leadership team, or we can work through an entire company.

First, everyone takes the test.

Whilst Kevin works through initial helpful material, Sarah collates all the responses. Within 30 minutes, we present the full picture to the room – an overview of all the skills present.

We explain their typologies on the spot, discuss team dynamics, and immediately provide the training themes that are most relevant to the people in the room.

So for example if a high proportion of attendees require training on creativity, we deliver it immediately. Equally, we can work through material on attitude, action, communication, efficiency, empathy, strategy, or sustainability.

This format provides on-the-spot help for those needing to develop their skills.

THE PLANET SYSTEM® ESG Improvement Framework From The Sustainable Business Book

ESTABLISH A CARBON REDUCTION PROGRAMME RELATING TO SCOPE 1+2 EMISSIONS

Source: The Sustainable Business Book

To recap, The GHG (greenhouse gas) Protocol Corporate Standard classifies a company's GHG emissions into three 'scopes'. The first two are:

Scope 1: Direct emissions from owned or controlled sources (e.g. gas for heating and/or cooking, and fuel used in company-owned vehicles).

Scope 2: Indirect emissions from the generation of purchased energy (e.g. purchased electricity).

Once you have measured your recent Scope 1 + 2 emissions, you can create a plan to reduce these. This would firstly include switching to a renewable energy supplier. Then general energy efficiency such as reviewing your lighting, heating and air-conditioning. Plus switching to electric company vehicles were possible.

THE PLANET SYSTEM® ESG Improvement Framework From The Sustainable Business Book

CREATE A CUSTOMER SURVEY TO ESTABLISH THEIR CONCERNS REGARDING ENVIRONMENTAL AND SOCIETAL ISSUES

Source: The Sustainable Business Book

If you are an owner manager who has started a business built around on strong sustainable ethics and/or a moral crusade, you have probably grown your customer base because they buy into and share your beliefs.

If, however, you are at the stage of reviewing your company's sustainability journey, you will need to consider what's important to your customers. An ESG survey can help you understand your customers better and work out how best to adapt.

A customer survey may include questions such as:

- What does the term 'sustainability' mean to you?
- On a scale of 1 – 10, how concerned are you about environmental issues?
- On a scale of 1 – 10, how concerned are you about social and societal issues?
- What specific environmental or social issues do you care deeply about?
- On a scale of 1 – 10, how much do you consider environmental product claims when shopping? (0=low, not bothered / 10=high, I try to only buy ethical products)
- What brands do you consider to be particularly environmentally or ethically responsible?
- Would you boycott a brand if you considered it to be harmful to the environment or unethical (i.e. poor working conditions, slave labour, tax avoidance, etc)?
- On a scale of 1 – 10, where would you place (our product x) in terms of sustainability?
- What would you like us to do differently?

4. PERSPECTIVES

ZOOM IN, ZOOM OUT

Modern business carries with it a high challenge: to keep up with the high culture and the social or the same time. This has been the case since the 19th century. On the one hand firms are concerned with the control of their own production and the distribution of a company's earnings. On the other, they are preoccupied with the specific demand of the market.

It is hard to be able to see in one room or not, to fly away, to see things or to see things in the distance, and to see things in the distance. The first act of about widening one's own playing distance is to see about understanding the true significance of technical detail.

There are designs on both sides of this dilemma. Those who consistently look about energy (the glass) are the accused of generating too much, and being to understand the detail. Those who look about the same often have the reputation of being too far in the world, a habit that is not always true.

This is why I put exercises on my highly, the counter of the experiences that broad understanding of a business, and the actual demand for clear specific knowledge.

And it may be hard, because a successful manager may have to become used to many things. A solid act is a way, to prefer more a few limited cards.

THIS WORKS
Consistently knowing both the big and small.

THIS DOESN'T
Only thinking big, only concentrating on detail.

Step Six:
Once actions are completed, update your status page and review your personalised communication tab containing all the tangible actions that have been completed and use it in your internal and external impact reporting.

[illegible]

Step Seven:
We are not an accreditation body, but we do actively help and encourage you to find a credible and trusted certification or official validation programme to aim for (such as B Corp or PlanetMark). As a stepping stone to this longer-term goal, we provide you with our PLANET System® stamp, together with a template to help you communicate your intentions and progress with integrity.

The Employer Employee Value Exchange

Following a lot of conversations with CEOs and HR Directors about training, staff skills, team morale, and the challenges of sustaining a skillful and motivated workforce when they are frequently working at home, we conducted a survey.

The main themes that emerged were about finding or developing people who understand what the employer/employee value exchange is. These people:

- Are properly engaged
- Drive their own career development through presence and profile
- Understand what is expected of them as an employee in the modern workplace
- Take ownership of their work
- Can think independently and broadly
- Demonstrate leadership qualities
- Understand true strategy, rather than just the transactional, tactical or short-term

In response to this, we have created a new training product that helps people with engagement, ownership, presence and independence.

EXAMPLE CONTENT

- TRUE ENGAGEMENT
 - Being yourself
 - You are what you do
 - Owning your career
- PRESENCE & PROFILE
 - Motivation
 - Knowledge
 - Confidence
- OWNERSHIP OF YOUR WORK
 - Setting clear direction for yourself
 - Essentialism
 - Autonomy & purpose
- INDEPENDENT THINKING
 - Assertive inquiry
 - Owning your own thinking
 - Clarity & resilience

SUMMARY

This is for companies whose workforce has become somewhat disaffected and for those who are failing to commit or engage with collective culture.

OUTCOME

Once completed, there will be a greater sense of unity and purpose in the team or the whole company. There will be no misunderstanding between what the employer expects of staff and what staff understand is expected of them. This clarity leads to a more purposeful group who know what they are doing and why, leading to faster outcomes on projects and happier people all round.
