Disclosure Report

Date Submitted: October 3rd, 2024

Disclosure Materials

Certified B Corporations must complete a Disclosure Questionnaire to identify potentially sensitive issues related to the company (e.g. historical fines, sanctions, material litigation, or sensitive industry practices).

This component does not affect the company's score on the B Impact Assessment. If the company answers affirmatively to any items in the Disclosure Questionnaire that B Lab deems relevant for public stakeholders, then, as a condition of their certification, the company must:

- 1) Be transparent about details of the disclosure issues identified on the company's public B Impact Report
- 2) Describe how the company has addressed this issue
- 3) Demonstrate that management practices are in place to avoid similar issues from arising in the future, when necessary.

In all cases, the Standards Advisory council reserves the right to refuse certification if the company is ultimately deemed not to uphold the spirit and integrity of the community.

In addition to the voluntary indication of sensitive issues in the Disclosure Questionnaire, companies pursuing Certification also are subject to a background check by B Lab staff. Background checks include a review of public records, news sources, and search engines for company names, brands, executives/founders, and other relevant topics.

Sensitive issues identified through background checks may or may not be within the scope of questions in the Disclosure Questionnaire, but undergo the same review process and are subject to the same possible review by the Standards Advisory Council, including ineligibility for B Corp Certification, required remediation, or disclosure.

Summary of Issue	Naïve is a jewelry manufacturing company that makes their jewelry from 100% laboratory produced diamonds and recycled gold.
Size/Scope of Issue (e.g. $ financial implication, # of individuals affected)	100% of the company's revenue comes from the sale of jewelry. Approximately 60% of the company's Cost of Goods Sold include recycled gold and 30% from laboratory grown diamonds.
Impact on Stakeholders	The use of precious metals and gemstones poses a human rights risk due to the possibility that they are sourced from conflict-affected and high risk areas, where they may be used to finance conflict and/or be associated with human rights abuses in the supply chain.

The company's colored gemstone supplier is accredited as an ethical member of the International Colored Gemstone Association (ICA). In relation to the gold raw materials purchased, Naïve created the NAIVE GOLD UP program (see link below) involving the collection of waste metals from scrap jewelry which are then sent to professionals who specialize in gold purification, extract pure gold and use this as a raw material to make Naïve jewelry. By using recycled gold, the company ensures that they are not purchasing from first mining operations, or from contexts that could pose a risk of situations involving forced or child labor. The company does not have any certifications that have social/environmental certifications related to their procurement of precious metals, diamonds, and/or precious stones but indicate to require invoices in all commercial transactions with their suppliers with detailed and faithful specifications on their invoice in relation of the product or service that was transacted. Suppliers are required to implement improvement actions to correct non-conformities identified during audits. In addition, suppliers are encouraged within the policy and code of conduct, to participate in training and capacity-building programs promoted by Naive or third parties to improve their sustainability and social responsibility practices.
