

DISCLOSURE MATERIALS

Certified B Corporations must complete a Disclosure Questionnaire to identify potentially sensitive issues related to the company (e.g. historical fines, sanctions, material litigation, or sensitive industry practices).

This component does not affect the company's score on the B Impact Assessment. If the company answers affirmatively to any items in the Disclosure Questionnaire and B Lab deems them to be material, the company must:

- 1) Be transparent about the disclosure issues identified on the company's public B Impact Report
- 2) Describe how the company has addressed this issue.
- 3) Demonstrate that management systems are in place to avoid similar issues from arising in the future.

In all cases, the Standards Advisory council reserves the right to refuse certification if the company is ultimately deemed not to uphold the spirit of the community.

In addition to the voluntary indication of sensitive issues in the Disclosure Questionnaire, companies pursuing Certification also are subject to background checks by B Lab staff. Background checks include a review of public records, news sources, and search engines for company names, brands, executives/founders, and other relevant topics.

Sensitive issues identified through background checks may or may not be within the scope of questions in the Disclosure Questionnaire, but undergo the same review process and are subject to the same possible review by the Standards Advisory Council, including ineligibility for B Corp Certification, required remediation, or disclosure.

This document contains a copy of the company's completed Disclosure Questionnaire and related disclosure documentation provided by the company.

B Corp Certification - Disclosure Questionnaire Documentation

PROVIDED BY: Thrive Farmers International

UPDATED AS OF: 04/27/2020

DISCLOSURE QUESTIONNAIRE CATEGORY	Monoculture Agriculture
ISSUE DATE	Ongoing
TOPIC	Coffee Monoculture
SUMMARY OF ISSUE	Coffee is a perennial culture, planted once in a while. Always following the farm planning of each farm. Due to this fact, coffee is considered a monoculture. The production of coffee by Thrive Farmers' suppliers does not impact biodiversity, and in some instances the production of coffee will stimulate the planting of further vegetation to stimulate biodiversity where other monoculture or grazing occurred before.
SIZE/SCOPE OF ISSUE (e.g. $ financial implication, # of individuals affected)	100% of revenues comes from the production of coffee.
IMPACT ON STAKEHOLDER(S)	Agriculture, particularly in cases where a single crop is cultivated at a time, poses a risk to local ecosystems of flora and fauna as well as the potential degradation of cultivated land.
OTHER MANAGEMENT COMMENTS	We are a farmer-direct beverage company that works in the agriculture of coffee and tea. Coffee in most forms is grown principally in coffee fields which normally are shade grown and grown with other plants and trees. Many of our farmers grow other crops in conjunction with their coffee as well as planting trees and other foliage for windbreaks, shade and protection of the crops. Tea is grown on tea plantations in hedge rows. Both crops are no-till crops that last years in their life cycle.
	Coffee is a perennial culture, planted and re-planted approximately every 25 years. Coffee is planted normally in conjunction with other plantings that require shade and is subject to a farm plan for the best use of the farm based on topography and other environmental considerations. Due to this fact, coffee is considered a monoculture.
	The production of coffee by our suppliers does not impact biodiversity and in some instances the production of coffee will stimulate the planting of further vegetation to stimulate biodiversity where other monoculture or grazing occurred before.
