Woodcliff Lake, NJ –December 17, 2016 5:50 pm EST / 2:50 pm PST ...

BMW announced today, new equipment offerings to its 2018 models, available at U.S. dealers in spring 2017. The options available for the BMW 6 Series Convertible and BMW 6 Series Gran Coupe bring striking exterior and interior design elements to the sporting character of these luxury-class models. The 2018 BMW 6 Series Gran Coupe and Convertible will be available as 640i and 650i models also available with xDrive. Pricing will be announced closer to market launch.

Exterior.

Now including new options, the M Sport Package emphasizes the look and feel of the BMW 6 Series and its sporty character. Previously reserved for the M model only, customers can now order a new Carbon Fiber trim and new bi-color 20-inch M light-alloy wheels which feature an M-specific double-spoke design and are fitted with staggered run flat tires as part of the M Sport Package. For the first time available is Sonic Speed Blue metallic which allows customers the unique opportunity to personalize and distinguish their 2018 BMW 6 Series.

BMW Individual.

Customers seeking to bring an extra dose of focused individualization to their car can take advantage of BMW Individual. A simple thought inspired BMW Individual—the freedom to customize your BMW down to the finest detail. There are a wide variety of brilliant paint finishes, high quality leather, sophisticated trims, headliners and equipment to choose from. And every detail is a result of top-class workmanship to make your choices truly unique BMW, exclusively customized to each individual. The M Sport package configurations available to both model variants provide them with a bespoke dynamic profile –and customization to their exterior appearance, cockpit design and driving characteristics.
