BMW Unveils Roster of U.S. 'Performance Team' Athletes for Rio 2016 Olympic and Paralympic Games

Official Mobility Partner of Team USA Continues its Efforts to Advance Athletic Performance

Woodcliff Lake, NJ – October 27, 2015... BMW of North America, the Official Mobility Partner of the United States Olympic Committee, today unveiled its BMW Performance Team for the Rio 2016 Olympic and Paralympic Games.

This elite group of eight U.S. Olympic and Paralympic athletes and hopefuls will receive financial support as well as access to BMW resources and technologies as they strive for the opportunity to compete on the world's biggest stage. Members of the BMW Performance Team feature a combination of U.S. Olympians and hopefuls including Tyler Clary (swimming), Nathan Adrian (swimming), Maya DiRado (swimming), and U.S. Paralympians and hopefuls Josh George (track & field), Tatyana McFadden (track & field), April Holmes (track & field), Aaron Pike (track & field) and Chelsea McClammer (track & field).

"While working with the Olympics and the USOC is a truly rewarding experience, it is supporting the athletes that brings us the greatest joy," said Trudy Hardy, Vice President, Marketing, BMW of North America. "The perseverance and determination of these remarkable athletes keeps us driven to help foster and improve their performance in this journey to Rio. We are proud and privileged to work with such amazing athletes.”

The U.S. athletes selected to the BMW Performance Team align with the company’s strategic approach to its Rio Games activation. This selection follows BMW’s August announcement of its plans to develop a new racing wheelchair for use by athletes of the U.S. Paralympics Track and Field Team, marking BMW’s fourth vehicle technology transfer project developed as part of its six-year partnership with Team USA.
