Autoresponder madness 3. 0 free

My client list is like a real who's who of online marketing. Email legends like Ryan Deiss, Kevin Nations, Mindvalleys Vishen Lakhiani, Perry Belcher, Justin Brooke, AJ Silvers, Brian Moran and Dr. Harlan Kilstein use and are behind my Madness autoresponder system. Even Jeff Walker and Rich Schefren are my clients. (And that's just a few big names off the top of my head.) It's amazing these guys use my unique email system to generate more subscribers, fans and customers. And - of course - make more money. Because my approach works. Helps you make more sales with less effort. All this providing massive goodwill to your list. And like I said, I don't have any special skills. If I can do that, believe me, so can you. Here's exactly what you get here an overview of what you'll discover in the next 8 weeks when you join me for the intensive email marketing workshop. This will give you a clear idea of what to expect (and gets you excited about how lucrative this will be for your business) First, the workshop format: – You get 8 weeks of live training (yes, it's actually live!) taught by me. – Every week you will master a key area of email marketing. you'll find all the specific details below, but I say this up front: consider this fast-track workshop to become an email master (and enjoy the profits, lifetime customers and prestige that come with it.) – There will be a live Q&A with me at the end of each session. – I literally stay on the call until all your questions are answered, so you will be crystal clear about how to apply what you have learned in your business. That's priceless – the last time I gave a group so much 1-in-1 attention, it cost them 7,500 for an hour in my hot seat. (You get this at no additional cost) – Every week you will have a small task. – This goes from researching the perfect hook for your market to writing some emails for me to review. Don't worry – homework is the size of a bite (so it won't take much of your time), but it's crucial to your success that you do it. This is what will ensure your success, so don't register unless you cool off by putting a little graft. – At the end of the 8 weeks, you will have a well researched, powerful, valuable SOS Autoresponder sequence that makes money ready to send to your list. – You can literally turn this on and expect to start making sales while sleeping, relaxing, playing golf or whatever it is you like to do. (Not to mention the fact that you can reuse this ability multiple times – for the rest of your life – helping you profit from almost any business you can imagine.) I also help you create a Sequence of (PLS). – This is a short series (around 3-4) of emails designed to help you profit by promoting an affiliate product or launch. This is exactly the same strategy marketers used to come in 1st place in affiliate competitions, despite having small email lists. My intention is for you to send a PLS during the workshop, and make back at least all your investment to the workshop. (And of course, you can use this PLS strategy month after month, year after year, and you'll continue to make a profit long after this workshop is finished.) – You also get my seven-digit email swipe file – You can't copy and paste these emails, but you're bound to find inspiration in them. These emails are written by me and some of my best students – in several different industries – so you don't have to reinvent the wheel. (These scams will be priceless for you because they will save you from needing to be creative or a good writer. Reuse them at will.) – Also – this is your only chance to get your email copy personally reviewed by me, Andre Chaperon, the creator of Autoresponder Madness. – Every week I select students by copying to criticize, edit and improve so you can send me your emails, and I help them make them more valuable (and profitable!) This is the fastest way to start sending killer emails that impress and help your audience, and stack the money as well. – Attend all classes and submit your homework, and you will be awarded a Complention Certification. – This achievement will not only impress your peers, but will help you excel in freelance work – and separate you from the herd. (You can imagine the kind of profit you'll generate with this skill level going forward) – Last but not least – you'll be invited to join an exclusive, private Certified Email Marketing community for an entire year. – You will network with – and learn from – the smartest (and most successful) email professionals on the planet. Imagine: Every day you check in with the community, ask questions, ask for advice, get feedback and improve your email game in every way. You will learn to earn more money and provide more value more being surrounded by positive entrepreneurs and with similar minds part of a thriving community with the best email professionals on the planet. Download (Upload) Download (NitroFlare) Download (Rapidgator) – attracts participants to bow down and actually do the work that is required of them. In other words, they are actually implementing by doing. Also, by locking up the next lesson, gives them the incentive to complete the lesson, wanting to find out what the next lesson is about (of course, I suppose you could lie... but that's not going to do you any good now, is it?). This also allows people to work at their own pace. In the first interpretations of the course that was all delivered by email, one person had no choice but to wait until the following week for the next lesson. With the new format, it is no longer necessary to wait if you have done the job and want to move on. By having content blocked, it prevents people from being overloaded, which is often a problem with many courses. When people get all the enchilada and are able to access everything at once, people sometimes feel a little too overwhelmed by everything, which unfortunately also leads people not to take any action. Product Name: Autoresponder Madness 3.0Product Owner: Andre ChaperonAdvised Price: $299Rating: 90/100AutoResponder Madness Review What Is It? This is a complete course on creating an effective email marketing campaign. Andre Chaperon, one of the most (if not the most) respected email marketing guru, describes some of the exact techniques and campaigns he has used over the years to demonstrate some very effective larger image concepts. Most of the course is written, but there are some accompanying videos. None of the instructions is video format, but there are extras to emphasize certain points that Andre is making. ARM is ideal for someone who has a product, has a great list or wants to start their online marketing journey with a focus on list building and email marketing. Short Review: This is the definitive course on email marketing, and worth the gigantic price tag. However, I have several complaints about the course that I can't ignore. #1 being the incredibly annoying style that was written. Get Autoresponder Madness HereFore You Buy:This product was recommended to me by a friend as the only course that changed all his view on how he wrote content for his website. That's a pretty big statement to make for a successful internet marketer (it's very successful), so I bought it without even reading the sales page or knowing what was inside. I think that's the power of a trusted person recommending a product to you! I just checked, and the sales page is pretty light compared to other products, but it has a slight guru feel for it, with a lot of name falling, and verbal trash about how amazing the product is. Three hundred it's not a cheap price but when you get serious into internet marketing, that's the price price high-quality information from professionals. It's just another expense, and if you're running a lucrative business, you can make $300 in one day. If you actually have a decent email marketing campaign set up, $300 is a drop in the bucket. But let's start looking at what they actually offer within the members area. I have some conflicting opinions about this product, so keep reading to find out if it's for you. What I liked: The main thing you need to understand is that the IDEAS contained within Autoresponder Madness unique, valuable, and they just work. Andre obviously knows what he's talking about, and I'll definitely implement some of the strategies he covers at ARM. Product Launch Sequence for selling one-off products(SOS(Soap Opera Sequence) PLS (Product Launch Sequence for selling one-off products)Lots of information about how a customer thinks current campaigns that Andre or his friends executedThe only big advantage I gained from ARM was list segmentation, which I didn't even know was possible. With a product like Aweber Pro Tools, you can actually divide your list into groups to create highly targeted lists. This means you can promote hyper-targeted products to people who really want them instead of just blowing up general offers and hoping your list wants what you're selling. The large volume of content that is provided is enough to keep you busy reading for weeks, and like me, you'll probably have to read it again to actually be able to act on it. There are lists of things to do after each lesson, so it's also an interactive course (if you follow the instructions). I know that as such a well rated product I should probably have a longer list of things I like about it. but these concepts discussed above are very great. They are discussed at length within ARM, and you get many real-world examples of how they could fit into your campaign. So really, the #1 thing I liked is that I didn't regret spending $300, which I didn't like: Unfortunately, there's a lot not to like about it either. In fact, if the information hadn't been as useful and interesting as I found it, I probably would have considered arm. My #1 about Andre Chaperon's Autoresponder Madness is the style in which it was written. Basically, he copied and pasted an email marketing campaign in an members area, put up some random videos, some cheap graphics, and called it a product. There were probably tens of thousands of words of content in there. Normally that would be amazing. But they are all in the form of a guru-style email marketing campaign. Imagine that you forcing 50 emails from a pushy email merchant. In fact, I had to take a two-week break because I was getting so much annoyed to read things like: This was the one technique that made me $50,000 in one it was super awesome. It was a game changer. And it was so amazing because no one had done it before. Did you know bla bla bla bla? yes, I was shocked, too. I couldn't believe my eyes. And you know what this bla guru said? All he did was change a few words and, oh snap. So much money! [insert hook here]— André I can't write ChaperonHere paragraphs is an excerpt from one of the inactive lessons. The whole COURSE is written like this. I totally understand that there needs to be some examples of how to write a proper email, and a part of effective email marketing is writing in small bursts to keep people interested. Exaggerating, or having hooks is just part of the game. But I paid for a course, not a series of 50 emails pasted into a web page. The videos were another big problem for me. Some of the videos were only tangentially relevant to the content. Many were of low quality. The point was that I said to myself, WTF I bought, was when I watched a home video of some teenagers doing some impromptu skits. It didn't make any sense. The video player had a very strange functionality where I had to click on it once to activate it, I couldn't change the size, and the videos were HUGE, but in super low quality (grainy) format. Most of them were excerpts from other people's speeches or videos, and NOT made by André Chaperon himself. The course could have been totally good without the vids, and I feel like they were just used to upgrade from 2.0 to 3.0. The last thing I want to choose is that for a $300 product, I would expect a better effort to edit arm. I found numerous misspellings and erroneously stylized text. It's no big deal, and I'm guilty of the same mistakes. But my blog is free, and ARM 3.0 is $300.Final ReviewAutoresponder Madness still scores extremely high in my books, and I have no doubt that I'll be able to use his knowledge to make back my $300 is a single burst of email (or SOS) if I actually implement what was taught. There were some things that annoyed me about the product, but at the end of the day, I'm happy with it and recommend it. This is not a course for a beginner who wants to start online, but for someone who wants to take more money seriously, start building a list or monetize an existing list, or is looking to learn more about email marketing you can't afford not to get this product. And then ladies and guys! It's great to finally meet you, and I hope you enjoyed this post. My name is Nathaniell and I own the One More Cup of Coffee.
