2008 Green Valley Pinot Noir

Located in the western hills of the Russian River Valley, Green Valley is one of Sonoma County's coolest regions. Blankets of fog pushed over from the Pacific Ocean chill the otherwise hot summer evening air and ensure temperate mornings. The valley's optimal weather conditions extend the growing season and produce concentrated berries while soils rich in minerals from an ancient seabed infuse the fruit with nuanced flavors.

Wine Spectator

92 Points

"Firm and intense, with mineral edge to the fruity berry flavors that are delicate and spicy, ending with rich berry medley."
