A recent survey noted that 77 percent of Americans still have holiday shopping to do. We asked some area folks for suggestions on last-minute gifts. Here's a sampling:

Daryl Scott, Operations Manager, WCBU-FM 89.9

1. Insignia HD Boombox/CD Player/iPod Dock

"We finally have a nice sub-$100 portable HD/FM radio, and the good thing is - it does it all. There's even a CD player to enjoy those CD's you haven't ripped into your computer on iPod yet."

2. Ion iProfile USB record Player

"Here's a unit becoming popular with folks that want to digitize their old record collection and enjoy them on their iPod. This unit imports the music right onto your iPod - no computer needed. About $140."

3. Grace Sole Wi-Fi/Pandora/Sirius Radio

"A stand-alone Internet radio that also streams Pandora. Nothing like Jethro Tull 24-7!"

Bob Jockisch, president of RJ Distributing Co.

"Craft beer continues to outpace the brewing industry nationally. Trust me, this is not just a fad but the real deal with our customers gaining traction every day. Popular brands include Blue Moon, Schlafly and Magic Hat.

"Wines to consider include:

Bubbles: Batasiolo Moscato Rose (Italy);

Sweet: St. James Riesling (Missouri);

Red: Bogle Phantom (California);

Siobhan Olson, Maui Jim spokeswoman

"Here are a few ideas for last-minute gifts from Maui Jim.

For the person who's a little rough on their sunglasses, there's the new MauiFlex Coconuts ($309).

Have a fashion maven on your list? Check out Lani ($299), a feminine, mid-size sunglass.

If you're shopping for the sunglasses collector on your list, there's Black Coral ($279) and Napili Bay ($279).

If you're shopping for a runner or exercise enthusiast, there's Lighthouse ($149)."

Linda Lewis, Galesburg

"My invention is Flipple, an adapter that turns any bottled water product into a baby bottle. The Flipple is a cone-shaped adapter that can be attached to bottled water as a funnel so formula can be added easily. When the adapter is flipped and reapplied to the bottle, a nipple can be added. It's sold locally at Hy-Vee, Schnucks and County Market for about $7."
