It's late October and harvest is in full swing. This morning across the valley floor temperatures dipped into the upper 30's and we spotted numerous crews out in the vineyards picking well before dawn.

For a glimpse into what goes on in the Napa Valley during harvest we've grabbed three recently produced videos from renown producers, including Caymus Vineyards, Silver Oak Cellars and Raymond Vineyards.

Collectively, the videos provide insights into the wine-growing and winemaking processes. Also, don't forget to visit our Harvest 2011 page for daily harvest updates from wineries across the valley.
