In the heart of Napa Valley lives a noble winemaker who goes by the name of Frenchie. His wine, much like himself, is ambitious, opulent, charming and bursting with personality. However, unlike any other winemaker, Frenchie is a dog. He's a member of the Jean-Charles Boisset family, and later this year, he will open the first dog-friendly winery at Raymond Vineyards. See how it all started and how he became the canine wine connoisseur he is today.
