

FERMENTED THOUGHTS

The French Do Things Differently...

Posted: July 14th, 2012 · Filled under: Uncategorized No Comments

During a recent visit to Raymond Vineyards, to sample wines offered by the Rutherford Dust Society, I confirmed a fermented thought: The French, with their irrefutable verve, dash & élan, simply do things differently... Here, we can see what happens when France meets Napa.

Wine Education

Court of Master Sommeliers
Institute of Masters of Wine
Society of Wine Educators

Worth Reading

Ambassador of Wine
De Long Wine Moment
Dirty South Wine
Fermentation
Frankly Wines
Grapes and Grains
Lenndevours
Table Wine
Taste by Kate
Under the Grape Tree
WINEpiphany

Categories

Select Category

Archives

Select Month

← Previous article

Leave a Reply