THE 'A' LIST

We've got your number, San Francisco. It's 2,186. That's how many people were mentioned in the Nob Hill Gazette during the past year. We read about the parties you attended, the charities you supported and the businesses you nurtured. We also know if you've been bad or good—but just like Santa, we've decided to keep that confidential ... for now.

Here's another number for you: 25. That's how many years we've been tabulating this list. Some of the names below appeared on that very first tote board back in 1991, including this year's winner for most-mentioned woman, Deede Wilsey. No stranger to the spotlight, Wilsey has lent her time, money and energy to a host of philanthropic causes over the years, enhancing the cultural life of this city immeasurably.

DEEDE WILSEY

DAVID GOCKLEY

Now in his final season as general director of the San Francisco Opera, David Gockley nabbed the award as the Gazette's most-mentioned man this year. One of the most prominent impresarios in the nation, Gockley's decade-long tenure has been marked by world premieres and innovative live screenings that have expanded SF Opera's art and influence to new audiences—both here and around the world.

The 'A' List would not be complete without acknowledging our past winners, who continue to grace our pages but are ineligible for top honors this year. They are: Larry Baer, Wilkes Bashford, Willie Brown, Mark Buell, Ann Moller Caen, Ken Fulk, Stanlee Gatti, Ann Getty,
