

Thoroughly Modern Milly

LOOKING, LISTENING, SHOPPING AND EATING IN LONDON, AND BEYOND...

The Best of Sonoma

POSTED ON NOVEMBER 12, 2015

I have the fondest memories of my time in Sonoma. Often forgotten in the shadow of its showbiz neighbour, Napa Valley, this idyllic area of Californian wine country does not get the praise and attention it deserves. I spent three days soaking up the golden sunshine, tasting the finest wines and feasting on the fantastic food. The people here are kind, genuine and welcoming and the setting is stunning.

To Do

Buena Vista Winery – The prestigious Buena Vista holds the title of California's first winery. The founder, self-proclaimed "count of Buena Vista" is the inspiration behind the unique Be The Count Blending Experience. After a masterclass with Spencer I created my own personalised bottle of red wine, a blend of Syrah, Merlot and Zinfandel. You will be dressed up appropriately and even get the chance to have your own tailor-made label printed for the bottle. After the experience you will be shown round the historic wine tour museum.