

The Best Russian River Valley Pinot Noir in 2 Days

October 7, 2015

Russian River Valley is a Sonoma County wine region known for rolling hills, cool climates, and wineries that produce some of the world's best Pinot Noir and Chardonnay. If you're a fan of the former, the itinerary below will take you through some of the best Russian River wineries and tasting rooms that feature Pinot Noir.

The itinerary below will take you through some of the best tasting rooms that feature Pinot Noir that the west Sonoma County region has to offer.

Day 1 Organic, Biodynamic Farming

DeLoach Vineyards

1791 Olivet Rd

Santa Rosa, CA 95401

(707) 526-9111

Yelp: 4,510 reviews

Reservations: Not required

Directions: Head south on Olivet Rd for 0.4 miles and DeLoach will be on the right.

The DeLoach tasting room sits on a twenty-acre farm in the Olivet Road section of Russian River Valley, where visitors enjoy certified organic and biodynamic wines that show off the terrior of the region. In addition to their French-inspired winemaking process, visitors can expect to taste wines from as little as fifty cases produced. While you're trying these exclusive wines, don't forget to stroll their gardens or sign up for their unique wine and mustard tasting. Insider tip: Reserve a tasting of small lot Pinot Noirs in a seated, guided flight, offered in the Appellation Room.