

Sip Your Way Through St. Helena at These Gorgeous Tasting Rooms

By Emily Martin on February 22, 2016 10:30 AM

Napa Valley is a big place. If you're looking to spend your next Wine Country excursion in a small-town setting, we recommend sipping your way through the gorgeous tasting rooms of St. Helena. Best of all, most of these quaint spots are just a few minutes from each other, so you won't need a designated driver for a full day of fun.

Raymond Vineyards

A part of the Boisset Collection, Raymond Vineyards is all about luxe entertaining. Experience a flight in their low-lit, pink-hued tasting room or relax in the sexy Red Room Lounge (complete with red, velvet couches and massive chandelier) as you sip on their signature cabernet. Tastings vary by price; Appointment necessary. // 849 Zinfandel Lane (St. Helena); raymondvineyards.com
