

GET YOUR GRAMMY ON

The Grammy Awards will air live from New York City (the event's first NYC telecast since 2003) Jan. 28 at 7:30 p.m. ET on CBS. Whether you're a fan of Bruno Mars or Metallica (both nominated), isn't it time to make some musical magic of your own?

THE BEST PARTS

BROOKLYN AND BAILEY

Since welcoming viewers in 2013, identical twins Brooklyn and Bailey have amassed nearly 5 million subscribers and hundreds of millions of views on their YouTube channel, which stars the 18-year-old Texas-based siblings in everything from crafting clips to back-to-school style shoots. Visit Parade.com/bestparts for some of our favorite Brooklyn and Bailey moments.

Cheers! Grammy winner John Legend has his own line of wine, Legend Vineyard Exclusive Wines. LVE's varietals, such as chardonnay and cab sav, are all served—like Legend—in perfect harmony. Starting at $45, lvevines.com. Visit Parade.com/celebwines for a gallery of wines produced by your favorite stars.

This year marks the 30th anniversary of the Tom Hanks classic Big. Re-create the movie's iconic "Heart and Soul" scene with the 8-foot-long Piano Mat, which can sound like a piano or other instruments, or accompany your favorite MP3s! $65, walmart.com

Still wearing the wristband from your last show? Don't be that person! Swap it out for this chic leather Cast of Vices Concert Wristband. It may not get you into the VIP section, but it's a serious upgrade. $55, ahalife.com

Show your vinyl love with the Digital Deco Turntable by artist Samantha Carlisle. The 12-by-12-inch canvas is finished in polished glass so the art will stand the test of time—just like your record collection. $140, zgallerie.com

$105 million

Beyoncé, a 22-time Grammy winner, was the top-earning female artist of 2017. Go to Parade.com/earn to share your salary and possibly be featured in our upcoming What People Earn issue.

Maybe you're not ready for your epic guitar solo yet, but that doesn't mean you can't give it a go like Don Ho with this Tropical Pineapple Ukulele. $32, uncommongoods.com
