

Haute Home Ownership at the Fairmont Heritage Place in SF

When most San Franciscans hear the words Ghirardelli Square, they cringe. Its close proximity to Fisherman's Wharf and Disneyland-like chocolate shop make many locals think the square is a tourist trap. However, with Jonathan Waxman's namesake restaurant, Waxman's, a beer garden from Lagunitas, and Jeans Charles Boisset's takeover of the Wattle Creek Winery, Ghirardelli is experiencing a resurgence. What most people don't know is that the square is also home to some incredibly haute residences. Allow us to introduce you to SF's best kept real estate secret: the Fairmont Heritage Place. This private residence club from the Fairmont Hotel brand has 53 one, two, and three bedroom homes with varying floor plans in five different buildings, including the iconic Ghirardelli Square clock tower. The timeshare-like ownership programs grants members a fractional 1/10 ownership and a minimum of 35 nights use annually.
