Wattle Creek Winery tasting room in Ghirardelli Square brings wine country to the city

Posted on March 14, 2018

This week on Wine Wednesday Alicia and I got a visit from Wattle Creek Winery. They brought along a wine that we had never heard of, which for me is not saying much since I still keep my fridge stocked with wines of the boxed variety. But for a vino aficionado like Alicia, it's something.

Wattle Creek's tasting room manager Dusty Rhodes joined us to share a selection of three wines while her colleague Jesse Webber provided us with a bit of history on the winery itself.

Listen in below for all the fun and wine knowledge, and after that make sure you stop by their tasting room in Ghirardelli Square for the full Wattle Creek experience.
