

Jean-Charles Boisset: Perfumes Inspired by Wine

The JCB Perfume Collection is a new perfume collection inspired by wine and captures the passion of vintner Jean-Charles Boisset, who grew up in Burgundy, France. Boisset currently operates wineries in France and in Napa and Sonoma in California. He has always been intrigued by the aromas of the vineyard and cellar and their surrounding gardens and woods.

FRAGRANTICA

Jean-Charles Boisset is pleased to present the first two fragrances in his line, crafted by Perfumer Olivia Giacobetti, who also grew up in France.

FRAGRANTICA

JCB No. 13 is "divine and delicate." Aromas of white oak are surrounded by soft notes of rosewood, sandalwood, and a touch of sweet vanilla. The perfume in a classic glass bottle is $395, and the essence de parfum in Baccarat crystal is $1,995.

FRAGRANTICA

JCB No. 0 is "intoxicating and mysterious." The number "0" represents a perfect circle, the symbol of a wine's life – from the vine and rootstock to aging in elegant oak barrels. JCB No. 0 features aromas of fire-toasted black oak surrounded by rum and spice notes and finishing with bourbon vanilla. The perfume in a classic glass bottle is $395, and the essence de parfum in Baccarat crystal is $1,995.

The fragrances are available now at the brand's website and will be available through Bergdorf Goodman from February 2020.
