JCB opens new Healdsburg tasting room

JCB, the premium winery owned by Jean-Charles Boisset, has opened its tasting room in Healdsburg at 320 Center St.

The winery had operated a tasting room at the same spot until it closed in 2013. The new space will include a second room that will serve as a lounge. JCB has four other tasting rooms: two in Yountville, one in St. Helena and another in San Francisco.

Prices per person will range from $30 for a sparkling tasting to $40 for a selection of premium wines and $50 for its highest-end flight.
