Virtual Mother's Day: Treat Mom to a Unique Experience With the Help of These Local Wineries

We're not able to treat our mothers and wives to a decadent brunch at their favorite restaurant, but we can still create a memorable experience at home.

Mother's Day will look a bit different this year. We're not able to treat our mothers and wives to a decadent brunch at their favorite restaurant or take them out for a day of pampering and wine tasting, but we can still create a memorable experience at home and these Sonoma and Napa wineries are here to help.

Throughout the weekend, local wineries will be hosting live broadcasts on social media and Zoom. Some will help you prep for the big day with a cooking class or Mother's Day tips, while others provide a fun and unique way to celebrate virtually.

JCB Collection, Healdsburg & Yountville: Vintner Jean-Charles Boisset is dedicating his Facebook Live Happy Hour on Saturday at 4 p.m. to moms. Titled "Mother's Day 'Bijoux,'" Boisset will be joined by his wife and mother of two Gina Gallo for a discussion and tasting of JCB No 13 Crémant de Bourgogne Rosé and JCB No 3 Pinot Noir, available for purchase here. Tune into JCB's live Happy Hours on Facebook here.
