Re: Support for SA 814

Dear Senators Crapo and Johanns:

The Coalition for Derivatives End-Users represents thousands of companies across the United States that employ derivatives to manage business risks due to changing commodity prices, fluctuating currency exchange rates, and variable interest rates. Today, we write to offer our support for SA 814, which would help ensure that end-user companies, which did not cause the financial crisis, are not regulated as if they did.

While the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act ("Dodd-Frank Act") and implementing regulations do much to increase transparency and reduce systemic risk in the derivatives markets, they include provisions that, if implemented as proposed or otherwise as expected, would impose unnecessary burdens on end-user companies. While we believe it is important to reduce risk within our financial markets, transactions with end-users have not been found to pose systemic risk. Our companies and our economy cannot afford to unnecessarily tie up capital that would otherwise be used to promote growth and create jobs.

SA 814 is intended to further several goals that have been advocated by the Coalition. The amendment attempts to:

- Facilitate a more orderly and considered implementation process;
- Ensure that margin requirements do not apply to end-user companies;
- Clarify that inter-affiliate swaps should not be subject to regulations intended for outward-facing transactions; and
- Prevent the extraterritorial application of the Dodd-Frank Act in ways that could disadvantage United States businesses.

We appreciate very much your work and that of your co-sponsors on behalf of end-users, as well as the assistance of all Senators who support the amendment.

Sincerely,
