

Vision Views are meant to inspire the vision for your home. Texas Country architecture is very popular in Austin, San Antonio, and the Hill Country. A more sophisticated style, Texas Regional, is also influenced by local materials, but tends to be more modern and elegant. Most Texas Country homes include a more blended stone with what is called luders and tans compared to the white limestone used years in the past.

Texas Country Architecture General Characteristics

- Low pitch roofs
- Metal or composition roofs
